

Baron Pennefather has arrived at his seat, Darling-hill, Tipperary, from Dublin.

There was a very indifferent market for cattle at the last fair of Hospital, and prices low, demand trifling.

An order is received from the Council Office, Dublin Castle, by all the Sheriffs in Ireland, to have the several Court-houses and Prisons well ventilated, thoroughly cleansed, and purified with chloride of lime.

At Wicklow Assizes yesterday, the Attorney General prosecuted six of 38 farmers charged with obstructing the Police when demolishing mounds or beacon towers built by the peasantry. They were convicted, and the others are advised by their Counsel to plead guilty. The Attorney General stated it to be the intention of Government to call for the severest punishment. The sentence in several of those cases varies from two years to twelve months imprisonment, fined £50, and to find bail for 7 years.

Meath Assizes commenced at Trim on Saturday before Judge Johnson. Sir William Somerville is foreman of the Grand Jury.

Edward Lucas, Esq. is Foreman of the Monaghan Grand Jury. The calendar is light.

Galway Assizes are postponed to October. In consequence of the prevalence of Cholera the Waterford Assizes are postponed sine die.

While the Clergyman was officiating in Kildorrery Church last Sunday, the congregation were alarmed by shouts from without, when a large body of men with flags and music marched by, and after the service planted their flags on the Church gates.

Mrs. Pitcairn, wife of Dr. Pitcairn, Deputy Inspector-General on the Army Medical Staff in the Southern district, died of cholera on Wednesday, at Monckstown, near Cork.

The Rev. Mr. Aylward, the Roman Catholic Curate at Thomastown, Kilkenny, got up out of bed about 1 o'clock on Monday morning, in consequence of hearing a noise in the street, occasioned by the rioting of some persons on their return from the anti-tithe meeting at Ballyhale. He threw open the window, and was in the act of addressing the mob below, when he unfortunately fell out into the street and was killed on the spot. His skull was extensively fractured.

The evidence of Pierce Mahony, Esq. before the Select Committee of the House of Commons, upon Irish Tythes, will be seen in first page, the present stations of the British Army, in fourth page, and the most recent proceedings of the Conservative Society of Ireland.

Saturday, Mr. Cox, Coroner, held an inquest on the body of a woman who was washed ashore near Ferry Bridge, in this county. She was an elderly female, and her apparel indifferent. There was no evidence to elucidate her name or the immediate cause of her death.

A miserable looking beggar, Nell Boyle, used to patrol the streets of Tralee for charity. She was suddenly taken ill on Thursday, complaining of violent pains and spasms. The Medical Gentlemen treated her for Cholera, and the Priest administered the last rights. In an hour she added to the overgrown population of Ireland by giving birth to a strong infant!

Mr. Eyres of this City, son of Mr. Eyres, Cabinet-Maker, has sustained his high character in college, by receiving at last examination the certificate for science.

Beamish and Crawford have subscribed £100, Messrs. Lane, £100, Messrs. Wise, £50, and the Earl of Cork, £50, for building a Chapel in St. Patrick's Parish, Cork.

THE BEST ANTIDOTE.

To the Editor of the Limerick Chronicle.

SIR—In those perilous times, when Divine Judgments are poured out upon the land and on this City in an eminent degree, most reflecting persons think it prudent to have some powerful remedies at hand, which they may resort to without loss of time. I am sorry to find, however, that the prescriptions relied upon and the help sought for from them are limited to the body. Allow me, through the columns of your respected Journal, to recommend that which will prove medicinal to the Soul; and I very much fear, it is because the latter is so much neglected or so ill attended to, that the former is such a sufferer under the scourge which the righteous Governor of the nations has seen fit to visit us with. It is recorded of one of the pupils of a Hindoo School, where the Word of God was taught, that he came to his instructor one day and said with peculiar animation, Oh, Sir, I have found out a prescription against the cholera, and then pointed to the 92nd Psalm, which contains those striking expressions, "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High, shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty; I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress, my God, in Him will I trust." A departing Christian, some time since found this beautiful Psalm to be a good prescription against the fears and dying strife which generally attend the last scene. Having faithfully discharged the duties of the situation she had held in the Fever Hospital for 30 years, some one remarked she might go before the bar of God with a safe conscience, true, she replied, I shall go there with a safe conscience, for my Redeemer's blood has washed me from all my sins, and I trust in Him, for I know myself to be a miserable sinner. Here was the faith of the Gospel, and the fruits of it appeared so evident in her life, that others could not but be struck with the exemplary manner in which she adorned the doctrine of God her Saviour: but her entire reliance was in Him who lived and died for her, and who "finished the work the Father gave him to do." (Joan 17. 4.) This

MARRIAGES.

At Kilkenny, by the Right Rev. Dr. Kinshela, Denis Mahony, of Cork, Esq. son of the late philanthropic Timothy Mahony, Esq. to Catherine, daughter of Redmond Reade, of Kilkenny, Esq.

At Wicklow, Francis Greene, Esq. to Elizabeth Charlotte, daughter of the late James Edwards, Esq. of Friars-hill, county Wicklow.

At St. Mary's Church, Dublin, Robert Chermiside, Esq. of Warrenpoint, to Elizabeth Charlotte, daughter of John Johnston, Esq.

On the 3d. July, at Glen Oak, James H. Robertson, Esq. of Greenock, to Helena, second daughter of Robert Macaulay, Esq., of Glen Oak.

At St. Peters Church, Cork, James Edwards, Esq. of Bandon, to Miss Hester Appleby.

The Rev. John Browne, of Bandon, to Elizabeth, daughter of Abraham Lane, Esq.

Thomas Campion, Esq. of Castletinch, Queen's County, to Mary, daughter of Patrick Rothe, of Kiltrush Mills, county Kilkenny, Esq.

In Bath, R. J. Gordon Grant, Esq. of the 22d Regiment, to Mary, relict of the Rev. H. Towton, Rector of Vere, in the Island of Jamaica.

DEATHS.

At the Canal-house, much regretted, Mrs Ormsby, relict of the late Edward Ormsby, Esq. of this City.

In George-street, of Cholera, after a few hours illness, Mr. Robert Chapple, grocer and wine-merchant, most deservedly lamented by his family and friends.

In Miles'-street, of cholera, Henry Postelthwait Rothery, house-painter, a man eminent in his profession.

At her brother's house, in Tipperary, on Wednesday last, of Cholera, Miss Hellman, sister to Mr. Hellman, (guager) whose death we mentioned in our last paper.

At Ryan, Wexford, the Rev. John Sutton, P.P. of Oilgate.

At Trainore, Mrs. Elizabeth Power, relict of the late Mr. Martin Power, of Broad-street, Waterford.

At Grange, County Cork, John Hawkes, Esq. aged 74.

At Borris, county Carlow, Peter Byrne, Esq.

In Bandon, Emma, youngest daughter of the late Lt. J. Warring, 23d Light Dragoons.

On Saturday, in Clonmel, Mr. M. White, Woollen Draper, much regretted.

On Sunday, Mr and Mrs. Roe, of Barrack-street, Clonmel, old and respectable inhabitants of that town.

In Clonmel, Mrs. King, an excellent and charitable woman.

In Westport, after a lingering illness, the lady of Robert Patten, Esq.

On Thursday, at an advanced age, of cholera, Mrs. Margaret Gibbons, relict of the late James Gibbons, Esq. of Castlebar.

Sunday, at Castlebar, of cholera, Ellen, wife of Mr. John Twohig, of the Ordnance Survey Department.

In Francis-street, Dublin, of cholera, Mrs. Byrne, relict of Patrick Byrne, Esq.

In Spring Gardens, Dublin, of cholera, Mrs. Barker, relict of the late Mr. Richard Barker.

At Falmouth, of apoplexy, Lieutenant-Colonel William Fenwick, K. C. B., Lieutenant-Governor of Pendennis Castle, an officer who highly distinguished himself in the Peninsular war.

At the Glebe House, county Cork, the Rev. R. Disney, Rector of Mitchelstown.

In Marcus-square, Newry, after a residence of 44 years in Newry, Samuel Black, Esq. M. D. and M. R. I. A. aged 68 years.

Of cholera, Francis Wm. Hamilton, of Russell-place, Dublin, Attorney.

JUST PUBLISHED,

BY LONGMAN, REES and Co., LONDON, WATERLOO,

AND BY THOMAS JACKSON, ESQ.

And sold by B. O'BRIEN, Bookseller, 11, George's-street, Limerick. July 14.

TO BE LET,

IN ONE, TWO, OR THREE LOTTS,

FROM the 1st of MAY last, for TWENTY-ONE Years, or such term as may be agreed on, (subject to the late Tenant's right of redemption under Haliere) the Lands of MIDDLEWALK, containing by GRADY'S survey, 175 Acres 2 Roods 20 Perches, plantation measure, of Arable and Pasture; and 8 Acres 1 Rood 15 Perches of Bog, more or less, situate a short distance from Nenagh, between that Town and Cloughjordan, in the Barony of Upper Ormond, and County of Tipperary, late in possession of WILLIAM KENNEDY and his under tenants.

Proposals (not paid) will be received by EDWARD W. SEYMOUR, Esq. 104, Baggot street, Dublin. July 14.

FEE SIMPLE ESTATES.

TO BE SOLD by private contract, together, separately or in convenient lots, by order of the Trustees of the will of the late John Walcott, Esq.

Crough Walcott, Amogan, and subdenominations, near Rathkeale, County Limerick containing 1622A. IR. 10P.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF LIBERTIES OF LIMERICK.

GENTLEMEN,

HAVING been solicited by several Electors myself for the representation of my native City, I may not be deemed presumptuous in offering reasons for declining to accede to a request, which I ever remember with pride and gratitude. To be worthy of the honor of being the Representative of any portion of my Fellow-Citizens, could not excite in me the liveliest emotions—while, to attribute the favorable disposition which has been shown towards me to the warm and active interest I ever have in the improvement of our City, and in the welfare of its Inhabitants, cannot disguise the fact from myself, that any success which may have attended my efforts, is solely attributable to another,—and when I consider the energetic mind, the perseverance and the industry of your present Representative is due both the honor and the reward; I am conscious of my incompetence to such a man—I confess I have not the moral conduct to contrast which would thus be forced upon me, and more especially in that House where his advocacy of the cause of Ireland has been both powerful and successful, and in comparison with which my efforts must indeed, though my wishes and my zeal could not be passed.

I trust, however, our City is not doomed to be or to pass under the censuring Ban of the Empire, the exciting cry of "Rice and Independence" shall be again heard in our streets—acting with might still hope to have been useful—without him I do not expect to satisfy either my own desires or your expectations, though, as a Fellow-Citizen, my best efforts will be used to merit your kindness and to promote the interests of Limerick.

In tracing the efforts of your present Member, the results of twelve years, during which he has exerted himself as your Representative, I cannot avoid contrasting the present and the former condition of our City—I can detail all those measures which have directly flowed from his powerful advocacy both in and out of Parliament, which of us can avoid recollecting the absence of improvements prior to the year 1820, and the dependence which characterized the close borough, rick, and degraded its Inhabitants. Who can struggle, and the hard fought contest for Independence and the glorious result?—who can point out the improvement, or effort towards the promotion of any object in our City, until your present Representative that career of usefulness of which you have not observed?

About that period several of our fellow-citizens consider it as one of the happiest circumstances of that I was one,) solicited Mr. Spring Rice to be nominated for the representation of his native City. He has conducted himself to your satisfaction the NOBILITY and STATUS which you have erected fully attest.

After a harrassing Election and contested petition, seated, and his first act was to introduce a Reform Bill for Limerick, which disfranchised the non-resident Electors, established the rights of the citizens—restored the Court of D'Oyer Hundred, and compelled an extension of the Corporation Funds for the benefit of the City. Having attended the whole of these arduous and important proceedings—I can affirm without the fear of contradiction that we must have altogether failed, but for the exertions of Mr. Spring Rice.

Having thus established your Political rights, his attention to measures which promoted the improvement of the City, and gave employment to its inhabitants.

The Wellesley Bridge and Docks, vainly contemplated for years, were by his exertions commenced.

He secured (after much opposition) the Building Lunatic Asylum in Limerick, and the expenditure of the sums raised for its support, in the neighbouring counties.

A Bridge at Athlone, which had been projected, was built—the necessary funds having been procured through his interposition.

The Improvements in the Abbey—in Mary-street and Pery Square, are proofs of his anxiety to promote the welfare of our City.

An Act of Parliament had passed fifty years back for the rebuilding of Baul's Bridge. This Statute, which has since become a dead letter, has, by his instrumentality, been brought into active operation—and even at the moment that he is to relinquish your representation, he has been intently furthering other works, either contemplated or in progress. The erection of a Provincial Bank in the City—street—a Church in the New Square—the removal of Houses in Quay-lane—the building of a Savings Bank—the formation of a Canal, Harbour, and other local works.

When these objects of public interest are completed, them hereafter be attributed to him to whom the honor is due; and when you are reminded by some public body of the name of "Spring Rice," ask yourselves would have been undertaken if he had had not been your representative.

These recollections, I confess, press themselves on my mind, and compel me to decline the honor of