Noble Marquis, the owner of the soil upon which this elegant craft was built. Sir William Macbean, Col.
Mansel, and most of the officers in garrison, attended the gay spectacle, and the great fleet of merchant vessels in port welcomed their new associate upon the "world of waters," with colours flying from stem to stern, and frequent discharges of artillery. There is another schooner upon the stock, nearly finished, and which will be launched, before a month, from the same yard. At no period were the Commercial interests of the port of Limerick so prosperous, this spirited Company having now at their command a squadron of vessels equal, if not superior for all sailing qualities, to those of any other port in Ireland.

One hundred and seventy head of fat cattle were Acting Constable Lawlor, of the Portroe police station, near Nenagh, died from wounds he received on the head in the execution of his duty, on the 20th ult. while employed with two other Sub-Constables, one of whom was severely wounded, and his life is in imminent danger. Lawlor's remains were carried off to his native place, Queen's County, by his friends.

He has left a wife and a helpless family to deplore his loss, without any means of subsistence.

A boatman of the name of Hannan was struck by the boom of a sail boat laden with turf, last Friday evening, near the Pool, and thrown over board, when, after a short struggle, he disappeared before any relief came up.

His many friends in this city will regret to learn, there is little hope of the recovery of the Rev. Mr.
Enraght, P.P. of Mahoonagh.

Kilfenora was the scene of great rejoicing, in consequence of John O'Brien, Esq. now of Carnelly, having arrived there to receive rents from his numerous tenantry. An amateur band played through the village, and refreshment was provided.

A great number of the peasantry, both men and women, in the neighbourhood of Abbeyteale, collected on Monday last in the garden of Captain Vignoles, and commenced digging and gathering his potatoes, gratis; a compliment due to that gentleman for the impartial and satisfactory manner in which he has discharged the important duties of the office since his appointment to the district.
