

Listowel to her master's house on Thursday last, while attempting to cross the river Oulagh, by the strength of the wind and the great fury of the current the poor creature was swept away, and would have inevitably perished were it not for Mr. John B. Collins, of Knocknasna, who mounted on his horse Dandy, plunged into the surge at the risk of his life, and rescued the girl from a watery grave.

Kerry Presentment Sessions commence at Listowel on the 2d of next month.

The malicious breach of the Grand Canal at Clonfert is repaired, and the Company will apply for compensation next assizes.

The Precursors of Galway memorialled the Treasury against John Lushington Reilly, Esq. Port Collector, whom they suspect of reporting two of the Sappers and Miners, for cheering O'Connell in that town, while traducing the Duke of Wellington. Mr. Reilly has denied the allegation.

Mr. Stokes, County Surveyor, is surveying the new line of road from Tralee to Tarbert, which will shorten the distance between both, seven miles.

The High Sheriff of Louth has called a County meeting, to petition for Corporate reform and the abolition of tithes.

Mr. Weeks, the Irish comedian, died on Friday, at Perth, of the injuries he sentenced by the overthrow of the Perth and Glasgow coach. In Irish characters, the broad rich rumour, and ready wit, which Mr. Weekes threw into his representations, have found few successful imitators; and his Looney Mac Twolter, Denis Bulgrudery and Doctor O'Toole, were master-pieces in the low comedy line. He possessed vocal powers of no ordinary compass and sweetness, and was generally admired in "The Boys of Kilkenny."

County Cork Presentment Sessions commence at Lisgoold, the 7th of next month.

The Trustees of the Corn Market, Cork, are to elect a weighing clerk tomorrow.

The sale of the Bohermore property, Galway, knocked down to M. J. Blake, Esq. M. P. is re-opened by another bid of £500.

and then parted in two—her fore from the after part. The greater number of the persons on board were enabled to effect their escape, but two seamen and the two passengers we have mentioned, perished, in addition to the two mates, who were washed overboard before the vessel struck. The machinery of the ill fated vessel may be saved, but all else must be looked upon as irreparably wrecked. She had been built by Sir John Tobin, but had been purchased two years since by the Waterford Steam Navigation Company.

Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE.
SIR—Having received from Doctor CUSACK, Secretary of the Dublin College of Surgeons, the following Official Document, in reference to charges preferred by me against Three Members of that Body, (the nature of which is well known to many of your readers,) I request you will give it publicity, particularly, as it induces me to believe that the painful transaction to which it relates, will at length be investigated in a manner worthy of the truly National Institution of which its Secretary is so distinguished a Member.

I remain, Sir, your obedient servant,
JAMES WILKINSON,
Licentiate Dublin College Surgeons,
George's-street, Dec. 4.

"Royal College Surgeons, Nov. 26, 1838.
"MY DEAR SIR—I was unable to remain during the proceedings of the College, at its last Quarterly Meeting; I therefore placed your letter in the hands of Mr. A. JACOB, the Assistant Secretary, to whom you will please make known your wishes.
"I remain, my dear Sir, your's, &c. &c.
