TO THE EDITOR OF THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE.
Sir—Having addressed the following letter to the Editor of the Limerick Standard, in reply to one of the Rev. Dawson Massy, which appeared in that paper on the 8th inst. and as he has not inserted it, notwithstanding a promise made me at a personal interview, I shall feel much obliged by your giving it a place in your columns on to-morrow, as I am particularly anxious that a moment should not elapse, without removing whatever imputation this Rev. Personage's letter, may have cast upon me.
I remain, Sir, with great respect, your obedient servant,
JAMES RALEIGH.
Sixton-street, April 12.

To the Editor of the Limerick Standard.
Sir—As you have declared yourself in the last number of your paper "A lover of fair play," I am induced to hope you will not refuse to insert the few following lines:—
A leading article in your publication of the 5th inst. is headed "Ruffianly conduct in two Roman Catholic Chapels," in which you assert that on last Holy Thursday evening, in a Roman Catholic Chapel, in this city, a Priest, or as you mildly call him, "a ruffian in sacerdotal robes, rushed from the altar, grasped the arm of a young lady, a Protestant, and an English-woman, and with the fury of a demon depicted in his countenance, twice pushed her to the ground, exclaiming, "now will you kneel." It appears from Rev. Mr. Malone's letter, that no such occurrence as that stated took place in the Franciscan, and at once in your last number the scenes are shifted, and St. Michael's Chapel and your humble servant are made the place and the party which must answer this imputed violence. You pronounce me the "real delinquent," and seem to rejoice that, with the assistance of the Rev. Dawson Massy, "you have now put the saddle on the right horse."
I waited on this Rev. personage yesterday, at his house, in company with a highly respectable Protestant citizen, to know from him the name of his informant, in order that I may disprove this odious imputation, and contrary to every principle of manliness or justice, he refused my simple and reasonable request.
It now, Sir, only remains for me in fairness to myself, to declare most solemnly that the whole transaction is a gross falsehood, and a malicious fabrication; and, moreover, I pledge myself to the public to prove it to be such, the moment he declares his alleged informant.
The Rev. Mr. Massy ought to know the Commandment, "Thou shalt not bear false witness," and I would ask, is it consistent with justice, or with religious or moral principle, to publish "his conviction of the truth" of a most painful and insulting statement against a Catholic Clergyman, and then refuse the name of the person from whom he asserts to have received it?
In conclusion, Sir, I beg to state, that unless the name of his informant be given, I shall take no further notice of this affair, but will give him the opportunity of proving, before another tribunal, the truth of this odious charge, for which he has avowed himself personally responsible.
I remain, Sir, your obedient servant,
JAMES RALEIGH, V. P. St. Michael's.

House of Industry.

SUCH is the unprecedentedly crowded state of the HOUSE OF INDUSTRY, which, for the last Six Months, has maintained a Pauper population of Five Hundred and Fifty-six Persons, (many, in consequence of the circumscribed nature of the Building, being obliged to sleep on the floor of the Wards,) a circumstance which, taken in connection with the great advance in the Price of Provisions at this Season of the Year, has caused the Funds of the Institution to be reduced to the lowest ebb, and now totally inadequate to the support of so unusual a number of Paupers—it is therefore earnestly hoped that the liberality of a humane public may flow towards this inestimable Charity, which renders such essential relief to the young, the aged and infirm poor of City and County, thereby enabling the Governors of the Establishment to give Tickets of Admission to the starving applicants, who hourly and urgently implore an asylum in this House of Refuge.
Subscriptions in aid of the Funds will be thankfully received by the Right Worshipful G. H. FITZGERALD, Mayor, POOLE GABBETT, Esq. REUBEN HARVEY, Esq. or any of the Governors, at the CHRONICLE OFFICE, and by Mr. JOHN BASSETT.
