DEATHS.

In William street, of a few days illness, in the prime of life, Mr. Josiah R. Gough, woollen-draper, one of the Society of Friends, esteemed and lamented.
 Tuesday, at his residence, Gardiner's-place, Dublin, Captain Edward Whyte, R. N. son-in-law of the late Sober Hall, Esq. of this city. At an early age he entered the Navy, where he made himself beloved—as he subsequently was in private life—by his kind, affable, and conciliatory manners—happily blending the blunt and sterling honesty of the sailor with the suavity and amiability of the most refined and polished gentleman.—His death has occasioned a blank in society which will not easily be filled up. He has left a widowed lady, a large family, inexpressibly endeared to him, and many a sincerely attached friend to bewail his irreparable loss.
 At Nicholas-street, in an advanced age. Mrs. Jones, relict of Mr. Stephen Jones, of this city, mother of the Rev. William Jones, of St. Werburgh's, Dublin, and of the late Surgeon Jones of this city.

 At Stephen's-green, Dublin, in her 76th year, Elizabeth, relict of Joseph Hamilton, Esq.
