DEATHS.

At Elizabeth Terrace, Jersey, on the night of the 9th inst. Capt. Robert Mackay, late Paymaster of the 21st or Royal Regiment of North British Fusileers, in which Regiment he served for a period of 40 years, beloved and respected by his brother officers, and deeply regretted by them when obliged (through lengthened services in pestilential climates) to quit his parent Regiment, of which he had long been termed the "Parent Oak," and justly so, for in his character were blended every trait that could add lustre to a public life, or adorn a private one, in him his family will long have to mourn the loss of a kind husband,—and a most exemplary father,—and those whom he honoured by his esteem and regard, a firm and valued friend. He was brother-in-law of William Fitzgerald, Esq. of Corbally, near this city.
