the Whigs will have a majority, and go on for a short time longer. The Radicals, who have cried out the loudest against the Ministry, say that this is the last question they will support them on, unless a new policy be laid down and acted upon.

"The secret which induced Lord John Russell to change his motion from the 11th to the 15th, was seen through last night, as the ballot for a Committee to try the merits of the Wigan Election, which was fixed for this evening, ensured Mr. Ewart, the defeated member for Liverpool, a favourable attendance, for at four o'clock there could not have been less than five hundred members present. The Ballot, I regret to say, was unfavourable, for on the lists being reduced, they gave seven Whig-Radicals to four Conservatives. As a matter of course, nothing but defeat is to be anticipated from a Committee so constructed. There are only a few votes in dispute, and the inquiry must be over in a few days.

"Wednesday Morning.

"The debate drew its wearied steps along until near one o'clock this morning, being almost exclusively to the second and third rate men. Some of the speeches were remarkable for good sense and moderation, especially those on the Conservative side. The debate was left with the Irish members, while the Radicals exceeded all their former bounds, and launched out into the most bitter invectives against the Irish landlords, to whom they ascribed all the evils of the country.

"The speakers were the second night, Mr. E. J. Tennent, Mr. Smith O'Brien, Col. Perceval, Mr. Lascelles, Mr. M. Bellew, Lord Powerscourt, O'Connor Don, Hon. S. Herbert, Sir W. Somerville, Col. Conolly, Mr. H. Grattan, and Mr. Lucas.

PETTY SESSIONS—YESTERDAY.

The Mayor was Chairman of the Magisterial Bench. Martin Molony was fined 2s. 6d. for intoxication, and assault on the Police; John O'Keefe and David Riordon, charged with stealing slates from a house in Mungret-street, were remanded; Constable Coe, of Annacotty, preferred a charge of larceny against Bridget Meagher, whom he arrested offering a coat for sale. The coat was identified as belonging to a servant of Mr. Marshall's, and informations were ordered; also against Mary Farrell, for stealing wearing apparel from Anne Farrell; against Margaret Loughlin, for stealing six sovereigns from Eliza Giles.

GUNPOWDER.—Mr. Colgan, of George's-st. having appeared to get his license signed by the Magistrates, for the sale of gunpowder, the bench desired it to be known, that holding in remembrance the late awful explosion in this city, they would withdraw the license of every vender, who may have in his concerns any quantity over 6lbs; and gave directions to the police to report any person having more than that quantity. Mr. Vokes said, he would take particular care to have this done, and represent the determination of the Bench to Government.

COMBINATION.—Mr. Vokes informed his brother Magistrates that a threatening notice had been posted through the City, signed "The Journeymen Tobaccoists," cautioning the Congregated Trades, and the Public not to deal for Snuff or Tobacco with Mr. Gabriel Alley, as he did not employ men belonging to the "Body." Mr. Vokes added, that as yet no positive information could be given as to the persons by whose order such illegal notices were posted, but the Bill-sticker acknowledged to having been employed to do it by two men, Tobaccoists, whom he could or would not identify.

The Magistrates having read the notice alluded to, were of opinion that it was a nefarious transaction, and desired Mr. Gabriel Alley to be called up, who accordingly came on the table, and stated he did not know the persons concerned in the matter, but had a suspicion of two. He said he gave no cause whatever to the Tobaccoists to act towards him in this way, more than on one occasion, when the man whom he had engaged in the manufacture of his tobacco having remained away for two days, he was obliged, to get a boy who was only a helper in his store, but handy at the business, to finish the manufacture of the dry leaf in the absence of that Journeyman.

The case was postponed until next court day for further consideration.

VIOLENT ASSAULT.—Head Constable Thompson, of Barrington's-bridge, stated to the Bench that he had summoned two men, named Kelly and Hayes, suspected of having, on Monday night last, on the high road between this city and that place, attacked two men, whom they beat in a brutal manner with spades, and would have murdered them were it not for some horsemen coming up at the time, upon which the offenders made off.

The appearance of the sufferers was truly frightful, particularly one of them (Farrell) whose features were scarce discernable. They could not identify their assailants.

Head Constable Thompson said that the daughter of one of the men called on him the night her father was beat, upon which he immediately pursued the offenders, and arrested Kelly and Hayes concealed behind a ditch, with their spades thrown on the outside, and the dress of both corresponded with the description given him by the girl.

Informations were ordered against them, and Mr. Thompson said that there was another charge to be made against them at the Petty Sessions of Barrington's Bridge. He assured the Bench there was not a night passed over, but persons received broken heads in that direction.

The summons of Cockran v. Major Broom, of the 10th Regt. for £2 14s. for decorating a ball-room, was dismissed, it having been stated by the Major, that the committee had given positive directions to Cockran, not to have anything to do with the arrangements, and that he forced his services on them.

veran rau Pri; Capt. Saunders' Monarch; Mr. Leake's Corinne; Capt. Creagh's Earthstopper, and Mr. Hamo Massy's Kate, all carrying inferior weight. Cigar and Paul Pry led off at a desperate hard pace, closely followed by Earthstopper and Corinne. Cigar came out with fresh ardor at the turnpost for home, and maintained his leading position to the winning post, having at this meeting proved himself one of the most powerful horses for his weight and size. The course was over a sporting country of three miles extent, agreeably diversified with 28 fences. The race, one of the fastest it is thought in Ireland, was accomplished in 8 minutes, and 40 seconds. Came to the winning post in the following order:—Cigar, first; Paul Pry, second; Monarch, third; Corinne, fourth; Earthstopper, fifth; Kate, sixth. The County Hunt plate did not fill.

DEATHS.

Of decline, on Saturday last, the 13th inst. on her voyage from Cork to Bristol, Mary, the beloved wife of Lieut. Lewis, Paymaster to the 94th Depot. The melancholy demise of this truly amiable young lady has diffused a more than ordinary gloom among all her relatives, friends, and acquaintances. In her were united great personal attractions, with the most winning and engaging manners, and strong mental attainments, with the greatest gentleness of disposition and the most unbounded benevolence of heart. But it pleased the Almighty Disposer of events, (to whose will she bowed with the most unrepining submission,) that her earthly career should be short; for He judged it best to call her early to himself.

At Lower-Glanmire-road, Cork, Arabella, daughter of the late Robert Hewson, Esq. of that City.

At Cloughan-house, Waterford, the Lady of Edmond A. Power, Esq. and sister to the late Captain Butler, of Munroe.
