Monday next is appointed for the observance of his Majesty's birth-day. The Custom-House, Excise, and Stamp Offices, and Banks will be closed on that day. The troops in garrison, Royal Artillery, Royal Lancers, 58th Reserve, and 27th Regiment, will parade at Newcastle in full dress, and fire a feu de joie on the occasion.

The usual half-yearly public examination of the Officers and Gentlemen Cadets, studying at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, took place on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday last. At the close of the examinations, the following Officers, who had displayed very superior attainments in military science, were presented with certificates of qualification of the highest class:—Captain H. Gill, 50th Regiment, Captain G. E. Thorold, 92d ditto, Lieutenant D. Herbert, 77th ditto, Lieut. A. C. Sterling, 24th ditto.— And the following Gentlemen Cadets, who had completed their qualifications for commissions, were recommended to the General Commanding in Chief for appointment to Ensigncies in the Line, without purchase:—Caledon R. Egerston, George Erskine, Richard Waddy, William Taylor, George M'Call, Henry A. Strachan, John C. Handfield, Ronald J. M'Donell, Charles S. S. Evans, Henry Clarke, Ferdinand Whittingham, Charles F. Hervey, Charles A. Goodman.

Captain Armit's troop of the 4th Dragoon Guards, from Dundalk, was employed the last few days collecting Church Cess in the parish of Louth.

The 11th Light Dragoons, under orders to return to England, sailed for India in 1819.

Two troops of the 7th Light Dragoons, or Queen's Own Hussars, passed from Ipswich, on Monday last, to be nearer the metropolis, in case their services should be required.— They are now stationed at Stratford-le-Bow.

The 17th Lancers embarked from Dublin on the 9th June, to be quartered in Gloucester, Bristol, Clifden and Coventry.

The depot of the 84th regiment marched into Winchester on Monday, from Gosport. A soldier belonging to the regiment fell off a baggage waggon, and was killed.

On Friday, the Reserve Companies of the 61st Regiment, stationed in Derry, were inspected in the review field by Major-General Macdonnell, who expressed himself highly satisfied with their appearance and discipline.

Gen. Sir George Bingham inspected the reserve corps of the 97th Regiment, in the square of the Infantry Barracks Clonmel, on Saturday. The gallant General inspected the Artillery depot also, with which he was well pleased.

The 9th Regiment will undergo their half-yearly inspection at Cork next week, before Major-Gen. Sir G. Bingham.

On Monday evening last, Major-General Macdonnell arrived in Enniskillen, and on Tuesday inspected the 30th Regiment, the barracks, books, appointments, &c. &c. with all of which, and the whole interior economy of the corps, he expressed himself greatly pleased. Yesterday he reviewed the troops on the fair-green. The cleanly and soldierlike appearance of the men, their steadiness, and the correctness with which they performed their various evolutions, reflected great credit on the Colonel and the other officers of the corps.

The 35th Regiment, 500 men strong, commanded by Colonel Toulon, marched from Gosport on Monday; 300 to Alton, and 200 to Basingstoke.

The officers of the 28th Regiment at Dublin, have presented a handsome silver tea-pot, value twenty pounds, to Serjeant-major William Kerr, in testimony of their approbation of his faithful services as a non-commissioned officer during a period of twenty six years in that corps.

A man named Patterson, belonging to the party of Artillery stationed in Clonmel, was found drowned in the river opposite the Old Chapel, on Monday. It is supposed that the unfortunate man was in liquor on Sunday night, and while in that state that he fell in, as no marks of violence were visible on him. He was over 20 years in the service.

On Wednesday last, about 3 o'clock, a man went into the house of the Widow M'Kay, who lives on the road leading to Lickadool, at the back of Roxboro', and asked for some milk—at first seeing but two women and a little girl, he drew a pistol from under his coat, and said if they did not open the box and give him the money that was in it, that he would shoot them; the girl slipped out and called to some men that were working at a little distance, on missing her out of the house he went to the door and saw the men coming, on which he made off through the demesne of Roxboro', the men pursued, he then fired at them without effect; on hearing the shot and seeing the pursuit, the men at work in the different gardens joined until he ran into a house, where he took a position and swore that he would shoot any one that would attempt to enter it. The Rev. Mr. Herbert and William Green, of Greenmount, Esq. were passing the road at the time on a jaunting car and stopped to have him secured, which was not effected 'til Mr. Green spiritedly dashed in the door and made him a prisoner, when the country people then assisted, and he is now in prison, after being fully identified by the woman.

His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant has strongly expressed his determination to support the Clergy of the Established Church, "by civil as well as military aid, if necessary," and at the same time has graciously expressed, "that any suggestions which may be offered by the Clergy, for facilitating the collecting Church property, shall have his Excellency's best consideration."

At an Ordination held in the Cathedral Church of St. Mary's, Tuam, by his Grace the Archbishop of Tuam, on

We have again much gratification in declaring, from authority, that the general health of our City continues remarkably good, and there has been only one case of Cholera since our last, and altogether only three. It is hoped from the very laudable efforts of the Officers of Health in each parish, and the wholesome regulations enforced by them, that the fatal malady will not make any serious progress amongst our population. Yesterday there was a full meeting of the Board of Health at the Council-Chamber, Exchange, when the Medical Inspectors reported only one case of Asiatic Cholera as having occurred in any of the parishes of this City since the 18th instant, an interval of one week. This last case was that of a man named Patrick Ryan, aged 23 years, a painter by trade, and living in Whitewine-street, parish of St. John. He was seized with vomiting and purging at 3 o'clock on Thursday morning, which continued for near four hours, when collapse set in, and he died at two o'clock in the afternoon of Thursday. His remains were conveyed for interment at an early hour same evening. This man, it is proper to explain, was the victim of his own dissolute habits, and an inveterate whiskey drinker! Michael M'Carthy, a cooper by trade, died, it was rumoured, of the Cholera likewise, but the Medical Gentlemen do not represent his case to have shewn decided symptoms of the disorder. It is now fixed that the Medical Inspector of each parish is to report to the Board of Health the state of his district every morning.

The deaths by Cholera in Tralee are nine, of which the most were men of intemperate habits. There is no official report made to the public of those cases.

Cholera in Cork—Wednesday, 3 deaths, 38 recoveries, 40 new cases. Thursday 31 new cases, 5 deaths, and 42 recoveries. Friday, 43 new cases, 11 deaths and 33 recoveries.

The total number of Cholera cases at Kinsale, to Thursday was, 129, deaths 19.—Passage and Monkstown are wholly free from cholera. There is no cholera whatever at Fermoy.

The returns of the Board of Health present an accurate and truly alarming outline of the frightful success, which has attended the progress of Cholera in the dense population of Galway. There is an almost total suspension of business.— Such is the terror and consternation of the lower orders that it is with considerable difficulty persons can be procured to make graves for those who are dying of Cholera; in so much that the Rev. John D'Aroy was compelled to act in the capacity of grave-digger at the Cemetery at Fort-hill. Wednesday the return was 23 new cases, 11 deaths, 10 recoveries, and 43 cases remaining.—Total deaths 66—Total cases 102. The Board of Health have applied to Government for the immediate assistance of two efficient and qualified Physicians, who have a knowledge of the malady in the Dublin Hospitals. The Galway Doctors have confessed the Cholera sets all their theory and practice at defiance!

Cholera morbus has been most destructive in its ravages at Drogheda. To Wednesday evening the total cases were 348—Total deaths, 205. At Newry, 30 deaths, 59 cases.

It is proposed to shorten the passage between Croom and this City one mile and half, by a new line of road to the East, leaving out the village of Patrick's Well, and the hill near Carass.

Saturday night, Tomkins Brew, Esq. C. M. with the Police from Kildysart, under H. B. Blake, Esq. apprehended Michael Gavin, charged with the murder of Serjeant Robinson, 5th regiment, and found on his person the hat worn by the Serjeant at the time of the murder.

On the night of Monday a house in which a man named William Walsh, resided on the Lands of Inch, County Tipperary, was fired into by an armed party, who required him to quit the place on pain of death.

Lord Frankfort's gamekeeper at Coolcullen, near Kilkenny, was robbed of his fire-arms on Saturday last in the noonday.

Wednesday, nine cows, distrained by Mr. Thomas Rice, for tithe composition due to him in the Parish of Kilmooly, county Kerry, were offered for sale in the village of Abbey-O'Dorney, where, however the attendance of thirty men, all strangers, and the threats used by them, prevented a sale taking place.

Fourteen bullocks of Mr. Germaine, of Lisnagh, near Carlow, which were seized by the High Sheriff and a strong military force under Major Ryan, 50th, for £34 tythe due to the Rev. Mr. Whitty, are still in Carlow gaol. Upwards of 10,000 country people sounding horns, followed them into the town, and frightened away any person likely to bid for them. There was no sale in consequence, and so great is the intimidation that the High Sheriff's bailiffs resigned sooner than drive the cattle out. When Major Ryan was applied to by the High Sheriff to suffer the cattle into the barrack yard for protection, he refused, saying "the camp of the soldier should never be a tythe pound for bullocks."

The City of Waterford Reform Meeting has resolved to present an address and remonstrance to his Majesty on the recent crisis of state affairs. One of the speakers at this meeting, Mr. Henry W. Barron said—"The Tories of 1799 did not hesitate to create Peers to carry the base Union, a measure carried by deeds the most profligate. Men were bought up in all directions. Lords were created, and it was notorious that £500,000 was expended in buying up Parliamentary votes. Pitt, and the Tories of 1799 deprived Ireland of 200 Members, without granting any equivalent.
