option either of selling their interests, or of purchasing the fee, or of taking leases in perpetuity at fee farm rents, but the power of renewals to cease altogether. The Land Tax created under the new composition Act, to be sold like quit and crown rents. It is calculated that the issue of one million in Exchequer Bills, will be sufficient to put the machinery of the entire measure into operation. The whole arrangements to be conducted and carried into effect by two Boards of Commissioners appointed by Government.

Thus without any confiscation of the revenues of the Church, and merely by the interposition of the credit of Government, a combination of measures will be accomplished, without any cost to the public, eminently conducive to the prosperity and tranquility of Ireland, and pecliarly adapted to promote its real and vital intersts.

To the Editor of the Limerick Chronicle.

Newcastle, August 16, 1832.

SIR,-I have seen in your Paper of yesterday a letter, signed Connur O'Brien and John T. Raleigh, attempting to contradict my letter to you of the 6th instant. Upon what grounds these individuals take the liberty to interfere in matters connected with the parish of Newcastle, I am at a loss to know; and why they set themselves forward as the champion of Mr. Coll, it is equally difficult for me to conjecture,-Mr. Connor O'Brien being a Gentleman residing about four miles from the bounds of this parish, and having no connection with it, and Mr. Raleigh being a person who has spent nearly the last five years in the City of Limerick as apprentice to an apothecary, and who resides for the last few months in the parish of Maliconagh three miles distant from Having thus alluded to the relative position of these persons with this parish, I now come to remark upon their letter.

In consequence of my absence from home when this "sumptuous dinner" occurred, I find I have underrated by five the whole strength of the company, and that instead of the dinner being attended by 23 as stated in my former letter, it was actually patronized by 28 persons.

With regard to the number of the "parishioners of Newcastle" who attended, I find, instead of six persons as before stated by me to have been present, that no less than seven lent their presence on this occasion. In order that the public may be correctly informed on this matter I given underneath the names of those seven persons, leaving Messrs. O'Brien and Raleigh to contradict my statement if they can. The following are the names of the seven parishioners :-

1, Daniel Murphy, of Bridgelane, dyer. 2, John Moore, of Bridgelane, saddler.

Thomas Fitzgibbon, of Bridgelane, clerk to Mr. Mulcahy of Rathkeale.

4, Patt Dowling, of Bridgelane, linen-draper. 5, Tead Sullivan, of Maiden-street, publican. Daniel Fitzpatrick, of Maiden-street, grocer. 7. Miles O'Brien, of Maiden-street, apothecary.

The latter two persons are resident in this parish about five or six months.

As to the number of the Clergymen who were present, I re-assert that they formed about one-half of the party; and if I be mistaken either in this particular or as to the number of the "parishioners," let the extra-parochial advocates of Mr. Coll state to the public the names of those persons whom they assert I have omitted.

The Hotelkeeper's statement, which is literally true, is substantially false. The facts being these, as declared by this person even yesterday to Mr. Edward Hartnett and other Gentlemen of this town, that he, Cussen, upon two occasions within a few days preceding had refused to furnish those persons with a dinner, and that it was owing to his having refused twice before that he was not asked to do so on the 23d ult.; and that not being asked on this particular day, he consequently did not refuse on that day.

From this circumstance it is evident that these persons knew it to be useless to apply to Mr. Cussen to furnish a dinner on the 23d, and that his account of the matter is merely a denial of a particular refusal on a certain day.

I shall make Mr. Cussen a present of the "highest respect" which he entertains for Mr. Coll, convinced as I am that he bears an equally "high respect" for the profits of the Conference dinners which are served up in his house, and the loss of which profits may be occasioned by any semblance upon his part of any opposition to the "esteemed" Mr. Coll.

If Mr. Cussen do really, as he states, "feel it a pleasure to pay Mr. Coll any compliment in his power," will. Mr. Cussen inform the public, why it was that this dinner, intended as a compliment to Mr. Coll, was not given in Mr. Cussen's house (the only Hotel in the town)? And will he further inform us, whether it was for the purpose of shewing his extremely "high respect for his Very Rev. Parish Priest" that he absented himself from this very dinner, the exclusive object of which dinner was to attempt to bolster up the repusation of the " Very Rev. Parish Priest."

Messrs. O'Brien and Raleigh have not, of course, attempted to give any specified information whatever upon the facts of the transaction; finding it, no doubt, more congenial 30 their dispositions and manners, as well as to the nature of the case which they undertook to support, to give bold, illbehaved, and unmeaning contradictions, than to communicate candidly to the public the real circumstances of the case.

As to my subsequent conduct which Messrs. O'Brien and Raleigh have alluded to, I shall only observe, in the first place, that it has been favoured with the unanimous approbation of the respectable inhabitants of this town; and, in the second place, that the Magistrates assembled in Petty Sessions at Rathkeale, this day, have granted me informations against Messrs. O'Brien, Raleigh, and Fitzpatrick for "the conduct" of those persons towards me, which conduct the Magistrates declared to have been the most atrocious this Act have formed Part of such City, Town, or Borough or Place, for the Purpose of the Election or Members to serve in Parliament; but that all Extra-parochial Places which are surrounded by any Parish, Townland, Manor, Lordship, or Liberty, of which any City, Town, or Borough or Place is said in such Schedule to consist, shall be considered as included within such City, Town, or Borough or Place, for the Election of a Member or Members to serve in Parliament; and that all Places locally situate or included within the Boundaries of any City, Town, or Borough, as defined under this Act. shall for the Purposes of this Act only be deemed and taken to be a Part or Parts of such City, Town, and Borough, BIRTHS.

At Stoughton's Row, Tralee, the Lady of John Lynch, Esq. Attorney, of a daughter.

At Cork, the Ludy of Robert Weldon, Esq. Barrister, of

In Foyle-street, Derry, the Lady of Lieutenant and Adjutant Armstrong, 30th Regiment, of a son.

MARRIAGES. At Castle Ventry church, John Ludgate, Esq. of Clonakilty, to Jane Anne, daughter of the late Mr. J. Bennett, Yesterday, by the Rev. John Clarke, Mr. Michael O'Flaherty, of Croom, to Anne, widow of the late Mr. Daniel Costello, of Bruff.

In Cork, Anne, daughter of Mr. William West, to James, son of the late Captain Merrick, of Bristol.

At Chilton, Joseph Addeson, Esq. of Boroughbridge, Somersetshire, to Emma, third daughter of Col. Addeson, of Chilton-hall, Sudbury. At Welwyn, Herts, John Villers Shelley, Esq. eldest son of Sir John Shelley, Bart. to Louisa Elizabeth Anne, only child of the Rev. Samuel Johnes, Knt. of Henley Hall, Salop, and Rector of Welwyn.

DEATHS.

On Friday morning, in Clare-street, Mrs. Eliza O'Donovan, wife of Win, O'Donovan, Esq. and sister of Ald. Fleming, of Dublin. This estimable Lady has been hurried from a large and interesting family, to an early tomb by the hideons disease which even yet partially afflicts our City. In every relation of mother, wife, and friend, she evinced the practice of a warm and sublimated spirit. She endeared herself to all her acquaintance by her cheerful, social, and animated qualities; and if the kindest and most affectionate mannersif the tenderest and most amiable disposition-if excellence of the highest and chastest order, can embalm a Lady's memory, she is not likely to be soon forgotten. The unspotted tenor of her life bears some solace to the afflicted husband, ten children, and very many relatives and friends, who remain to weep over her sad and melancholy loss.

This evening, of fever, William Ferguson, Esq. Cloth-merchant, George's-street.

In Henry-street of cholera, Dorothea, sister of the late Joseph Gabbett, of Uregare in this County, Esq. and of William Gabbett, Esq. of Enniskillen.

In Clare-street, of cholera, at the house of her relative,

Mr. Garrett Sheehy, Miss Fitzgerald.

Of Cholera, Mr. George Latchford, of Mary-street, baker. In Ennis of cholera, Mr. Michael Moloney, school

In Cork, Captain Triphook, late 59th.

At Mount Loftus, county Kilkenny, aged 60 years, Sir Nicholas Loftus, Bart. At Edinburgh, Captain J. B. H. Curran, R. A. second son of the late Right Hon. John Philpot Curran. At Ballinrobe, of cholera, Lieutenant Bowles, 83d regt.,

in command of detachment there.

At Nenagh on Thursday, John Ryan, Esq. late half-pay Ensign of the First Garrison Battalion.

At Ballywalter, County Tipperary, Dorothea, daughter of George Wayland, Esq. aged 20 years.

Iu Cork, Michael Lyne, Esq. half-pay, Lieutenant of the 47th Regiment. In Galway, of cholera, yesterday, Patrick Ferrall, Esq .-

the wife of Matthew Kearney, Esq. cousin of Sir Thomas Esmonde; also, Mr. Thomas Joyce-Mise Cuppaidge, daughter of Mr. George Cuppaidge-Mr Henry Walsh-

Miss Veitch, daughter of Dr. Veitch.

At Drogheda, on Wednesday, Thomas Heron, Esq. He had only arrived a short time in that town, where cholera seems to nestle with peculiar malignity, when the fatal ma-lady reached this lamented individual. It soon carried him off, having almost immediately reduced its victim to a state of colapse. He died in a few hours, and was buried next morning. Mr. Heron was Surveyor to the General Post-office for the Leinster district, a situation of great trust and considerable emolument.

THIS DAY IS PUBLISHED,

OF THE

Dublin Penny Journal

ONTAINING a view and description of the Cove of Cork-The Origin of Phrenology, with two Illustrations, in which it is proved that the principles of that supposed Science are a THOUSAND Years old, and may be found in the Works of an Inshmann the Ninth Century, &c. &c. The next Number contain a View and Description of Kilmallock, near imerick, and a variety of interesting

The talented aid of GRORGE PETRIE, Esq. R. H. A. is secured, which will render this little Periodical one of the

that he has lately returned from London, and him some excellent specimens of Fancy Tim &c. which he will execute at very moderate pr and walls thrown into Pannels with decora-halls and stair-cases painted in imitation of as now done in London.

As REDDIA intends confining to a certa work, which he furnished personally, by which to prevent disappointment and give general No money required until finished. All comm to him, opposite the King's Store, Glentwor be punctually attended to, especially country or he directs particular attention.

NICHOLAS KNIG

T his First Commencement in Busines Account in the WATCH and CLO DEPARTMENT; or, what is commonly ginning the World,"-with numerous disad established Competitors,-had to contend w and remove obstructions, which nothing be industry and patient perseverance could overcome.

However, his own diligence and exertions so praiseworthy, could effect but little for hir for the kind and rene ous support which I receive from the Poinc, and in particular fr ous private Friends and Acquaintances, wh he has strive to obtain, and whose Patro he may continue to deerve.

To those Friends, then, both general and begs to return the sincerest thanks which his dictate. But for them, his habits of industr small avail; and he would sink unnoticed, his species have already done. And it afford happiness that his humble efforts continue satisfaction, which it is his earnest, his un to bestow.

He will gratefully receive any com WATCH and CLOCK-MAKING LINE partments, including the Repairs of Music Clocks, Jewelry, &c. at his Concern

TU, GEORGE'S-STRE Entrance at Bizley's, corner of Thom.

MONSIEUR HUGUE

PROFESSOR OF THE FRENCH LA

N the expiration of the vacation, begs Friends and the Public, that he resumes as usual, in the different Seminaries and priva which he had the honor of being patronized.

The GYMNASIUM continues open at the advertised. By the particular request of a distinction, Monsieur H. re-opens the Ka Class for young Ladies. On this subject berty to insert here an extract from Dr. JENSO

" A recent author, distinguished in the M observes, " By a systematic exertion of the b spare diet, most cases of indigestion might cured." And he adds " I would recomme fair country-women, who have besure, as we improve the languid state of their circulation cacy of their complexion by a system of exercity colour to their cheek, armness to their n their nerves, and energy to their minds.—Dr. bid Sensibility of the Stomach

Monsieur H. begs to refer the Public to certificate of the Medical Gentlemen of Lit advantages arising from the practice of Gymni

" We do not besitate to affirm, that the G cises are extremely conducive to health, and an excellent preservative against the prevail by bestowing that vigour of body and cheerfi which are essentially requisite as a safe-guar tagion."

James F. Carroll, M.D. John S. Thwaites, John Geary, M.D. J. Knight Carey, M.D. J. Sayers, M.D. David O'Callaghan, William Gibson, Amos Vereker, M.D. Edward Lloyd, Richard Frankl John Wilkinson William Griffin John Griffin, M P. Lyons, M.D. Thomas M'Car William J. Car Thomas Kane.

WESTERN, YACHT THE Club-Regatta which was to have the 20th install is unavoidably postpone the 3rd SEPTEMBER MEXIC

Order of the Committee, THOMAS O' Secretary and Tr August 14th, 1832.

AUCTION OF

TDAMS & CO

VILL offer for Sale, by Auction, at rick, on Tuesday next, the 21st instant, at 60 Hhds. Trinidad St

Terms at Sale, and Deposits required

NOTICE.