We quoted from the Glasgow paper, one of the numerous frauds practised in the Butter trade in Ireland, the result of which at length must be that not a single cask will be purchased in either Scotland or England of this country's exportation, until examined and augured. It is really shameful to the traders of this country; and we must add that the practices pursued by mercantile men in Sligo are disgraceful beyond description. We are assured on the very best authority that in many instances the market brands are taken off—false brands both as to quality and name of shipping port put on—Sligo 2ds and 3ds often changed into Carlow or Limerick 1sts, or into "Cork pickled 2ds," which is a favourite brand with the fraudulent dealers.—Sligo Journal.
