Pneumatic Coffee Pot.

In introducing this novel and ingenious invention to the Public of the South of Ireland, JAMES HOGG would observe, that having, in an interview with the Patentee, made himself conversant with the peculiar properties of the Patent, and being convinced of its general usefulness, he can, with confidence, recommend it to his Friends and Customers. CORK and LIMERICK, as a discovery worthy of any eulogium that could be bestowed upon it! The Coffee made by this New Patent Filter possesses a delicious flavour and purity, not attainable by any method heretofore in use.

To Chemists and others, requiring the purifying of Glutinous Liquids, this invention is invaluable, as it filters with an expedition and purity, quite surprising to those accustomed to the ordinary slow and uncertain method. Not the least attractive quality in this New Patent Filter is its every moderate Price!!

The respective Branches of this Establishment are as usual well supplied with all kinds of KITCHEN FURNITURE, in Copper, Patent Metal and Block Tin. Also, HOUSE and TOILET BRUSHES of every description.

Copper, Brass, Zinc, Tin-Plate and Iron Work executed by careful and experienced Workmen, and every attention paid to repairs. ONE PRICE only, and no Accounts opened. August 3.

Munster General Annuity ENDOWMENT ASSOCIATION.

No. 9, WILLIAM-STREET, LIMERICK. Instituted and Enrolled under Act of Parliament 10 Geo. 4. c. 56, and 2 and 5 Wm. 4. c. 40. ANNUITIES SECURED TO WIVES, DAUGHTERS, SISTERS, AND OTHER FEMALE RELATIVES, OR PERSONS.

By the Payment of a Small Annual Premium. BOARD OF MANAGEMENT, 1839.

TRUSTEES. William Fitzgibbon, Esq. John O'Brien, Esq. G. H. Fitzgerald, Esq. J. J. Fisher, Esq. DIRECTORS FOR 1839. J. W. O'Grady, Esq. C. O'Hara, Esq. F. J. O'Neill, Esq. Edmond J. Creagh, Esq. Wm. Griffin, M.D. Esq. John White, Esq. Robert Potter, Esq. John Seymour, Esq. W. J. Geary, M.D. Esq. AUDITORS. George McKern, Esq. Edward Monseil, Esq. John Seymour, Esq. John McKern, Esq. ARBITRATORS. Wm. Roche, Esq. M.P. W. S. O'Brien, Esq. M.P. Alderman Gabbett, Reuben Harvey, Esq. Alderman Mahony, PHYSICIAN. WILLIAM GRIFFIN, Esq. M.D. TREASURERS. THE PROVINCIAL BANK OF IRELAND, SOLICITOR. ROBERT POTTER, Esq. SECRETARY. JOHN GRIFFIN, Esq. ANNUAL PREMIUMS. Under 25 years, £1 10s. Under 35, £3 10s. Under 40, £4 10s. Under 50, £5 10s. Under 60, £6 10s. Under 70, £7 10s. Under 80, £8 10s. Under 90, £9 10s. Under 100, £10 10s. Entrance Fee, £1 15s. MODERATE sum is charged for Disparity of Age, when the Person nominated for the Annuity is younger than the Member, which, as well as the Entrance Fee, is paid once only. Should a nominee die, a second nomination is allowed—which is to be final.

The principle upon which the Society is founded in that of Mutual Assurance, and an equitable division of the Fund set apart for Annuities, amongst the Claimants, not exceeding an annuity of £50 for each Subscription. All payments are made to the Provincial Bank of Ireland, (the Treasurers) by whom it is invested in Government Securities. The Widow, Child, or other nominee to be entitled to the Annuity, if five years' Premiums, and all other sums due, have been paid by the deceased Member. If the Member dies before five years, and his nominee is incapable of completing the payments, the Society will pay them up, deducting the amount from the Annuity. The utmost economy is observed in the management. The central situation of Limerick adjoining several large counties, leads the Directors of the Institution established here, confidently to hope, that its benefits will be widely and extensively felt, and that it will prove an efficient instrument in preventing a large proportion of individual suffering. The small amount of payment required will bring its advantages within the reach of many, who cannot effect common insurance. A person of moderate income for instance, under 30, nominating his wife, aged 25, is only required to pay the sum of 16s. for difference of ages and an annual Premium of £2, (being less than 10d. per week), to secure an annuity for her whenever his death may occur; while those of larger present emoluments, from office or otherwise, may insure considerable annuities to their families, by an increased number of similar payments, not exceeding six, no member being allowed to take more than that number. The facilities afforded by the plan will enable persons of the most limited incomes to marry, by giving them an opportunity of securing Life Annuities for their wives, should they survive them. Wherever, in fact, such a Society is established, no family can be left wholly unprotected for, except through the utter improvidence or apathy of those whose duty it is, while life and health remain to see that the objects of their present care and affection may not hereafter be subjected to the pangs of humiliating want, while it can be prevented at so small a sacrifice.

To alleviate the evils of humanity—to divide amongst many the pressure of individual suffering, is the object of the Society, and it is gratifying to the Directors to find that these principles are beginning to be more fully understood, and in proportion to receive the sanction of public support, evinced by the increasing number of its members.

The following gentlemen have given their services to co-operate with the Directors in making known more extensively the advantages offered by the Society and to act as Medical Referees and advisers of the Board in the towns where they reside.
