Proposed by William Howly, Esq. D.L. seconded by D. R. Browning, Esq.: That John Bindon Altor, Esq. be requested to act as Secretary. Proposed by Dieutenant-General Sir Richard Bourke, seconded by James D. Lyons, Esq. D.L.:

Resolved-That the Bill introduced by Lord Stanley into the House of Commons, called a "Bill to amend the Registration of Voters in Instand," is, from its enactments and provisions, a measure which, if carried into law, cannot fail to render the Reform Act, which it nominally professes to improve, at once difficult in its operation, nugator in effect, an destructive of the Franchise of the great bulk of the constituency of Ireland, by entailing on them vexatious annual litigation.

Proposed by James Alton, Esq. seconded by Counsellor O'Hara:

Resolved—That the Petition which Mr. Alton has just read, be adopted by this Meeting, as embodying our feelings and views in reference to the measure which it is intended to defeat and that it be entrusted to our City Representatives or presentation to the House of Commons; and that they be requested to move that said Petition be read at length, and printed Proposed by John Kelly, Esq., seconded by Thomas Roche, Esq. :

Resolved-That it is our sincere hope that Liberal Members of Ireland, will, on no pretence whatever, absent themselves, on the House going into Committee upon this destructive measure, or on any subsequent stage, should the Bill unhappily reach it; as such absence must be considered a forfeiture of our confidence, and a proof not only of apathy but altered political opinion. DEATHS.

On the 9th inst. at his seat, Aghadoe, Killarney, after a severe and protracted illness, which he bore with the utmost patience and resignation, the Right Hon. Lord Headley, in the 56th year of his age. The title descends to his lordship's nephew, Charles Winn, Esq. of Warley Lodge, Essex: The deceased will be long remembered in the South of Ireland, and in his own County more especially, as a nobleman conspicuous for the unobtrusive yet energetic discharge of the many duties connected with his rank and station; uniformly setting an admirable example of genuine philanthropy, founded in deep religious principle. In the various relations of life, as a husband, a master, a patron, and a friend, his was, indeed an exemplary course; while, as one of the very best landlords in Ireland, the name of Lord Headley will be handed down from father to son, and his memory revered and fondly cherished. The sorrow caused by his death is as deep as it is universal—it is a heartfelt sorrow—one, however, not without its consolation, for with truth can it be recorded of him, that as he lived so he died, in the Christian and blessed hope of a joyful resurrection.
