"The unrivalled performance of BOCHSA on the HARP is of a nature that fails every attempt at description.—His mastery of the instrument—his volume of tone—his exquisite delicacy of touch—his scientific modulation, altogether produce from his hearers the spontaneous exclamation, "This, indeed, is the very soul of harmony!" He swears o'er its extended strings sometimes with a fire the most impassioned, and in an instant resolves into a delicate breathing of theolian air. In a word, his conception, his execution, his expression, is "eloquent;" and not to be conveyed by words—they must be heard to be appreciated."

The Nobility, Gentry, Officers of the Garrison, and Public of Limerick, and its vicinity, are most respectfully informed that on MONDAY EVENING next, MR. BOCHSA will give a Grand Musical Entertainment, and play of the HARP, the following pieces, in three parts, and on which occasion a select Band will attend, with several professional performers.—Overture, "Mosaic Musical," consisting of an introduction "Cantabile Temadi Beethoven Variazione," "The Last Rose of Summer," and the Celebrated Galopade from the Grand Ballet of Paganini, composed by Mr. Bochsa.
