moted to the rank of Commander, and is at present acting in command of the Champion at Newfoundland, has been 19 years Lieutenant. He served on board the Revenge in the battle of Trafalgar. He is the only surviving brother of Captain Herrick, R.N. of Shippool, county Cork, his other brother having been killed when Captain of the 45th regt. at the storming of Badajoz.
A murder was committed a few days since at Kilrush, which shews at what value human life is esteemed. A man named Darby Glynn was at the Sessions, and had some law proceedings with another named Michael Ryan. Ryan employed two men to beat Glynn, and the price agreed upon was three glasses of whiskey each! They gave the unfortunate man such a beating that he died on the 29th ult. The two men named Comyn and O'Neill were arrested on the spot, and Ryan has been taken by the exertions of Mr. Blake, C. C. One of them has turned approver,
