A piece of plate of elegant workmanship has just been completed by Mr. Henry Smith, Jeweller, 108, George's-street, Limerick, for some friends of Surgeon Stevenson's, late of this City, who intend presenting it to him. It consists of a large salver, surrounded by a border of enclaved work, representing the Union Wreath, in high relief, upon a ground of frost work. In the centre is a plain space, containing the inscription, engraved in the most superb style, and the extreme edge is a circle of raised flowers. The article reflects great credit upon Mr. Smith's establishment.

T. B. Martin, Esq. M.P. has been entertaining a series of visitors at his hospitable mansion Ballinahinch Castle, the splendid scenery about which has been the subject of many a pencil. The guests assembled the week before last were—Mr. James Daly, Dunsandle; Mr. O'Neill, Bunown Castle; Mr. J. H. Burke, St. Clerans; Mr. A. Browne, Mounthazel; Mr. Skeffington Daly, Dunsandle; Mr. Geoghegan, Galway. Some malicious low-lived ruffian passing through the country, gave out at an inn that some of these gentlemen had quarrelled—that a blow was struck—a duel to be fought, &c. &c. Not the slightest dispute had occurred; the gentlemen whose names the fellow mentioned have been always on the best terms, and if they can detect the liar they will probably cure him of his complaint.—Galway Vindicator.
