The 45th Regiment, from India, have taken up the late quarters of the 20th at Canterbury.

We regret to announce the death of Captain Thomas Brooke, of the first battalion Royal Regiment, which event occurred at Liverpool, from injuries received by him in the violent collision between the mail steam-boat Lucifer and the American ship Westchester, on the 20th inst. Captain Brooke served with the Royal Regiment in this garrison before they marched to Athlone, and not many weeks since we announced his promotion to the command of the Grenadier company, an honor he did not long survive to enjoy. He was much esteemed by his brother officers for his social and generous qualities, and was equally regarded by the men. The violent shock he sustained by the dreadful collision of two vessels, on the above melancholy occasion, was beyond human endurance, for his legs were broken, and amputation of one limb subsequently took place, under truly distressing circumstances. He was a near relative of Sir Arthur Brooke, Bart. Rev. Mr. Brooke, Major Brooke, 67th, and General Brooke, members of the oldest and most respectable Protestant family in Enniskillen. Yesterday his remains were interred in the family-vault, Colebrooke, Fermanagh. Lieutenant Nicholson, an old subaltern, succeeds to the vacant company.

The remains of Ensign Acton, 53d regiment, were consigned to their resting-place at Irishtown burial-ground, Dublin, on Tuesday, with the usual military honors. The officers of the depot attended the funeral. He was a native of Italy, but his parents were English. Two Roman Catholic Priests performed the funeral obsequies.

Whig papers have accused Lord Hill with allowing Tory Members (Officers) to remain at home, when the truth is the only one who takes advantage of his position as a Senator, to do so, is a Whig, Captain Paget.

The Irish public and the Army are much indebted to Mr. Shaw, the Recorder of Dublin, for the promise elicited from Lord Howick that the Royal Hospital should be placed on its former footing, as soon as security was given to him that it should be properly conducted. This is nothing but fair, aware that reform is needed in its general management, as also in its dietary; every pensioner should be compelled to take his meals in the hospital, the practice of selling the provisions daily issued being an abuse which the Governors should have long since put a stop to.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

The Tipperary Hunt Steeple Chase came off on Tuesday last, on the lands of Greenane, over three miles of sporting country, each horse carrying 12 stone, for 5 sovs. each, and 20 sovs. added by the Stewards.

The following horses started:—

Mr. F. Scully's b. h. Don Juan, aged, Mr. Lewis.

Mr. Doherty's b. h. Irishman, do. owner.

Mr. S. Mansergh's b. h. Paul Pry, do. Mr. R. Sadlier.

Lieut. Yates' c. h. Volunteer, 5 yrs. old, owner.

Mr. R. O'Brien's g. h. Rasper, aged, Mr. J. Bushe.

Mr. Blake's c. m. Kitty, aged, Mr. Blunden.

All the horses started in good order, Mr. Doherty's horse taking a great lead for one mile and half, when he got a severe fall, the other five keeping close together. Mr. Mansergh's horse passed them when within a mile of home, and won the race easy. Mr. Doherty's horse having another fall at the last leap, when Mr. O'Brien's horse came in second. The day being very fine, there was a large and fashionable attendance. The country people conducted themselves in a very peaceable manner. In the evening there was an ordinary at the King's Arms Hotel, which was well attended.

The Stewards gave a bridle and saddle to be run for by farmers' horses after the first race was over, and over the same course, which brought eight horses to the post, and was won by Mr. Walsh's horse, Peeler, rode by Michael Cahill with great skill and judgment, followed to the winning post by Mr. O'Brien's Dandy within a few lengths, the rest being thrown out.

PAWN-BROKERS.—[Communicated.]—We are rather inclined to think that the Pawn-Brokers are somewhat in error in the view they have taken of the business of the "Limerick Mont de Pieté," in their petition to the House of Commons, which appeared in our columns on Wednesday last. We have seen the books of the Mont de Pieté this morning, and the following is the result of the business for the month just ended:—There has been £1317 12s. 9d. lent on 7459 pledges received; £1293 7s. 9d. received for 7239 pledges released. The interest actually received for the month is £81 3s. 10d. being thus already at the rate of £974 6s. per annum, which it is quite obvious will much more than pay the interest on the small capital employed, and leave a larger sum to meet other expenses.

Most desirable opportunity rarely to be met.—Mr. Marshall sells, on Wednesday next, at Clonmel, a superior lot of thorough-bred short horned cattle, a beautiful description of stock.—See Advertisement.

Aristides on the 85th Regt. in our next.

...and the British Legion. Captain Boldeo was bold and uncompromising in his observations, in which he was ably supported by Lord Hotham, who laid unmercifully on the Anglo-Spanish General (Evans) and left him to retreat from his dilemma as best he could. The injustice of the distinction conferred on Colonel Evans, over the heads of nearly sixty officers of superior rank and services, has given so much offence to the Army and Navy, that we may expect to hear frequent mention made of it when either our foreign or Colonial policy is brought into question.

"While touching upon the affairs of the Army I had better inform that, though our friends here condemn the strange conduct pursued towards Colonel Shaw Kennedy, by the Irish law officers—more especially Mr. Pigott, the advising Counsel of Lord Mulgrave, they are exceedingly glad that he has taken a most favourable opportunity to relieve himself from the bondage; which the Whigs sought to hold him in, since he accepted the direction of the Irish Constabulary upon the clear and distinct understanding that the entire controul of the appointments should be judged of and made, subject to his own responsibility. It is believed here that Colonel Yorke, private secretary to Lord Mulgrave, will be appointed his successor.

"Ministers are again quaking this evening, relative to the motion of Lord Eliot, for an Address to the Queen to rescind the order in Council for the suspension of the Foreign enlistment act, the object of which is to prevent the repetition of the scenes which the unfortunate dupes had witnessed while serving in the British Legion, and to save many valuable lives. As you are already aware the Ministers have had their Treasury Circulars out for the last fortnight, but as nearly all the Conservatives who were kept away by indisposition from taking part in the debate and division upon Lord Sandon's motion, condemning the entire policy of Ministers towards Canada, the division, should it take place on this evening, and of which there is a doubt, must be very close, if not against Ministers. For the parties are so nearly balanced in numbers that the Government cannot calculate upon any one night, when they may not be left in a minority, that all their subsequent efforts could not repair.

"In order to meet the views and to disarm the hostility of the Society of Friends, and those throughout the country who feel deeply indignant at the conduct of the Jamaica planters, or slave owners, who pocketed as much of our moneys as they could out of the twenty millions granted for the abolition of the Slave Trade, and afterwards treated the wretched beings under their control in the Apprenticeship system as bad if not worse than before, the government have have all but assented to the Emancipation taking place in August next, instead of in 1840, the period for which it was originally fixed.

"Lord John Russell will this evening briefly develop his scheme for settling the tythe property of the Church in Ireland. The composition is to continue on a rent charge of seven tenths the amount, and at the fall of existing interests to be redeemed at 16 years purchase. The Ecclesiastical Board to have power to buy up tythe composition at an average of one-tenth annually, and in the interim ministers money and the composition are to be discharged out of the Consolidated Fund. Government have thus taken a leaf out of Mr. O'Connell's book for their plan of Church tactics. This is the first important brochure this evening, and I give it to you before Lord John has yet delivered himself on the subject.

"The Whig Committee has, as I told you in my last it would be, seated O'Connell and Hutton for Dublin. The petitioners finding that almost every decision was against them—and that it would only lead to a ruinous expense, withdrew yesterday morning, leaving the Agitator and his co-joint of the tail in possession of the disputed seats. In fact he may as well lay claim to the Crown of England, as that of being the Representative of the sentiments or principles of the respectable and loyal classes of Dublin.

"The only two Committees now sitting on Election Petitions are those of Hull and Shaftesbury, and the decisions of the majority of the Whig Radicals in the former exceed all those that have preceded them in partiality—or if they will have it political bias. In the Shaftesbury, matters are going well.

"Three Ballots are fixed for this evening—Kinsale, Worcester and Berwick-upon-Tweed—the latter represented by Mr. William Holmes. I learn that Worcester and Berwick have been given up—the petitions being withdrawn—which is, what is termed a tie, the parties on each side being Conservative and Whig-Radical. Kinsale, however, in which the gallant Colonel Thomas appeals against the intrusion of Mr. Pierce Mahony, but let us hope in this case, at least, to obtain success. I have reason to know the Conservative muster will be strong.

"Your statement relative to the County of Limerick petition having been withdrawn has been confirmed, for, within the last few days, a formal notification was made to the Agents of the sitting members.

"House of Commons, Six o'Clock.

"There was a strong muster of members this evening on both sides at the Ballot to try the merits of the Kinsale petition, and the result has been unfavourable to the senatorial prospects of Mr. Pierce Mahony, who has had six conservatives to five liberals, to decide whether he is to remain in the house. They are as follow:—Conservatives—Mr. Gally Knight, Mr. W. Mackenon, Hon. B. Baring, Mr. T. D. Ackland, Sir J. Pollen, J. W. Masters. Whig-Radicals—P. Ainsworth, K. Hoskins, Charles Greenaway, Sir C. Blount, James Power.

"It will be a fair trial, for the Registry is certain to be opened, and the party having the majority of substantial votes, is sure of success. Mr. Mahony is quite in dudgeon with several of his political friends who deserted him upon this occasion—but he did not take into account that many Conservatives had been called who were not in their places.

"Lord Eliot is engaged in his motion, and the house is crowded.

"Captain Dundas had a narrow escape for Devizes—being only returned by the small majority of seven, Mr. Poulter is almost certain to be put out of Shaftesbury.

"The Lords are engaged in a motion of the Bishop of Exeter, relative to the Ecclesiastical affairs of Malta, in which the Roman Catholic Bishop acts a part. "S. R."

At Derry assizes, on Wednesday, three men were tried for a riot at Kiltrea, on the 28th June, where great rejoicings took place at the defeat of Mr. Gore Jones' action for libel against the Magistrates, when that Stipendiary and the Parish Priest were burned in effigy. Judge Torrens told the Jury those Magistrates were the natural protectors of the peace, an unpaid Magistracy, whose objects were misrepresented. There are persons, said the Learned Judge, who poison the ears of Government with misrepresentations of what takes place, and there are persons hired for the purpose of causing animosity and exciting disturbance. The Jury returned a verdict of acquittal.

Doctor Gore, delivered on Wednesday last, his third Lecture on the Physiology of the human body. The subject embraced the theories instituted from time to time, explanatory of the process of Digestion after which he explained the nature of animal and vegetable food, and the reciprocal relations existing between the mineral, the vegetable, and animal kingdoms; then came the different degrees of the digestibility of food and its nutritive qualities, and in conclusion he described the structure of the absorbent system, by means of which the chyle from the intestines and the waste matter of the different organs and tissues composing the animal frame is taken up and conveyed into the blood, in order to be exposed to the air in the lungs. This lecture concluded the subject of digestion, and brought him to that of the circulation. Doctor Gore will deliver three more lectures, which he announced as being free to the public. The first will commence at half past seven, on Tuesday evening next.
