By a feature peculiar to this Society, a couple may secure to every child to be born of their marriage a stated sum at a given age. The Contract defines the premium to be paid, which does not increase, however numerous the children may be.

To secure the future offspring of a marriage (HOWEVER NUMEROUS) £100 each at 21 years of age, the age of the mother being 25, £8 3s. 7d. must be paid annually. And, to secure to a child just born £100 at the above age, an annual payment of £2 19s. 2d. will suffice.

Life Assurances and Annuities of every description may be effected on terms equally advantageous.

Reversions purchased and Loans granted. Prospectuses may be had of, and business be transacted with any of the following Agents of the Society in this district.—
