Clerk of the Crown for that county. As a Solicitor, of which profession he was one of the oldest and most respectable members, his course through life was characterized by honor and integrity, and whilst a numerous tenantry will regret the best and most indulgent of landlords, his domestic circle will more sensitively deplore the loss of a fond husband, a careful and affectionate parent. His remains will be interred on Monday next in the family burial place, at Killuran, county Clare.
