DEATHS.

Yesterday, at Corbally, much lamented, Samuel Dixon,
Esq. late of Dublin.

On Arthur's-Quay, after a few weeks illness, sincerely regretted by her family and friends, Mary, relict of the late Joseph Stordy, Esq. of Liverpool, and daughter of the late Anthony Bodkin, Esq. of this City.

In Patrick-street, Miss Honora M'Inerney, sister-in-law of the late Jeffrey Foot, Esq. of this City.

Of cholera, in Cornwallis-street, Mr. D. Fitzgerald, Accountant.

On Sunday last, of cholera, Andrew, eldest son of the late
Mr. Richard Vokes, of this City, aged 23 years.

At Mallow, on Sunday, James Griffin, Esq. of Glin, in the West of this county. This melancholy event has deprived a respectable family of an affectionate brother, relative, and friend,—thus early cut off by a lingering decline, which he met with a fortitude and submission to the will of Heaven, which a well spent life predisposes for the enjoyment of a better world.

At the Military Barracks of Parsonstown, of a decline, John, eldest son of Mr. William Loughry, a young man about 24 years of age, deservedly regretted by his family and numerous friends and acquaintances.

At Gort, Mrs. Hynes, relict of the late Mr. Bat. Hynes.

At his house in Waterford, Patrick Tierney, Esq.

At Maryborough, in consequence of a severe attack of cholera, Mary, the wife of Major Leslie, King's Royal Rifle Corps, and youngest daughter of the late Major-General Sir Charles Holloway.

In Carlow, on Saturday, Thomas E. Byrne, Esq. M. D. and Surgeon to the county Infirmary.

At Tramore, of cholera, on Saturday, William Barron, Esq. of Roonmore—Mr. Richard Butler, and Miss Menton, of Kilkenny, and Mr. Robert Lyon.

In Clonmel, Mr. William Cooney—at Mallow, Martha, daughter of the late William Meade, Esq. of Ballisatoher.

At Brighton, in the 66th year of his age, the Right Hon.
Edward Southwell, Baron de Clifford.

Near Bedford, after an illness of two days, aged 72,
Joseph Barham, of Trecwm, in the county of Pembroke, Esq.

In Hauover-terrace, Regent's-park, London, Major-Gen.
Sir Alexander Bryce, K.C.B. of the Royal Engineers, after a few hours' illness.

At Thoune, Canton de Berne, Captain Gardiner Henry Guion, of the Royal Navy.

In Fermoy, Mrs. Catherine Tate.

At Hyde, Isle of Wight, Isabella, eldest daughter of Sir W. Milman, Bart.

Of apoplexy, Lieut. Colonel Gossip, of Charlton, Kent.

In Philipsburgh Avenue, Dublin, after a lingering illness, Rody White, Esq.

Of cholera, William Daniel, Esq. of Mary-street, Dublin.
