inspection in Dublin, by General the Right Hon. Sir Edw. Blakeney. This is a magnificent corps, uncommonly well equipped, fully complete, and redound the greatest credit on Col. Falconar, Major Pennefather, and the officers. It is unnecessary to say that the Commander of the Forces was delighted with the appearance and economy of the 22d.

The Marquis Huntley is appointed Aid-de-Camp to the Queen.
Capt. Trollope 36th, has left the Depot at Tralee, upon leave, to England.
The Depot of the 87th from Boyle, will replace those of the 77th at Armagh.

Owing to the reduced amount of force now in this country, the military detachments at the following places have been withdrawn, viz. Bandon, Carrickfergus, Downpatrick, Dungarvan, Fethard, Golden, Mallow, Mitchelstown, Rathkeale, and Skibbereen.
We are requested to explain that the complaint at the Police-Office, groundless as it proved, of recruits being enlisted apparently in a state of intoxication, did not apply to any of the parties serving under Lieut.
Curtayne, 4th, Superintendent Officer of the district.

In the Infantry, last year's expenditure for 1st Bat.
1st Regt. exceeded that of the 2d Bat. by £5074.
Maintenance to the service of the 42d in this garrison, for the past year, £22,527.
The expense of keeping up the Ceylon Rifle Regt. is £38,200 a year.
The Recruiting Districts and Depots in Ireland last year cost £27,322.

Amount of religious books supplied the Army last year, £800.
The table at St. James's Palace for the officers of the household troops on Royal duty, is £1000 a year; that at Dublin Castle is £1000.

The cost of rations to troops on shipboard in the last year was £19,644. Item for silver medals to discharged soldiers, £46. Amount of good conduct pay, £11,000.

The support of the Yeomanry Cavalry in Great Britain, last year, came to £103,075.
The clothing of the Army in the past year was £229,551.

The troops at Fethard and Golden are withdrawn.
The 65th Depot, stationed only four days at Fethard, and the company of same Regiment, stationed in Cashel, have marched to Templemore.

Colonel O'Malley, 88th, is on leave at Paris.
Major Johnson, the officers, and men of the 5th Fusilier Depot, were most active to suppress an alarms fire at Salt-hill, Galway, on Monday, when their dauntless exertions saved twenty cabins of poor families from being involved in the conflagration.

The 82d depot is ordered from Sheerness to Portsmouth.
Michael Burke, a deserter from the 10th Foot, was arrested by Constable Slattery, stationed at Patrick's well. He is brother to Burke, the convict, who effected his escape from our County jail.

Ensign Lord Fitzroy Gordon Lennox, second son of the Duke of Richmond, has sailed for Canada to join the 43d Light Infantry.

Wednesday, the French Frigate Giraffe, Captain Le Borgne, arrived at Cove from Guadaloupe, bound to Brest, with troops—out two months, and short of provisions—but all in good health. Immediately after the Giraffe anchored, a boat from the Powerful, 84, with a Lieutenant, went on board, to pay the usual compliments. She then furled sails, hoisted a large English ensign at her main-top-gallant mast-head, and fired a salute of 21 guns—then hauled down the ensign, and fired another salute of seven guns.— In a few moments the Powerful hoisted the French colours at her main, and returned the Frigate's salute with seven guns.

Every Friday the whole of Dublin Garrison off duty are to assemble in the Fifteen Acres, in undress, for regimental and brigade drill.
Richard Phipps, Esq., is appointed Ensign 2d Lancaster Militia.

General Lord Howden, Colonel 43d Light Infantry, is seriously ill. His son, Col. Caradoc, has been sent for from Paris, where he is Military Attache to the Embassy.

Colonel Prince, whose summary execution of four of the American "sympathisers" with the Canadian rebels, has been brought under the notice of the House of Peers by Lord Brougham, was some few years since a resident of Cheltenham, where he practised as an attorney.

The Storekeepership of Woolwich is void by the death of Captain Stace.
Subconstable M'Loughlin, of the Abbeyfeale station, arrested in that town, on Wednesday, a deserter from the 85th Regiment.

One or two vacancies are likely to take place in the Kerry Constabulary, by the retirement of the officers, after long service.
Chief Constable F. Heath is ordered, on promotion, from this district to Castle-town-Delvin, county Westmeath.

Mr. Jackson, C.C. at Pallaskenry, has offered a reward by hand-bill, for the writer or poster of a threatening notice against a gentleman's steward in the neighbourhood of Patrick's-well. The steward this man succeeded was murdered not long since.

Mathew O'Mara, Esq. Paymaster of Constabulary, has arrived from Enniskillen, and entered on his duties as Paymaster for this City and County, and also that of Kerry.

Mr. Clune, C. C. has taken charge of the Cahirciveen district, in the room of Capt. Brady, deceased.
He was stationed at Claremorris, Co. Mayo.
Sub-Constable Alexander Wilson and Michl. Quin, have been dismissed the Constabulary, for preferring an unsubstantiated charge of drunkenness against Constable Garrett Barry, of Nenagh.

A depot is opened at Galway, where the poor receive oatmeal from a charitable relief fund.
Potatoes are only 3d. per stone at Birr, and vicinity.
The Board of Trinity College have determined on selling the timber of their woods in Kerry.

The election to the Bandon Fever Hospital and Dispensary takes place the 4th July.
The late thunder storm has not done any damage in this County, with the exception of the death of Michl. Hehir, struck by lightning, as reported.

New potatoes, grown in the open air, were exhibited at Galway, this week.
We have received a letter signed Malachy Kean, Kilballyowen, county Clare, complaining that he was robbed on Sunday night of eighty guineas in gold, and twenty sovereigns, and begging the attention of the Police to it, as he fears the money may be exchanged in Limerick or Kihruah.

Mr. Kingsley's able statement at the Irish Metropolitan Conservative Society on our next.
The writer of the letter to Mr. Caleb Powell, which appears in our columns, has left his name at this office.

his case, Lord John Russell admitted there were strong grounds of complaint, but that the Government was not prepared to go the length of the motion. The ingenious little Lord then condemned the terms of sweeping reform proposed by many (alluding, evidently, to the Chartists and to Mr. O'Connell's letter), and all at once turning round, he expressed his opinion that the Reform Bill differed in its operation from what was intended by those who had introduced it, and that the Registration and Rate-paying clauses required revision and alteration. A long discussion ensued.
Mr. Warburton leading on the part of the Radicals, after Lord John had closed his speech, and urging the Ministry to make a declaration to enable the liberal members to meet their constituents at a general election! Sir Robert Peel instantly saw that the entire was a trick to enable the Home Secretary to declare his views after assuming office again, and in one of the most able and energetic speeches ever delivered by that accomplished and enlightened statesman; he refuted the idea of extorting further pledges from the noble Lord, who had already given sufficient to gratify the ravenous appetite of the most thoroughgoing Radical, and turning round upon the admissions made by Lord John, he in glowing and eloquent language insisted upon the inviolability of the Reform measure, expressed the readiness of the Conservatives to adopt it as handed down by Lords Grey and Althorpe, and of their firm determination to resist to the last moment of their existence the change which the Whig Ministry seemed disposed to make in it. The House literally rang with the manly denunciation of this intended fraud upon the country, and so enthusiastically were the sentiments received, that hon. members so far forgot themselves as to clap their hands, an ebullition of feeling of very rare occurrence in either House of Parliament. We have now a sample of Lord Melbourne's progressive reform before us, and we might in perfect safety dare him to carry it out without swamping the House of Lords with faggot Peers, an experiment if persevered in that might have a tendency to upset the Monarchy, and to produce all the horrors of a civil war.

"The National Education scheme is exposed to a similar fate with all the previous measures proposed to be enacted during the Session—a Session which will be cited as the most remarkable in living memory for the little business transacted. As I before observed, the sole aim of the Ministry is to wind up matters with all the expedition possible, so that if the Budget was opened, and its contents fairly before the public, I don't think the Parliament would be found sitting a fortnight afterwards. But to return to the notable plan of Education. It was originally opposed by members of the Established Church only—then it had the measured hostility of the Wesleyan Methodists, a powerful and influential body here—and after holding back as long as they could, to secure the cooperation of the Roman Catholics, in resenting Church rates, the other body of Dissenters have joined in repudiating the proposition, of the people of England being induced to submit to the plan, for sake of participating in the paltry sum of £30,000.
You may rest assured, then, that the opposition with which the Government plan has been already met, has most effectually succeeded, and that the job must be given up. The way this will be managed you will find to be this: Mr. Wyse, who was to have had a lucrative appointment at the Board, will enter the House a night or two before the question is introduced, and he will there take an exception to the smallness of the vote, and insist that the plan could not be fairly tried upon so restricted and limited a scale. The subject has made, and is making, much noise here, and, therefore, it is, that I press it so much on your attention.

"The Prince of Saxe Cobourg, relative of her Majesty, and father of the youth spoken of as the husband of the Queen, has arrived in town with one of his daughters, and they are now enjoying the hospitalities of the Palace.

"Great preparations are making for a grand fete to be given by Lord Morpeth at Chiswick, on the banks of the Thames, the villa of his uncle the Duke of Devonshire, and which is fixed for the 22d inst.
The Ministerial members have all been furnished with tickets, and the banquet will be on an extensive and magnificent scale. Sir Robert Peel has fixed upon that day to have a grand dinner at Whitehall Gardens, so that the Whig Radicals will not have all the pleasure to themselves.

"The Carlow Election Inquiry is dragging its slow and weary way along. The lawyers are profiting amply by it; but close when it may, we must from the construction of the committee, be prepared for the worst. Mr. Maunsell's clearness and acuteness is eminently conspicuous in solving difficult points, and smoothing the way before members of the committee, not particularly favoured with equal perception.

Complaints by the trade were made this week to the Lord Mayor of Dublin, for charging 6d. a cask on butter weighed at Thomas-street crane, while in Spital-fields it is but 3d. The explanation is that 3d. covers the news into each cask for export.

One hundred and twenty-three tons of eggs were shipped from Derry for Liverpool, on Friday!
By a late act the Magistrates, on a certificate of the medical attendant, are authorised to transmit any insane persons confined in gaol to the district asylum.
The St. Patrick's Assurance Company require another instalment before winding up the affairs of that disastrous concern.

There were no farmers' houses attacked at Bally-dool, near Pallaskenry, but some farmers were visited about potatoes at Ballina mona, in the neighbourhood of Stonehall and Curragh, and also one at Kilbreedy.

Doctor Dancer, of Carigaline, at the other side of Cork, arrived in town last week, to place himself under the care of Doctor Gore, for disease of his eyes.
In consequence of total blindness he had to relinquish a most extensive and lucrative practice, which he conducted for many years with great success. His improvement within the last few days has been so great that he can now clearly distinguish objects in the street, and his animal spirits have in consequence undergone a complete revulsion. Dr. Dancer possesses considerable property. A fine young woman from Cream Point, near Milford, county Clare, was last week discharged from Dr. Gore's Eye Infirmary, in Cecil-street, with the use of her sight. She was operated on for cataract, and brought to Limerick by Mrs. Creagh, of William-street, in order to place her under that gentleman's care. This is a very interesting case, the woman having been perfectly blind, and not more than 22 years of age. Dr. Kane assisted at the operation, at which were present Captain Douglas and Dr. Stevenson.

The Rev. John Nolan, thankfully acknowledges the receipt of £1 from John O'Brian Esq. of Elmvale, for repairs of St. Mary's Chapel.

John Frost was fined 2s. 6d. for being intoxicated; information was ordered against John Slattery, Simon Houlihan, and Daniel Clanchy, charged by acting Constable Patt Campbell, with a riot at Post Office lane; against John Coffey for pig stealing; Michael Campbell, charged with stealing silver spoons was remanded; John McNamara was fined 10s. or three weeks imprisonment, for assault on Michael Nealon.

The Hon. George E. Massy, summoned John and George Johnston, and Simon Sexton, for trespass in Mrs. Villiers' Alms-house. The Hon. gentleman stated that at the request of his friend Mr. Tuthill, of Dublin, one of the principal Trustees of the establishment, he had undertaken the important duty of acting for him, and for no other person but Mr. Tuthill would he take upon himself to do so. He had frequently heard of the abuses in this institution, and in consequence, went there last week in company with the Rev. Mr.
Duddell and Rev. Mr. Pinkerton, and he could declare that never did he see anything to equal the irregularity that prevailed. The institution was founded for the maintenance and support of respectable widows only, who were reduced in life, and to his great astonishment, he found young men residing in the Asylum, from the age of 16 to 21 years. The pump-water, which was also for the exclusive use of the inmates, was made a public nuisance of by the parishioners, and the pleasure ground or walk, equally abused, and the respectable female inmates were in-sulted; in fact, the whole concern presented to his view more the appearance of a bear garden, than a well ordered and select charitable institution.

In consequence of such neglect, and abuse of Mrs. Villiers' charitable intentions, he gave the gate keeper directions how to act, and on Monday received a letter from him, but not relying entirely on his ipse dixit statement, he went himself to the Almshouse, and heard from the lips of some of the ladies there, the constant abuses and annoyances they were subject to, adding that the insulting conduct of the young men staying with their friends in the House was beyond comprehension. The Institution (said the Hon. Mr. Massy) was never intended to be the residence of any individual but a respectable widow, in reduced circumstances; and having taken the responsibility on myself of acting for Mr. Tuthill, I will not allow any infringement on the rules prescribed by the benevolent founder, and adopted by the Trustees. In doing so, I consider I am acting honestly, faithfully, and uprightly for the Institution.

Mr. Monsell, on the part of those summoned, stated they were sorry for their conduct, and would not for the future intrude, or do anything that may be complained of. The Johnstons, he said, considered they were justified in remaining in the Asylum along with their relatives; and Mr. Sexton, the son of respectable and independent parents, having, since the Alms' House formation, although no connexion whatever of his resided therein, walked about it after meals, equally conceived there was no harm in doing so.
The Hon. Mr. Massy said he was satisfied with the explanation, if no intrusion occurred again, as he only wanted to establish the rights of the Trustees, and support the interests of the charity; but added that henceforward no children would be allowed in to the parents, as the parents were at liberty to go out to see them, according to the regulations.

The Lord Bishop of Killaloe preached a most excellent sermon to an immense congregation at the Cathedral on Sunday last.

We regret to state that the Rev. Dawson Massy, though better, still continues very weak, and much exhausted.

A dividend of 5s. in the pound is now being paid to some of the title owners, on account of their arrears.
The schedules of the greater part have not been yet submitted to the Privy Council for their consent.
There is a delay occasioned in consequence of the absence of the Commissioners, Archdeacon Stafford, and Dr. Stock. On the whole the business has been very slowly managed.

VISITATION FEES.—It is expected that those fees imposed on the Clergy will shortly be abolished. They have always been felt as a grievance, but more particularly now, as the incomes of the Incumbents have been so much diminished in value. His Grace the Lord Primate has set a noble example to his brother Bishops during his late triennial visitations; he not only declined accepting his proportion of those fees, but he generously paid his register the share to which he would have been entitled if the Clergy had been called on to pay. In any measure that should be framed for the abolishing of those fees, a provision could be introduced for paying the registers from out of the funds placed at the disposal of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners for Ireland. The Clergy of Meath have a petition in preparation to Parliament, praying to be relieved from the payment of this, and all other such imposts.

The Lord Bishop of Cork held a confirmation in the church of Kinsale, on Tuesday, where the number of young persons confirmed was considerable. A sermon was preached by the Rev. W. R. Meade, Vicar of Kinsale. Immediately after the service his Lordship held a local visitation of the Clergy of the parishes from which the young persons were admitted to confirmation, and minutely inquired into the state of the Churches, Glebe Houses, Schools &c.

Kilmurry Church is under repair by the Ecclesiastical Board, and there will be no service for the next two Sundays.

The annual field meeting of the Wesleyan Methodists in this district came off at Adare on Wednesday, when over 1000 members of the society mustered in Lord Dunraven's picturesque demesne, and they were addressed by the Rev. Messrs. Goodness, Williams and Boyd, upon the present auspicious era of Wesleyan Methodism, and the great increase in the connexion throughout the British dominions.

Doctor Plunket, the new Bishop of Tuam, paid a visit to Castlebar, and came upon the Bench in the Court House, while the Magistrates were assembled at Special Sessions.

The sum of £200 was subscribed this week, at the formation of the Additional Curates' Fund Society, in Cork, including £20 donation from the worthy Prelate of the diocese, beside an annual subscription to the same amount.

A Chaplain is wanted for the Bethesda Chapel, Dublin.
The Mastership of Banagher school is void by the death of Doctor Bell. It is a valuable endowment, and in the gift of Erasmus Smith's Trustees.

On Sunday last the members of the Second Presbyterian Congregation of Belfast presented their minister, the Rev. John Porter, with a handsome salver, and a purse containing 325 sovs.

The Rev. Theobald Mathew, elected this week Provincial of the Capuchin order of Friars in Ireland, presided at a meeting of the Temperance Society in Cork, yesterday.

Mr. Charles Kidd, of this City, has again si-nalised himself in the profession, as the following from the Dublin Medical Press of the 5th inst. e-plains:—"Richmond Hospital School of Medicine &c.:" At a public examination held in this school, on the 25th of April, a Certificate was adjudged to M.
C. Kidd, for his talented answering in the junior division on the sciences of Anatomy and Physiology.
He also, after a close and strict examination, obtained his diploma as Accoucher."

For the City of Waterford 946 notices of Registrhave been served on the clerk of the peace.
The Waterford Mail states that Mr. Batty's equestrian troop will shortly arrive in Waterford from Dublin. This is not the case, as Mr. Batty will opereither in Cork or Limerick after leaving Dublin. Mr.
Wells, the equestrian proceeds with his company from Clonmel to Waterford, his season being just closed in the former town.

NOTICE.
THE PARTNERSHIP hitherto subsisting under the firm of THOMAS and ROBERT PARKER, being now mutually dissolved, all persons indebted to the late firm, are now required to pay the amount of their respective debts to ROBERT PARKER, one of said Firm, who is now authorised to receive the same, and who has my authority to give the proper Receipt.
