

we observe a notice for a prayer meeting, in conformity with the above, to be held in the Com- room of the Blind Asylum, Upper Catherine- half-past 8 o'clock in the morning of Friday, January. The regular Church service, with administration of the Lord's Supper, at half-past six in the Asylum Church.

Annual charity sermon preached on Sunday at St. Rufus Church, for the District Scriptural School, by Rev. Edward Herbert, was attended by a most noble and intelligent congregation, which duly testified the evident anxiety of the Preacher, not to enforce a duty, but to convey a benefit. —2 Cor. 8, 9, was admirably calculated for the purpose, and supplied the genuine motive for the exercise of Christian charity. The collection amounted to about £20, which, being a large sum for a country Church, testified the estimation in which this Institution is held, and the Scriptural eloquence of its advocate appreciated.

As we perceive it announced, that a sermon is to be preached in our Cathedral, on Sunday next, by the Rev. William Sewell, Professor of Moral Philosophy in the University of Oxford. Many persons will, no doubt, be most anxious to see and to hear a divine of such universality, where so extraordinary a move in the matters has been made within the last few years. Positions have been put forward that have not only at this moment engage, the deep and undivided attention as well of the members of the Church, but of all sectarians, even Roman Catholics. That the learned professor, coming from the very region of those divines, will appear in a pulpit in this city on the above occasion must, we are sure, attract a large and well-ordered congregation, if only motives of curiosity influence their attendance; but we are happy to see that the Diocesan Education Society have been enabled to prevail on Mr. Sewell, to plead the cause of this invaluable institution. We understand that there are now between twenty and thirty schools in the Society, in active operation throughout the city.

Ordination held in the Cathedral of Elphin, the 10th inst. were admitted to holy orders:—Priests, Rev. O'Meara, for the parish of Cloone; Samuel O'Keefe, for the Parish of Mohill.—Deacon—James Montgomery for Sligo.

Mr. Wilson has commenced proceedings against the Rev. J. Daly, to oust his rival from the Deanery of Clonsilla.

Protestants of Capetown, Cape of Good Hope, have subscribed £400 towards the Roman Catholic building there by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Griffith, Bishop of Cape Town.

Rev. John O'Regan, O.S.D. for some years past attached to the mission at Leghorn, is to rejoin the Society in this city in the course of a few weeks. Most Rev. Dr. Murray, addressing the teachers in their communion in the training school of the Society, on the late occasion, said, "I am proud and brother commissioner, Mr. Blake, who is to so say, is absent from severe indisposition, has enabled me to bestow on each of you a copy of the new Testament—published—the Testament of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Some may appear surprised that I should place in your hands this sacred volume, which they are not allowed to read, or affecting to believe, that this is for our benefit. This act of mine will, I trust, be a new proof of the truth of my opinion, if it be really entertained, is in conformity, then, with my own wishes and the wishes of those numerous prelates who have sanctioned its use—in conformity, too, with the sanction of the highest authority of her church, in placing this sacred volume in your hands, in the hope that you will make it deeply in your hearts, and that you will make use of your lives to regulate your future conduct according to the principles of morality which it contains."

Rev. John A. Bolster, Chaplain to the Lord Bishop of Cork, has been lately engaged in preaching in the Church of the Church Education Society. There are now 200 schools, containing 8000 children, in connection with this Society, in the united dioceses of Cork, Kerry, Limerick, and Ross.

Parishioners of Kilcreddan and Kilmacdough, have addressed the Rev. R. J. Going, on his removal to another diocese.

James Supple, Esq. Surgeon of the Presidency, Madras, to Maria Hosana, daughter of the late David F. Chambers, Captain 89th Regt.

DEATHS.

Saturday last, at Ennis, after a painful illness of some weeks, which he sustained with the firmness of a man, and the composure of a Christian, under the all-saving grace of his Redeemer's love, James Macbeath, Esq. for many years an extensive merchant of this port and Clare, wherein his great private worth and unsullied integrity, during a long commercial life, won for him the respect and esteem of all that is respectable in the mercantile world, as well as the affectionate regard of every other class. His moral principles were excellent, for they were based upon the true spirit of Christianity, breathing in every act and word of his irreproachable, and, we will add, virtuous career. In the domestic circle he was well beloved as the kind and exemplary husband and parent, while no less ardently prized for his sincerity and value as a friend.
