

LISSEN HALL, NENAGH,
COUNTY TIPPERARY.

Extensive unreserved Auction of In-Calf Heifers, Bulls, Thorough Bred Durham Bulls, Horses, Farming Implements, Superior Threshing Machine, Jaunting Cars, Gig, Oats, Hay, Cart, &c. &c.
JOSEPH and JAMES MARSHALL are favoured with the instructions of Rowan P. Cashel, Esq. to Sell by Public unreserved Auction, at his seat, Lissen Hall, within two miles of Nenagh, adjoining the mail-coach road to Limerick, on WEDNESDAY, the 30th of May instant—sale at 12 o'clock—about 80 head of very Prime Stock, In-Calf Durham, Devon, and Leicester Heifers and Bulls; two promising and highly bred Bulls; a quantity of excellent Farm Carts and Implements of the most improved description; a very superior working Threshing Machine, in perfect repair, two Jaunting Cars, a neat Gig and Harness, a quantity of Hay, Oats, Straw, &c. &c.
Further particulars will appear in the CHRONICLE of Saturday next. May 23.

BIRTHS.

At Askeaton, on Monday last, the Lady of Thompson Russell, Esq. of a daughter.
At Parsonstown, on the 16th inst. the Lady of Falconer Miles, Esq. of a son.
On Sunday morning, at Rathkeale, the Lady of Thomas Smith, Esq. Constabulary, of a son.
In Tubot-street, Dublin, the Lady of John Collum, Esq. Solicitor, of a daughter.
On the 17th inst. in Cork, the Lady of Lieut. Powell, 10th Regt. of a son.
The Lady of Yelverton O'Keefe, Esq. of a daughter.
In Upper Sackville-street, Dublin, the Lady of James Douglas Johnstone, Esq. of a daughter.
At Killare-street, Dublin, Mrs. George MacLona, of twin sons.
At Greenville, Belfast, the Lady of Thomas Ferguson, Esq. of a daughter.
On the 8th inst. at Cavanacor, County Donegal, the Lady of Captain Humphreys, of a daughter.
On the 17th of May, in Ballyshannon, Mrs. John Scott, of a son.
In Upper Mount-street, Dublin, the Lady of Richard Townsend, Esq. M. D. of a son.
Friday, at his house, Merrion-row, Dublin, the Lady of Samuel Watson, Esq. Barrister-at-Law, of a son.
At Rockford, Tipperary, the residence of her father, the Lady of Stephen Russell Markham, Esq. of a son-and-heir.
On the 12th inst. the Lady of Major M'Crummen, 11th Foot, of a daughter.
On the 16th inst. at Birr, the Lady of Dr. Tynan, of a daughter.
At Leamington, the Lady of H. Clement, Esq. of a daughter.
At Liverpool, the Lady of Joseph M'Kenna, Esq. late of Cork, of a son.
On the 15th inst. the Duchess of Sutherland, of a daughter.
At Kemp Town, Brighton, the Lady Jane Knox, of a daughter.
At Mercara, Madras, the Lady of Lieut. and Quartermaster J. Martyr, 56th Regt. N. I. of a son.
At Moulmein, the Lady of Capt. Clerk, A.M. 62d Regt. of a son.
At Pona, the Lady of Surgeon W. Carstairs, 10th Regt. N. I. of a daughter.
At Rarrackpore, Calcutta, the Lady of Captain J.N. Forbes, 15th Regt. N. I. of a daughter.
At Moradebad, Calcutta, the Lady of Captain E. F. Watson, 59th N. I. of a son.
At Calcutta, Mrs. Col. Littler, of a daughter.
At Fort William, Calcutta, the Lady of E. P. Gilbert, Esq. H. M. 26th Regt. of a daughter.
At Dacca, Calcutta, the Lady of Lieut. Darwin Cooke, 56th Regt. of a son.

MARRIAGES.

At Waterford, John Everard Feehan, Esq. K. St. F. Captain in the Royal Irish, late B. A. L. nephew of the late Dr. Everard, R.C. Archbishop of Cashel, to Marianne Katherine, daughter of the late Michael Power, Esq. of Waterford.
At St. Luke's Church, Cork, Richard Walter Agar, Esq. Ballycotton, Kilkenny, to Kate, daughter of Patrick Gallwey, Esq. Sumner-hill, Middle Glamire Road.
At Castle-townsend Church, Francis H. Jenison, Esq. to Mary, eldest daughter of William Morris, Esq. of Castle Salem.
At St. Luke's Church, Belfast, Esq. to Catherine Mary, daughter of the late James Coltrane, of Armagh, Esq.
At St. Andrew's Church, Charles Ensor, of Adress, County of Antrim, to Katherine, youngest daughter of the late Charles Douglas, Esq. of Spring-grove, County of Fermanagh, Esq.
At St. Mary's Church, Kilkenny, Michael Mortimer, of Waterford, to Cassandra, daughter of the late Major Madden, of Kilkenny, and grand-daughter of the late Sir Alexander Penrose Gunning Gordon, Bart.
At St. Andrew's Church, Thomas Greg, of Ballymenock, County of Down, Esq. to Mary, daughter of Narcissus Batt, of Purdyshill, of the same County, Esq.
At St. Mary's, Islington, Charles Wilkinson, M.D. of Claremont-square, New-road, to Janet, third daughter of the late James Gilmore, Esq. M.D. of the Hon. East India Co's service.
At Douglas Church, Cork, Daniel Knight Lloyd, M. D. to Jane, daughter of Joshua Bull, of Citadella, Esq.
At Fulham, Septimus Slade, Esq. to Hannah, daughter of the late Rev. Robert Stanser, D.D. Lord Bishop of Nova Scotia.
At St. Paul's, 51st Regt. N. I. to Sarah, youngest daughter of the late Captain Roche.
At Dublin, Captain William Ramsay, Major of Brigade, to Harriet, second daughter of Lieut.-Col. Mosely, 38th Regt. N. I.
At St. Paul's, 6th Regt. to Sophia, daughter of Dr. McAndrew, 5th Regt.
Richard Hunter, Esq. 2d Queen's Royals, to the daughter of Captain, of the same corps.
At St. Andrew's, Esq. to Mary, eldest daughter of Captain Carn, 1st Artillery.
At St. Andrew's, Esq. 65th Regt. Bengal Native Infantry, to Mary Anne, daughter of the late Captain Tritton, 21th Dragoons.

Next Western Entrance, between the Military Road and turn at Lisadaha, beyond the Friends' burial ground.

Map, Specification, &c. to be seen with the Secretary, who will give persons wishing to Contract, all necessary information.

(By Order of the Trustees,) JAMES O'SHAUGHNESSY, Secretary.

Mail Coach Office, George-street, Limerick, May 19, 1838.

DEATHS.

On Monday, at the age of 18, Eliza, the youngest daughter of Michael Lynch, Esq. of Grenagh. It has seldom been our task to announce the death of one so young, so lovely, and so innocent, whose premature end, in the bloom of life, has caused the deepest regret to her afflicted family.
At Fishmoyne, County Tipperary, Richard William Thomas, eldest son of R. M. Carden, Esq. aged 16, deeply lamented by all who knew him.
At Castlequin, Kerry, the Rev. Edmond O'Flaherty, P. P. of Cahirsivene and Faelmore, barony of Iveragh.
At the Convent of the Sisters of Charity, Donnybrook, Dublin, Cecilia, daughter of the late Francis Hynes, Esq. of Cork.
Suddenly, at Mullavilla House, Tanderagee, J.M. Atkinson, Esq. At the advanced age of 95 years, John Molyneux, Esq. Beechfield, Antrim.
On the 8th inst. on board the Express packet, on her voyage from Barbadoes to Falmouth, aged 23 years, Frederick A. Levinge, Esq. late Lieut. in the 71st Light Infantry, fourth son of Sir Richard and Lady Levinge, and nephew of Major Levinge, of same Regt.
In Carrick-on-Shannon, in his 72d year, after a short illness, Captain Daniel Charles Grosse, late Royal Engineers, and nephew of the celebrated author of Grosse's Antiquities. He was a valuable correspondent and contributor to the Dublin Penny Journal, and Magazine.
At Curriclough House, Ann, wife of Captain William Gibson. Clara, daughter of Mr. Patrick Joseph O'Brien, George's-Quay, Cork.
At Spring Mount, Glanmire, the residence of her brother-in-law, Captain William Martin, R. N., Eliza O'Donoghue, daughter of Bartholomew O'Donoghue, Esq. late of Bristol.
A few days since, at Castlereagh, Roscommon, Mr. James Gibbons, wine and spirit merchant.
At Shimrone, on the 13th inst., Priscilla, wife of Robert Smith, Esq. and daughter of Thomas Doolan, Esq. of Wingfield. She is sincerely regretted by her numerous family and friends.
Catherine, wife of Danby Jeffares, Esq. of Cornwall, co. Wexford.
At Fitzgibbon-street, Dublin, of hooping-cough, Louisa Florence, youngest daughter of William P. Matthews, Esq.
Eliza, the second daughter of J. A. Rucker, Esq.
At Farmhill, in her 80th year, Mrs. Savage, relict of the late Rev. John Savage, of Carrickfergus.
In Irwin-street, Dublin, Mr. Loftus Redmond.
At Richmond Barracks, Dublin, in her confinement, Ellen, daughter of Mr. John Parks, late of Fermoy, the beloved wife of Colour Serj. McIntosh, 94th Regt. aged 27 years.
In Tralee, William, son of Mr. Joseph Jeffcott.
At the Rock, Tralee, Mr. Jeremiah O'Flaherty.
At London, Mrs. Catherine Sheil, relict of the late Edward Sheil, Esq. and mother of Richard Lalor Sheil, Esq. M. P. Few obtained a larger share of esteem than what deservedly was the lot of this excellent lady.
Wednesday, at Thomond-gate, in advanced age, Mary Ann, widow of the late Mr. James Reyburn, of this City. She fell asleep in the Lord, with the consoling reflection of a well spent life, devoted to the observance of every moral and religious duty.
Mrs. Egan, wife of Daniel Egan, Esq. Mountrath.
Robert Henry, the only son of Richard Ashe, of Ash-grove, Cork, Esq.
In Gloucester-street, Dublin, Elizabeth, wife of John Hamilton Siree, Esq.
Mrs. Johnston, wife of the Rev. John Johnston, Tullylish.
In Athy, Sarah, daughter of Mr. Thomas Shields, of that town.
At Usher's Island, Maria, daughter of Mr. Edward Brennan.
Marcus O'Hara Tracy.
In Bedford-square, Jane Dennis Covell, widow of the late Major Covell.
Eleanora, wife of Whaley Armitage, Esq. of Moraston, County of Hereford.
In Bedford-square, Lucy, wife of Thomas Starkie, Esq. Queen's Counsel.
In Euston-square, Mary, wife of James Christmas Fry, Esq.
At Boulogne-sur-Mer, Eliza Anne, wife of T. Drake, Esq. and daughter of the late Sir Herbert Mackworth, Bart. of the Gnull, Glamorganshire.
In Cambridge, at the protracted age of 83, Mrs. Elizabeth Carter Hatfield, the founder and sole proprietor of the Huntingdon, Bedford, and Peterborough Gazette, and Cambridge Independent Press.
At Paris, the Hon. Frances Sophia Stafford Jerningham, daughter of Lord Stafford.
Captain Hugo Arnot, of Balcormo, Scotland.
On the 14th inst. Susan Ann, infant daughter of Major M'Crummen, 11th Foot.
At Jersey, on the 12th inst. Major-General Archibald Campbell, C. B. Lieutenant-Governor of that Island. His remains were interred with military honors at St. Helier's Church.
On the 14th inst. in Regent-street, in his 70th year, James Halse, Esq. M. P.
Captain David Smith, at Dock-house, Grand Surrey Docks.
At Broadstairs, Mr. C. Lancaster, formerly of London, aged 78.
At the Cape of Good Hope, John, eldest son of John Shewell, Esq. of York-place, Portman-square.
At Forfar, James Nash, Esq. late Captain 26th Regt.
Of consumption, at the Cape of Good Hope, on the 26th Feb. Commander Barrow, late of H. M. ship Rose, son of Sir J. Barrow, of the Admiralty.
On the 31st March, at Woodstock, Upper Canada, Thomas Geo. Armstrong, Esq. late Captain 66th Regt. third son of J. Armstrong, Esq. of Bath.
At sea, on board the Royal William, Assist.-Surg. George Macfarlane Watson, Med. Est.
Major Bolton, 47th Regt. Bengal N. I.
Captain M'Gillivray, Mint Engineer.
Major Hector MacKenzie.
Francis Charles, son of Captain Eades, 39th Regt. M. N. I.
Captain Sotherby, 31th Regt. M. N. I.

seventy or eighty winters have planted on your brow, and the spiritual dignity with which you are invested, alike discourage me from inflicting due chastisement upon you. In truth, Mr. Bruce, this dilemma puzzles me, and the only way in which I can get out of it is this:—I will suppose you, for a moment, to be a young man, and no clergyman at all. I will strip you of your age and gown, and divest you of such external appearances as denote your apostolic character. Instead of a preacher of peace and a proclaimer of truth, you shall be a plain country gentleman like myself. And I shall suppose myself to be the Reverend Parson Bruce. I shall borrow my costume as a clergyman from your sombre wardrobe, and shall clothe myself in all the other outward semblances of your godliness and charity. I shall assume your clerical deportment, your solemn air, and calm countenance so expressive of a mind reposing in its own virtue. Now, Sir, following up this very violent supposition, imagine me to be in the administration of the functions of the priesthood, and paid (as you are,) for the performance of good words out of the patrimony of the Church. Imagine me to be a minister of your own district, and your spiritual friend—a teacher of truth, and inculcator of universal charity. Tell me, Sir, what opinion would you form of me as a clergyman, if I were to insult and defame you? What would you think of me, if I were to spread evil report against my neighbour, and say of him "the thing that is not"? What would you think of me as a professor of divinity, were I to publish slander against another, or were I to abuse my influence with my flock and instead of enforcing precepts of benevolence among them, were to incite them to ill-will by my own example? If I were to give currency to an untruth, knowing it to be so, inasmuch as it was fabricated by myself, and were to tell you, Sir, that you "were held in contempt by every gentleman in the country," at the same time that every gentleman in the country falsified the calumny; should I not outrage all your pre-conceived notions of me as a Christian minister? For my part, do not think that these things, fraught with such social wrong, would be in consistence with my patriarchal age or reverend office; I do not think they would reflect credit upon me as a man, or a man of honor. Personating Mr. Bruce, I should shrink from scandalising my order and involving my own fame by this species of detraction—I should fear to damage my patrician name made sweet by so many family odours. As Mr. Bruce, I should take care not to sully a renown that is scented like the violet, and that must ever retain its freshness while the "Nosegay" blooms. I should pause ere I harmed a reputation that has been estimated (if a kindred case be the standard of value) at a very high price in the Courts of Law. Believe me, Sir, there are hard words in the vocabulary that admirably apply to the name but I shall not connect them with so honored a patronymic.
Contempt, Sir, is not a missile that should be hurled from any hand for the gratification of private rancour. Warmed by an indignation which even the sight of an old man and a priest could not repress, you might reasonably ask me (for remember, I continue to personate the Rev. Mr. Bruce) how I dared to throw discredit on your character by my wholesale imputation? Might you not suspect that I calculated for impunity upon my venerable form and the respect that is accorded to my profession? You might ask me who gave me authority to denounce you in so sweeping a manner on the part of a whole community? You might enquire by what process of inflation my lungs had been swelled into an amplitude that enabled me to declare the voice of "every gentleman in the country?" Would you not arraign my arrogance, and tell me that it was the usage of refined society to express congregate opinions or sentiment through such a source alone as should sustain their dignity, and give them moral elevation?
Having asked you these few questions, I shall restore you your suit of sables, and assume my own name again. You are an arbitrator elegantiarum, and have been pleased to pronounce my productions to be "unworthy of comment or observation on account of their vulgarity." I confess, Sir, that this wounds my literary vanity; but, after all, it is a matter of taste, and I cannot quarrel with your peculiar notions of composition, any more than with your doctrine of ethics. It is probable, however, before my correspondence with you is at an end, that I may induce you to change your opinion,
I am, Sir, Your Obedient Servant,
CHRISTOPHER SANDERS.