

DEATHS.

Yesterday, in Newenham-street, Anne, wife of James Deacon, Esq. Veterinary Surgeon.

On Sunday, the 20th instant, at Johnstown, near Dublin, the seat of her son-in-law, Captain Edward Whyte, R.N. sincerely and deservedly regretted, Mrs. Hall, relict of Sober Hall, Esq. formerly of this City.

At Beale, Ballylongford, Mrs. Griffin, late of Glin, in this County. In Castle-Connell, Mr. James Hallinan, of Boherbuoy, salt-boiler, and lime-burner.

At Croagh, in this County, at a very advanced age, the Rev. William Ashe, the Venerable Prebendary of that parish. Few men possessed higher literary attainments, a clear recollection of which he retained to the last,—while the many Christian and social virtues which adorned his lengthened life will cause his memory to be long revered. He died trusting alone in the merits and mediation of his Blessed Redeemer.

On Wednesday morning, at Summer-Ville, in this County, Mary, eldest daughter of the late Richard Iveys, Esq. of Greenpark, who discharged the relative duties of an affectionate daughter and sincere friend,—her loss will be long deeply deplored by her highly respectable connexions and friends. Her remains were deposited in the family vault at New Church on Friday morning.

Suddenly, at Templemore, Mr. James Crowley, of Merchant's-Quay, pump-borer.

In Great Britain-street, Dublin, at the advanced age of 96 years, Mary, relict of the late Mr. John Crozier.

Mary, wife of Thomas Elliott, Esq. of Racrogue, county Carlow.

At Killighter Glebe, county Donegal, Olivia, third daughter of the Rev. Joseph Welsh.

At Waterford, Catherine, widow of the late Thomas Russell, of Seaview, Tramore, Esq.

At Racroge, county Carlow, aged 70, Mary, wife of T. Elliott, Esq.

At Phibsborough, Mr. George Frederick Johnston.

At Lucknow, the Lady of Lieut.-Colonel George Moore, 59th N.I.

In Hertford-street, Mayfair, aged 46, Colonel Mackinnon, of the Coldstream Guards.

At Ledstone Hall, Yorkshire, on the 23d instant, Lady Bouverie, the wife of Major General Sir H. Bouverie, K.C.B. commanding the Northern District.

In George-street, Portman-square, London, aged 13, Mildred, daughter of Lieut.-Colonel Skerrett, late 55th Regiment.

William Dickinson Doherty, eldest son of the Rev. W. Ludlow, of Brixton-hill, near London.

At Kensington, James Mill, Esq. author of "History of British India," "Elements of Political Economy," and other works.

W. Norcott, Esq. of Smith-street, Chelsea, in his 70th year.

At Cliff House, Dorsetshire, Mrs. P. B. Shirley, widow of the late Evelyn Shirley, Esq. of Easington Park, Warwickshire.

At Anglesey, near Gosport, aged 15, Marian Eliza, youngest daughter of the late Rear Admiral Hanleyman, C.B.

In the Royal Crescent, Brighton, Mrs. Charlotte Warren.

At Newcastle, H. W. Radford, Esq. surgeon of H.M.'s 62d Regiment, now in India.

Mrs. Wrey, wife of Barrackmaster Wrey, at Portsmouth.

At Rajcote, Surgeon Cockerill, East India Company's Service, son of Captain Cockerill, late 67th Regiment.

At St. Lucia, Sir Freeman Barton, Barrackmaster there, and recently appointed to Norwich.

At Sydney, New South Wales, Charles Stuart Johnson, fourth son of James Johnson, Esq. M.D. of Suffolk-street, Strand, London.

At Calcutta, in his 32d year, J. Wm. Alexander, Esq. of Gloucester-place, Portman-square, London.

At Sydney, New South Wales, Captain R. Jones Potter, of Whitby.

At Cawnpore in the East Indies, a few days after giving birth to a son, Elizabeth, the wife of Duncan Menzies, Esq. of his Majesty's 10th Regiment.

At Sydney, New South Wales, on the 7th January last, aged 18, Anne, daughter of the Hon. James Dowling, Judge of the Supreme Court,—who was thus bereaved, in little more than twelve months, of his wife and two daughters.

In his 75th year, at Bruges, Captain and Adjutant E. Broughton Foster, formerly of Knowle Hall, Warwickshire.

Suddenly, at Allanvale, Van Dieman's Land, Thomas Martin Fenton, Esq. a Magistrate of that Colony.
