were re-registries, and five of them were tenants of John Browne, Esq. of Lisnagry, who had several others in attendance, but having lost their certificates of 1832, and the original affidavits not being forthcoming from the disputed office of the Clerk of the Peace, the Barrister declined re-registering them.
There were only two notices of registry served for the county, and both were rejected, having described the property to be situate in Rathkeale. Civil business immediately commenced. There are 1076 processes entered as follow:—Costlea, 196; Small County, 198; Coshma, 104; Clanwilliam, 235; Pubble Brien, 66;

died on Saturday of an extensive fracture on the head, inflicted by a desperate blow of some deadly weapon, was the verdict. Though several persons witnessed the right party.
