arrangement was now made would be final and permanent, and that means, all the means which were necessary, would be afforded to his Majesty's Ministers to carry the measure of reform speedily into effect. He said this because he was one who, for many months, had dreaded the event which had actually taken place—he meant the refusal of the King to follow the advice of his honest and straight forward Ministers. His fears, he acknowledged, had arisen from certain individuals most improperly being allowed to remain in certain situations. (Cheers.) This was a point which was highly important, not only to the immediate tranquillity of the country, but to the ultimate and permanent welfare of all classes of his Majesty's subjects.

Mr. Tennyson trusted the time was coming when within a few days indeed he and his Noble and Hon. Friends below him would be grateful that his Majesty had rejected the advice which they had tendered to him to commit what he considered to be a shock on the Constitution—(Hear, from Sir R. Peel) by a large creation of Peers. He as a thorough reformer would in an extremity, if no other means had existed, might have recourse to it, but he still hoped that his Majesty having found it possible to insure the success of the measure in a less extensive, though in an equally beneficial form, without committing an infraction on the Constitution, the country would feel and express that gratitude to him to which his conduct entitled him.

Mr. Ruthven entirely assented to the proposition for the adjournment of the House.

The other orders of the day were then disposed of, and the House adjourned.

LONDON, MAY 15.

The Duke of Wellington and Lord Lyndhurst have been with the King for the last four hours; we hear, on what we consider the best authority, that the object of their visit was to detail to his Majesty the various efforts they have made to form a government, and the failure of them all.—Globe.

In consequence of the Duke of Wellington's interview with the King, his Majesty has made a communication to Earl Grey, whereon the latter has summoned a Cabinet Council, which is now sitting. The result of it we shall stop the press to communicate, if we obtain the necessary information this evening.—Idem.

The rumours which were current in London on Friday as to the disturbances in the manufacturing districts, turn out to be without foundation.

The funds have risen three per cent. this day.

“City, Half-past One o’Clock.—Consols for account rose this morning from 83 $\frac{3}{4}$ to 84 $\frac{1}{4}$, on account of a report that Lord Grey was again in office, and also, as some state, owing to the following notice from the Bank of England:—“The Governor and Company of the Bank of England give notice that after this day they will be ready to receive applications for loans upon the deposit of Bills of Exchange, Exchequer Bills, and East India Bonds, or other approved securities, such loans to be repaid on or before the 15th of June next, with interest at the rate of £4 per cent. per annum, and to be for sums of not less than 2,000/ each.

The demand for gold on the Bank of England has ceased, and the silly threat of drawing from the Savings Banks in the country towns is abandoned.

The Irish Tythe bill is abandoned for the present.

Yesterday there was a Reform meeting at St. John's Wood, Joe Hume in the chair. Colonel Jones told his hearers that it was only for a very few to die, and soldiers were useless in the hands of tyrants. He would tell them, should the whole brigade of household troops enter the field, let men but stand firm and cross their arms, and no cavalry could harm them! Even let them send artillery, and that he (Colonel Jones) was at their head, he would pledge himself that in half an hour he would take every gun from them that was brought against the people. He had been in some of the most desperate attacks in the last war, and if necessity arose, he would again lead his countrymen to glory, in a cause more agreeable than he was ever before engaged in. He would defy the Duke of Wellington to put down Reform by the Army. All the men in the North are ready to march on London, and those in the South would be ready to receive them. It was necessary to tell the King that he was not married to a German for the purpose of enslaving his people!!

Lord Grey had a conference with the King this morning, prior to his Majesty holding his Levee. It lasted nearly three hours. Earl Grey, and the whole of his colleagues, with the exception of the Lord Chancellor, attended the Levee. The Duke of Wellington was not present. Lord Roden had an interview with his Majesty after the Levee.

The recent hostile meeting between a young Scottish Peer, lately returned from India, and a gallant Captain, arose from one of the parties having been observed to devote much of his attention to a fair relative of his antagonist, apparently with adoption of a similar course.—Evening Mail.

This day a communication has been received by the Marquis of Anglesey from his Majesty, soliciting him most earnestly to retain the Government of Ireland. The Lord Chancellor has received a similar command to remain in office. The King has requested Earl Grey and his Friends to resume office UPON THEIR OWN TERMS.—Dublin Times.

The Court of King's Bench yesterday sentenced Stephen Fox Dickson to a month's imprisonment and a fine of £20, for his vindictive persecution of Henry Fletcher, and the late Coalmeasures establishment.

The Earl of Norbury and the Rev. Mr. Boyton have left Dublin for London.

Report of Cholera in Dublin this day—New cases 55—Deaths 7—Recoveries 39.

THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE

SATURDAY, MAY 19.

We have real concern in stating that Epidemic Cholera has been again reported to the Board of Health since our last in the case of a female, named Mary Irvine, residing in the house at Boherbuoy, in which Denis Mullane died of the same disorder, as described on Wednesday. Dr. William Geary was called upon yesterday morning when collapse had set in, and in the afternoon she exhibited every appearance of the blue stage of the malady. The Faculty who have seen the sufferer, and the Military Surgeons in garrison agree in reporting the case to be Epidemic Cholera. Those gentlemen used all their influence with the family to have the patient removed at once to Hospital, but unhappily without success, and so obstinate is the prejudice on the minds of the lower class of people, that they refused even to give any satisfactory account of the incipient symptoms of the disease.

We regret to add, the above woman died yesterday evening, and her death was concealed by the occupiers of the house for a considerable time, not being generally known until this morning. She was interred at 11 o'clock last night by the Officers of Health in St. Michael's Parish. Cruel it is to observe of this poor creature's case, that she was not even allowed to take the medicines ordered by the attendant Physicians, nor to follow the treatment advised by them.—She was sister-in-law of the deceased Mullane, and there is no doubt but her life was sacrificed to the mistaken notions of the ignorant persons about her, who could not bear the sight of a Medical Gentleman, whatever absurd prejudices they have imbibed against the Faculty.—This worse than folly of the common people must be exposed, and its pernicious consequences. It is criminal in the highest degree. When a proposal was made to convey her to Hospital, crowds gathered about the house, and peremptorily forbid any attempt of the kind, and they went so far as to insult the Doctors and Officers of Health, and threatened personal violence to those gentlemen. Those misguided people are not aware of the extensive powers confided to the Board of Health, and the Parochial Officers. It will be necessary to enforce their authority in mercy to the public, and save the people even from themselves.

This day a boy, the son of Mullane, was removed to the Fever Hospital in a state of fever, and not Cholera, as supposed. The house was again fumigated last night, and every precaution taken against the spread of the disorder.—There are no further cases in town. Of the three cases of reputed Cholera in Limerick, the people should reflect that the first one being taken early to Hospital was a recovery, while the other two which remained at home proved fatal.

Yesterday the Board of Health appointed the following to be Medical Officers to the Cholera Hospitals:—

St. Michael's—Dr. Carroll, Surgeon Kean, Dr. Massy, Surgeon Lloyd, Inspector.

St. Mary's—Dr. Lyons, Dr. Charles Keane, Dr. John Carey, Inspector.

St. John's—Dr. Geary, Dr. Vereker, Surgeon Franklin, jun. Dr. W. Geary, Inspector.

St. Munchin's—Dr. O'Callaghan, Surgeon Barry, Dr. Peppard, Inspector.

The thanks of the Board were presented to the Brothers Christian School, for benevolently surrendering their Establishment in Upper William-street, as a Cholera Hospital.

The Board meet on Mondays and Fridays at 12 o'clock.

At a meeting of the Parishioners of Cahirnarry, in the Liberties of this City, the following were chosen to constitute a Board of Health:—Rev. J. Gabbett, Rev. Mr. Twohy, P.P. Rev. Mr. Carroll, P.P. Messrs. Croker, Crips, Howley, G. R. Fitzgerald, E. Fitzgerald, W. and R. Ledger, and Callinan. Active measures are being taken to prevent the spread of Cholera in the above parish.

Dr. Bullen's admirable description of Epidemic Cholera in Cork, its symptoms, and treatment, will be seen in our columns.

From our Correspondent at Buttevant yesterday—Within the last fortnight Cholera has made its appearance in the town and barracks of Buttevant. In town 9 cases, four of them fatal: in barracks 6 cases, two of them fatal, the first after 12 hours illness, the second after the short space of eight hours.—This day (17th) all appearance of increase of the disease is removed, but communication with the town and garrison is still strictly prohibited.

The wife of the Hospital Sergeant of the 65th Reserve Companies at Buttevant, and the servant girl of the family, of the gallant Scots Greys have enrolled themselves of the Birmingham Political Union.—Dublin Freeman.

We do not attach the slightest credit whatever intelligence, nor do we believe that any soldier's service has enlisted himself a Member of other Political Society. The thing is quite at the very first principles of military discipline, cileable with the obligations of a British Soldier.

Captain Ward, Royal Engineers, has been transferred from Londonderry to Cork.

The 900 Marines ordered from Chatham to fear of disturbance, occupy their old quarters.

The situation of Treasurer of the Ordnance, filled by Mr. William Holmes, and to which it Mr. Creevey was appointed, has not yet been filled.

It is said the Paymastership of the Royal Artillery will be transferred from Greenwood and Cox, to the Department, by which a great saving may be effected.

At Nottingham, on Thursday, a Court of held to investigate the conduct of Lieutenant-Trotter of the South Nottinghamshire Yeomanry Cavalry, Rolleston, President. The inquiry arises out of the alleged use of a sword by Lieutenant Trotter at the meeting of the reform bill, and the possibilities of disturbance. It is said he would not draw his own sword, or command under him so to do, upon which warm language was used, and Mr. Close was requested to resign his lieutenancy, and requested the present inquiry. It is to be the preliminary to a court-martial.

The Marquis of Anglesey has been pleased to purchase a valuable living of Moyne, in the County Tipperary. Rev. Richard Kennedy, Prebendary of Clondroon, Clontarf, was one of the candidates for the Terry Alt system in Clare.

The inhabitants of Galway are to meet on Monday at the requisition of Val. Blake, and the Right Rev. Bishop, to address the King on the present state of affairs.

Wednesday last, Mrs. Francis Twiss, of Ardsley, Castleisland, accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Twiss, were returning on a car from Killybegs within about a mile of that town the car, by a sudden casualty, was overturned on them. Mrs. Twiss providentially escaped with very little injury, but the other lady (being encumbered with a child) was severely hurt as to cause her death in Killarney last.

Thirty-nine blood horses are entered for the races, where there is a great attendance of sportsmen.

Richard Mannix, charged with coining, and from the City Gaol in November last, was up for trial at Kilkishen, and yesterday lodged in his old apartment.

Sunday last a Rock notice was posted on the wall at Ulla, against the payment of tythes in that parish any one disobeying the mandate with the fact of Mr. Whitty, of Golden. The police very properly removed this illegal writing from the wall soon after it was posted. The tithe of this parish was compounded with Mr. Seymour, so low as 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. an acre in many places. The present incumbent is the Rev. Mr. Herbert.

At the late fair of Rosmanaher, a riot took place one of the men engaged struck John Quinlivan on the forehead, from the effects of which an inquest was held by Robert G. Greene, Esq., a verdict of wilful murder returned. Patrick Quinlivan has been committed for the murder.

On Wednesday night there was a house on fire, the property of Michael Keena, near Golden.

Monday last at one o'clock in the day three men approached the Glebe-house of the late Rev. Mr. Keena, near Golden, occupied since the murder by police, through one of the windows. The police retreated with effect, as blood was seen on the grass outside. The fellows had retreated. When this outrage was committed the Magistrates of the neighbourhood were in Petticoat Lane. A few nights since two shots were fired into the residence of Edward Pennefather, Esq., at Tipperary; a notice was put into the house of the price of potato ground.

The Whitefeet continue their midnight outrages, any intermission; even they patrol the neighbourhood, and issue their sanguinary mandates with the slightest fear of detection. During the past week notices were served on respectable traders residing in the neighbourhood who hold land in the neighbourhood.

At Athly, the Whitefeet are under a little
