DEATHS.

In Nile-street, Cork, Mr. James Fraleigh Keating, late of this City.

In John-street, Mr. E. Ryan, skin and feather-merchant.
Wednesday morning, at his house in Cecil-street, to the inexpressible grief of her family and friends, Isabella, wife of Richard Peppard, Esq. She was an affectionate wife, a tender parent, and a sincere friend. Although by her death her family have been plunged into the deepest affliction, they have the consolation to know, that her end was peace—having died rejoicing in the Lord.

At Eyre-square, Galway, Patrick Dennis, son of Captain Dennis, a child whose mildness of disposition and winning manners endeared him not only to the members of his own family, but attracted to him the kindest feelings of interest for his future welfare, of whom he was known. He was followed to the tomb on the morning after his burial, by his little sister—the two in life were inseparable, and seemed to devote their thoughts and united efforts to their mutual amusement.

At Beechmont, county Cork, aged 23 years, William A.
Harnett, Esq.

Thomas O'Reilly, Esq. eldest son of the late Gerald O'Reilly, Esq. of Little Ballinlough, county Meath.

Of decline, in her 19th year, Elizabeth, eldest daughter of James Wright, Esq. Butterfield House, Rathfarnham.

George S. Boylan, aged 20, son of Michael Boylan, Esq.
Boosterstown Strand.

At Blairlogie, the eldest daughter of Mr. Wm. Oliphant, Bookseller, Edinburgh.

At Newtown-Mountkennedy, John Page, Esq. of the Revenue, eldest son of the late Samuel Page, Esq. late Surveyor-General of Customs.

At Garvaley Glebe-house, Letitia, wife of the Rev. T.
Beatty, Rector of Moira.

In Upper Mount-street, Dublin, Mrs. E. Henthorn, widow of the late James Henthorn, Esq. of Stephen's-green.

At her residence, Sidney-avenue, Black-rock, Dublin, Mrs. Godfrey, relict of Lieutenant-Colonel Godfrey, Inspecting Officer of the Kerry Yeomanry, and brother of the late Marchioness Dowager Donegal.

At her father's house, Pembroke-park, Jane Roe, daughter of Thomas Jones, Esq. Officer of Excise, and wife of Assistant-Surgeon Henry Roe, now serving in India.

In Grafton-street, Dublin, Sarah, wife of Mr. Joseph Marshall, and daughter of Mr. Anthony Swinburn, of this City.

At Blackrock, Cork, Giles Shelton, Esq. late of the Excise Department, in his 74th year.

At Shinrone, in the King's County, on Sunday, aged 65, John Doolan, Esq. for many years an ardent supporter of the Turf in Ireland and England.

At Cowes, Isle of Wight, Julia Mary, daughter of the Rev. Charles Digby, Canon of Windsor.

At Hartland Abbey, Devon, Mrs. Orchard, aged 94, the relict of Paul Orchard, Esq. many years Colonel of the North Devon Militia, and M. P. for Callington.

In Keppel-street, London, the son of J. G. H. Bourne, Esq. Barrister-at-Law.

At his house, Hackney, Philip Harvey, Esq. of Great St.
Helen's, aged 82 years.

Mr. John Ashton, organist of St. Augustine's Church, Shaw-street, Everton.

At his house in Brompton Grove, the Rev. Thomas Jervis, formerly Minister of Mill Hill Chapel, in Leeds.

At Camden-town, near London, Mrs. Radford, aged 85.

At Oldbury-court, Lieut.-Colonel V. J. Graeme, formerly of the 10th Hussars, and to the period of his death commander of the Stapleton Yeomanry Cavalry.
