move, in the committee on the Stafford disfranchisement bill, that the privilege of sending members to Parliament be transferred to the county of Cork.

The Limerick Water Works Company have completed their very desirable, yet stupendous undertaking for so short a period, and in a few days the public may derive from this new source an instantaneous supply of the purest water at all times, and in the greatest abundance, with the utmost facility. The engines were tried yesterday, and exceeded the most sanguine expectation.

Arrangements are made for accelerating the Mail Coach between this City and Dublin one hour, arriving here at eight in the morning, and leaving at half-past five in the afternoon.

Newspapers may now be forwarded to Greece through the Post-offices of the United Kingdom, without any charge.

The practice which idle boys follow of trundling hoops in the streets, had well nigh produced a fatal catastrophe in Thomas-street last Thursday. Three Ladies, and a child, were driving along upon a jaunting-car, when the horse, a fine animal, took fright at one of these hoops in rapid motion towards him. He dashed off in a furious career, in spite of all the servant's efforts to check him. Two of the Ladies fell off the vehicle, and another, in the greatest alarm, threw herself out, and fell upon her head in the street, by which she received some very severe contusions, with loss of blood. The others were not seriously hurt. We hope, after this really frightful occurrence, the Police will put an effectual stop to such an idle and dangerous amusement in the public streets.

Daniel Ryan, blacksmith, of Newcastle West, died of fracture in the head, induced by the blow of a stone at the late fair of Ardagh.

Arthur M'Connell and Michael Shanahan, of the Pallas-Grean Police, have been tried before the Magistrates of that district for intoxication, stabbing a dog, firing a shot, and making a prisoner, without a cause. The decision of the Bench was that the offenders be fined a month's pay, and removed to another station.

Samuel Henderson, the bridewell-keeper of Midleton, is in custody for killing a man of the name of M'Carthy, whom he stabbed with a cane sword, not in the bridewell as reported.

Friday evening as three children were on the river in a small pontoon boat, opposite the barracks of Athlone, a sudden gale upset the boat and its occupants into the deep. One, a fine boy 12 years of age, son to Serjeant Beatty, Royal Horse Artillery, was drowned, the other two were raised in a state of exhaustion, but are quite recovered.

A handsome site has been purchased in the centre of Athlone for a Presbyterian Chapel, and the foundation stone will be laid next month.

A sum of £947, due to Government for repair of roads in Mayo, has been just called for in that County, in addition to the last Grand Jury cess.

A new line of road from Dumreany to Athlone, to shorten the distance three miles, has been rejected at Special Ses-
