DEATHS.

In Kiltrush, Mrs. Flinn, relict of the late Edmond Flinn, Esq. of this City, Proprietor of the late Limerick Journal Newspaper—a Lady much esteemed and regretted by a respectable circle of relatives and friends.

At Larne, on Saturday last, sincerely and deservedly regretted by all who knew her, Mrs. Plance, late of this City; she retained her faculties to the last moment of her existence, and yielded her spirit with an humble confidence of salvation through the merits and mediation of the Saviour—her last words were praises to her Creator.

In Mallow, where he had gone for the benefit of his health, Daniel Geary, Esq. son of Dr. John Geary, of this City—a very amiable young gentleman in every relation of life.

Tuesday night, at his residence, Derk, sincerely regretted, Heffernan Considine, Esq. Deputy Lieutenant of this County. By the decease of this respectable Gentleman the community has lost one of its most valued members, and the society in which he moved will severely feel the blank which has been caused by his demise. His residence was the resort of the gay and fashionable part of the community, his hospitality far famed and proverbial. His affable and conciliating demeanour, combined with the original wit and suavity of his manners, caused him to be classed amongst the few remaining of the old school of Irish Gentlemen,—the blandness of whose manners and extreme politeness were so long and so justly the theme of admiration and national respect. His remains were interred at Lattin, county Tipperary, yesterday.

Wednesday morning, at his house, Henry-street, after a few days illness, William Rose, Esq. a gentleman much lamented by his family and friends.

At the Parsonage House, Cahircoulish, on the 30th of June, the Rev. Richard Cox, deeply and universally lamented. His death evidenced his faith in that Saviour who had been his theme and confidence through life.

At Raheen, near this City, John Clarke, Esq.

In Bruff, to the general regret of the inhabitants, and sincerely lamented by his family and friends, Mr. Patrick O'Donnell, Proprietor of the Limerick Arms Inn in that town.

On Wednesday, of fever, Mr. Thomas Parker, son of Mr. George Parker, Ship-broker, late of Arthur's-Quay.

At Warrens-grove, Margareta, relict of the late Rev. Robert Warren, of the diocese of Cork.

In Upper Castle-street, Tralee, of consumption, Mrs. Bridget Farmer, wife of Mr. William Farmer, coach-maker. Thomas, eldest son of Edward H. Herrick, of Ballidiseane, county Cork, Esq.

At Sunday-Well, Cork, William, son of the late John Osborne, Esq.

At Buttevant Barracks, on the 29th ult. Mary Catherine, daughter of Major Clarke, 76th Regiment, aged two years.

At Buttevant Barracks, on the 30th ult. Edward Pope, son of Captain Clarke, 76th Regiment, aged 3 years.

In Fitzwilliam-square, Dublin, Elizabeth, eldest daughter of the late Right Hon. Sackville Hamilton.

In Dublin, where he had been for the benefit of his health, Mr. John Clayton, of Galway.

In Wexford, Mrs. Pounder, relict of the late Doctor Pounder, of Enniscorthy.

In Castlebar, Mrs. Masterman, relict of the late Lieut. Henry Masterman, R. N.

In Londonderry, Mrs. Shannon, wife of Mr. William Shannon, Professor of Music.

At Rathbracks, county Meath, James Molloy, Esq. George Westlake, Esq. senior Alderman of Exeter; he filled the Civic Chair in 1785.

In Portman-square, London, Earl Pomfret, aged 64 years. He was a Lieutenant-General in the Army. He is succeeded in his title by his son, a child about five years old.

Lieut.-Colonel Edward O'Hara, C. B. formerly of the 63d Regiment.

In Russell-place, London, in the 83d year of his age, Wyndham Knatchbull, Esq.

In Montreal, Lieutenant J. Blair, 15th Foot.

At Harpenden, Herts. Sarah, wife of T. Dunmore, Commissary-General to the Forces.

The Right Hon. R. B. SHERIDAN—V. a Tale of Portugal—VII. The Star Gold and Silver. The Chinese Empire the History of Rome—X. The M. The Voice of Nature—XII. The Fr II.—XII. Ballad, by ROBERT GIL Rivals, a Tale—XV. Review. Traveller in search of a Religion—XVI. U —XVII. Critical Notices.
