GENERAL
WRITING COMMERCIAL AND ENGLISH SCHOOL, (SEXTON-STREET, OPPOSITE THE NUNNERY CHAPEL.) It having been suggested to the Proprietor by many highly respectable persons of this City and its vicinity, the great necessity of such a School as the above specified, in so extensive and Commercial a City as Limerick.

Mr. HURLEY takes leave most respectfully, to announce to his friends and the Public that he is fitting up that commodious, healthful, central, yet retired Room in SEXTON-STREET, where school will positively commence on MONDAY next for the reception of a select number of Pupils. As Mr. H. is, he presumes already pretty well known in this part of the Country, he hopes he has not much occasion to dilate on his qualifications, but refers to those many marks of distinction and approbation heretofore conferred on him as Public and Private Teacher, and as it is his particular ambition to support that character he trusts he will again give general satisfaction.
Young Gentlemen intended for business have now an opportunity of acquiring a bold free commanding style of Writing, whether professional, mercantile or fashionable, without which many a young man of otherwise shining abilities is left in obscurity. The most particular attention shall be paid every branch in the English and Commercial department as well as writing, and when seasonable, a competent Assistant shall be procured.
