

House of Lords, in the cause of the Company and Mr. John receive from the Company and interest.

of Kinnear and one of his designated his many servants, relations not only throughout England, Scotland, Wales, &c. assizes on Monday. John es, persons of respectable the bar. The first indictment oniously uttering a bill of to be forged, and Kinnear innear was then indicted for nge for £70 with intent to Wood. Kinnear was next lfor £70 purporting to be a District Banking Company." amined the witnesses, and ce. The Jury agreed to a F forging and uttering. The r to transportation for life, v was altered, or there never hly deserved capital punish- as sentenced to three years

—The following Irish mem- on Sir George Strickland's y against the abolition—Lord Barron, G. S. Barry, R. M. Chapman, Lord Clements, Coote, Hon. H. Corry, W. N. Fitzsimon, F. French, J. utton, T. Jones, P. Kirk, A. amara, P. Mahony, Hon. F. Northland, C. O'Brien, C. errall, Hon. J. B. R. O'Neill, L. Sheil, J. Talbot, R. Walker, te, S. Woulfe, J. A. Yates, J. y for abolition—R. Archbold lake, J. J. Bodkin. Sir W. n, R. D. Browne, G. Bryan, ester, J. Ellis, G. Evans, Sir , E. Litton, J. Maher, Sir R. D. O'Connell, J. O'Connell, ce O'Connell, M. O'Connell, oche, Sir W. M. Somerville, T. Wyse.

N, APRIL 6.

and Countess of Mulgrave yesterday evening at Dublin Mrs. Preston, Baron and Sir John and Miss Vandeleur, Scott, Mr. and Mrs. David Sir Patrick Bellew, Lord Glen-aedonnell, Lieut.-Col. Yorke, ut.-Col. Piper, Captain Beet, Mr. Bernal, Aides-de-Camp

Hawarden, and the Board of Erasmus Smith's schools. Mr. Cooper was married to Miss Chadwick, of this city, who has been thus left an afflicted widow with a young orphan family. There is no probable cause assigned for the above shocking outrage, which was perpetrated in the neighbourhood of military and police stations, and at the close of the maiden assizes for Tipperary,—over 70 persons having been returned for murder, and not one convicted! What will Judge Moore say to this homicide in his next charge, if he goes that circuit? Reckless indeed must the desperadoes in that county be of human life, after so clear an acquittance at last assizes. There is, however, in the eyes of a christian and moral world, a deep stain upon the character of the county of Tipperary, which not all the rhetorical artifice of judicial oratory can efface, whether administered from the Bar or the Bench, to mitigate the appalling enormities of habitual bloodshed and crime in that devoted quarter.

HORRIBLE OUTRAGE.—On the night of Wednesday, the 28th ult. while James M'Carthy, of Lackamore, a bailiff on Lord Stradbroke's estate, at Bilboa, lay in bed with his family, the crackling of flames, with almost suffocating heat and smoke, aroused him from sleep, when the poor man was astounded to find his cabin in flames, and the roof threatening every instant to fall upon his wife and children. He pulled them, almost stupified with terror, outside the burning premises, and bethinking himself of a box containing papers or deeds of some interest to his Lordship's property, M'Carthy risked his life by rushing back into the flames, and securing the box, was lucky enough to escape with his prize into the open air, shortly after which the roof fell in, and all the poor man's furniture was destroyed by the conflagration. His loss, however, did not terminate here, as the adjoining barn was also found to be in flames, and ten cows, the profits of his industry, and the provision for his family, became a prey to the midnight incendiary, and were absolutely burnt alive!—What affords evidence to prove that this horrible outrage was the act of malicious incendiaries, is the fact that M'Carthy the day before had to serve on tenants who were four years rent in default, a decree of ejection, under authority of Lord Stradbroke's agent, Mr. Coates. M'Carthy, from a state of comparative comfort, is thus reduced with his wife and children to mere penury; and some of his more considerate neighbours, tenants on the property, have not only come forward to vindicate the character of Mr. Coates from unjust aspersion, but to offer a reward for the authors of the above outrage. Lord Mulgrave has promptly offered 100*l.* to discover the barbarous perpetrators.

A man of the name of Daniel Griffin was waylaid and murdered returning from the last fair of Adare. Government offers 50*l.* reward for apprehending Patrick Walsh and Michael Sullivan who are charged with the homicide.

forces in Canada, is more than general's late corps, the 94th, the Bengal establishment.

The new governor of Ceylon, Mackenzie, has appointed Capt. Light Infantry, to be his aide-de-Major-General Napier, gave Good Hope, has appointed Lieu to be his extra aide de-camp Benjamin D'Urban is expected first ships from the colony.

The salary of the clerk of the Captain Deans Dundas has been per annum, without an official res is attached to it.

Mrs. Furlong, widow of the the Madras establishment, gain appeal to the House of Lords, o There is a company vacant in t Militia, by the death of Samuel M Commodore Sir R. Hagan is a Guard Service.

The Pantaloons, 10, Lieut. M'D Portsmouth from the Spanish co Lieut Jackson, R. N. was the for the appointment of a pier m There were 250 applicants.

An old clothes dealer at Plyr convicted in a penalty of £5, a the value of a trowsers purchased Royal Depot in that garrison.

(Circular) Horse Guard

MEMORANDUM.—The attention manding-in-Chief has been rece of recruiting parties in the differ Lordship could not fail to obs most instances, very inefficient respect to non-commissioned offi a great portion of parties being Serjeant in charge of them, and Serjeant or Corporal attached to drummers and fifers, the partie destitute in that material point, instances. It is found very e recruiting, that parties should drummer and a fifer, or lads qu and it is, therefore desirable, t parties from each regiment sh this respect. Lord Hill calls t of Commanding Officers to the view to steps being taken to r parties as efficient in the instar cumstances may possibly admit

By command of the Gen. Co (Signed) J. MACI

Ennis races are fixed for the Mrs. Nisbett comes to Dublin for a limited period. She will favourite characters on Easter I first night of her engagement.