DENTAL SURGERY.

SURGEON BRODIE, DENTIST,

TAKES this opportunity of informing the Nobility and Gentry of this City, and the adjacent counties, that he has resumed the discharge of his professional duties as DENTIST, and may be consulted at his residence No. 10, GLENTWORTH-STREET, where all operations connected with Dental Surgery are performed, in the general practice of which it must be obvious to every one that his education as a Medical man, must afford him peculiar advantages.

In consequence of the great and now (from circumstances too well known to require mention) well grounded prejudice against the insertion of Human Teeth, Surgeon B. has received from Paris a large supply of the much admired MINERAL TEETH, the superior advantages of which are so well known as to render it unnecessary for him to add a word in their favour, suffice it to state, that they are engaged to retain their original colour, and never to affect the breath, and when inserted according to his peculiar principle may defy the closest inspection.

To those afflicted with TOOTHACHE and unwilling to submit to the painful operation of extraction, or unable to bear the pressure necessary for the introduction of Gold into the cavity of the tooth—Surgeon B. recommends the MINERAL SUCCEDANEUM, which he has prepared and found effectual in such case.
