THEATRE.—A very full and respectable house attested the high fame of our garrison amateurs on Monday night. Capt. Pipon, 85th, as Lord Duberley; Lieut. Johnston, 93d, as Dr. Panglos; Major Young, 25th, as Zekiel Homespun; Lieut. M'Donald, 25th, as Henry Morland; and Mr. Brooke, 25th, as Dick Dowlas, sustained the interest of the comedy in an uncommon degree, and won the frequent applause of the house.

Constables promoted to Head Constables in the county of Donegal:—1st class, James Hay. 2d class, G. Cassidy, J. Elliott, W. Hogg, C. M'Cartney, R. Martin, J. M'Cue, J. Scarlett.

The Constabulary of the county Clare have not yet received their pay for the month of October.

At the earnest request of all classes of the community in the district of Killaloe, John Duncan, Esq. Chief Constable has been countermanded from his intended move to Tuam, and is now allowed to remain in that part of the country where his services have been so eminently beneficial. We regret to learn that Richard Hadnett, Esq. the active and zealous Chief of Police at Barrington's-bridge is to remove to Macroom—his successor is not yet named.

Saturday last, while Mr. John Sparling of Broom-lodge, Patrick's-well, a respectable farmer, was attending market in this city, two men entered his house at the early hour of eleven o'clock, and seized the gun which rested on the wall over the fire-place. The only persons at home were Sparling's wife and servant girl, and the audacious intruder presented the gun to terrify them both from making alarm. His companion remained near half an hour outside the house with a pistol in his hand, on the watch until the ruffian who carried off the gun had effected his escape from danger.

Saturday last Patrick Collins, a workman in the provision store of the Messrs. Shaw and Duffield, Upper William-street, fell into a large vat of boiling lard on the premises, and was scalded to death. Another labourer in the concern was so badly burnt by immersion in the same utensil, that his life is despaired of. It appears they were both engaged in a trial of personal strength, not an angry collision, when the deceased lost his footing and fell back into the fiery liquid, the other falling on him at the moment.

John Gleeson, a sky farmer from the vicinity of Patrick's-well, fell into the Long Dock on Saturday night and was drowned. The Mayor held an inquest on his body last Monday. Verdict—Accidental death.
