LIMERICK, AUGUST 3.

AWFUL SUICIDE IN LIMERICK GARRISON.
We have to record the violent death of a Bombardier of the Royal Horse Artillery at the Ordnance Barracks, on Saturday night, who blew his brains out with a carbine, under circumstances, which from the good character of the man as a soldier, and the fervent passion, of which he was the premature victim, are much to be regretted.
Sir Richard Franklin, M.D. and Thos. P. Vokes, Esq. Magistrates, held an inquest on the remains of deceased at the Artillery Barracks, on Sunday, when the following Jury was impannelled, and duly sworn to enquire and find how and by what means RAMON WILKINSON came to his death:—

THE HALF-YEARLY REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF

The Mountshannon LOAN FUND,

(COUNTIES OF GALWAY AND CLARE) Ending 28th June, 1842,

Unanimously adopted at a numerous meeting held 4th July, inst., PHILIP READE, of Woodpark, Esq. in the Chair.

GENTLEMEN,—The Committee are happy to lay before the Subscribers proofs of the continued prosperity and benefit of this Loan Society, as shewn in the Accounts now submitted and made up to the 28th June last.

The Lodgments in the Savings Bank during the last half-year, amount to £914 8s. 11d. against £451 5s. 1d. withdrawn, affording a satisfactory test of the confidence reposed in its security and efficient management. The benefits conferred during this severe season in the surrounding parishes of this mountain district, have been very great, first by the cheap and timely purchase of Potatoes, by which only, a great number of the poor were enabled to sow their lands, and thus under Providence, preventing the distress for provisions extending to another year, and subsequently by the purchase and re-sale of Meal without any profit, on six months credit, to nearly one thousand families, by which aid has been rendered to six times as many persons as the Work-house of this district could have contained, and many saved from its disgrace and contamination.

Your Committee have directed that the sum of £10, shall be given in aid of the Funds of the Inniscaltra Farming Society; and also that £150 shall be withdrawn from the surplus profits and lodged in the Bank of Ireland, in the name of three Trustees, to be available whenever any unusual demand shall arise on the Savings Bank, so that the regular business may not be interrupted.

Your Committee are happy to add, that after a very strict inspection by the Rev. John D'Arcy, Treasurer to the County Galway Trustees, and his Assistant Clerk, your Loan Fund met their full approbation, and was found to be the most economically managed of any under their control, which is altogether owing to the gratuitous and unremitting labour of some of your Committee who have watched over its interests since its commencement.

MOUNTSHANNON LOAN FUND,

Anne Snell, wife of Gunner Snell, of the Royal Horse Artillery, being sworn, saith that about the hour of six o'clock, this morning, she went into the Wash-house of the Artillery Barrack for some straw to light the fires, and, on pushing in the door, she saw the body of a man, dressed in Artillery uniform, lying on the floor. At first she thought the man was tipsy, but on looking closely she saw the roof of his skull blown off. Witness immediately called for help, and a soldier, named James Rea, at once ran to her assistance, and also saw the body of the man.

Francis Ward, Captain Royal Horse Artillery, being duly sworn, saith—That the deceased Ramon Wilkinson, Bombadier in the Royal Horse Artillery, was a man of most excellent character; he was the son of an Officer now deceased of the Artillery Drivers; he was never punished or reported as a defaulter; he had been for the last six years in the service. Examinant observed that during the last three days the deceased appeared to be in a wandering and desponding state of mind; he was always sober and attentive to his duties. Examinant produces a letter, which is in the handwriting of the deceased, dated the night of the 30th July, 1842 (last night) directed to Mary Watking, enclosed therein a seal and a lock of hair. [The letter was read to the jury.]

(COPY.) Limerick, night of 30th July, 1842.

My Dear Mary,—I take my pencil in hand to address you these few lines in my grief and sorrow—have I not even in my last moments been devotedly attached to you. The pain and sorrow I am in at the present time has rather added to my embarrassment. Don't for one moment, my dear Mary, take it to heart, as I am going to put an end to my days.

Dearest Mary if you will accept of this small lock of hair, of one who loves you sweeter than the honeycombe—keep it till the longest day you live.

I cannot express myself to you in the way that I could wish for I am in the greatest trouble. I can say no more at this almost the last moment of my life, and I remain, my dearest Mary, once your truly sincere and affectionate lover,

RAMON WILKINSON, Bombardier Royal Horse Artillery.

Lord have mercy on my soul, and may God bless you. Directed to Miss Mary Watking.

Examinant states that he received this letter from Quarter-master Alexander Brown, who said the letter was handed to him by Private Hugh M'Guire, of the Artillery.

James Rea, R.H.A. being sworn, saith—That this morning, at an early hour, he heard Anne Snell call for assistance from the Wash-house; he went to her, and saw the body of Bombadier Ramon Wilkinson lying dead in the wash-house, with the roof of his skull blown off, and his carbine lying by his side, with his thumb on the trigger.

Allen Burstow, Driver of the Royal Horse Artillery, being sworn saith—That last night, while in bed, he saw the deceased Ramon Wilkinson, enter the barrack bed-room, in which witness slept; he saw him go towards the bedside of Hugh M'Guire, and put a letter into his bed, or under his pillow, and he then left the room.

Hugh M'Guire, Driver of the Royal Horse Artillery, being sworn saith—That this morning he found under the pillow of his bed a letter which he handed to Quarter-master Alexander Brown, which letter is now shown to him in presence of the Jury, and he identifies said letter.

David Charles Pitcairn, Esq. Staff Surgeon, being sworn, saith that he had this day examined the dead body of a man, named Ramon Wilkinson, a Bombardier of the Royal Horse Artillery. Witness found the deceased lying dead on his side in the wash-house of the Artillery Barrack, with the roof of his skull blown off, and his brain scattered around the room, and his carbine lying by his side, the contents thereof had been discharged, and the wound thus inflicted was, in witness's opinion, the cause of the death of the said Ramon Wilkinson.

The Jury then returned a verdict in the following words:—"That Ramon Wilkinson inflicted a gun shot wound on himself, this morning, in the Wash-house of the Artillery Barracks, which caused his death, and that at the time he inflicted said wound, he laboured under temporary insanity."

The deceased, a fine young man about 22 years of age, was interred at three o'clock on Sunday afternoon with military honours at John's churchyard, by the men of his troop, Lieut. Turner, R.H.A. the officer in command, reading the burial service, but omitting by desire, the concluding "in the full and certain hope of a glorious resurrection." The late Bombadier was dressed in complete uniform, as if for parade and duty, booted and spurred when he fired the fatal shot. The young woman, Mary Watkins, to whom he was attached, lived as a domestic in the family of Capt. Ward, his commanding officer, and intended to proceed with her mistress for England, on the departure of the troop from this garrison to Dublin. Possibly the approaching separation was too much for one who felt "the course of true love never did run smooth," and hence the dreadful catastrophe.

NORTH AMERICA.

EMIGRANTS—Yesterday our streets were filled with emigrants, among the lanes—tradesmen of all descriptions—among them barbers, painters, and over 200 carpenters and masons. 1399 steerage, besides 250 cabin passengers, landed yesterday from the ports! The arrivals this week will exceed 5000. Our city is full of labourers and workmen. On the battery, this morning we counted 500 persons in whom were out of employment. We again advise that you, to go into the country, on the west side of the Hudson, from 30 to 160 miles from the river. There is abundance of fine land to be had cheap, and no fever and ague.—New York Paper.

We learn that within the last week eight hundred emigrants have arrived in this city, and that the situation is truly deplorable,—friendless and without the means of sustaining themselves from object of suffering, unless they can procure work. They cannot have come to our shores at a more unpropitious period.—Boston Pilot.

Flour is a drug in the market—Bread in Kingston sells at 8d. per 4lb loaf, while at Toronto it can be had for 5d.

STEAM-BOAT EXPLOSION—FIFTY-EIGHT LIVES LOST!

It becomes our painful duty to record one of the most distressing casualties which has occurred in the province since the introduction of steam on the Lawrence. The high-pressure steamer Shamrock while between Lachine and Point Claire, on her way to Kingston, about ten o'clock on Saturday morning burst her boiler, and her bows being blown out the explosion, she went down head foremost. There were on board of her at the time about 120 persons, whom 48 were taken up unhurt by three barges towed, and 18 were conveyed to the Montreal General Hospital wounded; 54 remain to be accounted for. Of the 18 conveyed to the Hospital, one has died under the amputation of both legs. The passengers were composed of English, Irish, and Scotch, whom the English are supposed to have suffered most, from being in the fore part of the boat. The first engineer, who was saved, declares that he had no other consciousness of the transaction than that the explosion took place, and that he afterwards found himself on board one of the barges, the interval between those events being to his mind a perfect blank. Much money is said to have been lost, the emigrants being of a superior description. Mr. Jones, the Coroner, repaired to the spot and proceeded to the wreck, which he found with the hind part of the stern alone above water. Suspecting that some bodies might be in the cabin, he caused it to be burst open, when the corpse of a female was drawn out. Shamrock belonged to Messrs. Atkinson, Mathie, & Co. of Montreal.

The accident was heard from Lachine; at least a number of persons remarked a vast irruption of smoke, and in a few seconds the disappearance of the vessel. The steamer Dolphin was at the time about half a mile in the rear of the Shamrock. The explosion was heard by those on board, and its effect perceived. The Captain dropped two barges which he had in tow and made all haste to carry succour. When the Dolphin reached the scene of disaster, the sight was appalling; the unfortunate steamer had disappeared, and the surface of the water was covered with living and dead bodies, the living clinging to fragments of the wreck, and to the sides of the barges, which remained unimpaired. By the mercy of God and crew of the Dolphin, about sixty persons of different ages and sexes were picked up. Of these about thirty are more or less injured, and about thirty, principally Irish, escaped unhurt. One old lady was found alive, floating on a feather bed, but her husband and seven children had perished.

The English immigrants had with them a very considerable capital and valuable personal property. The Indians on the opposite side of the lake are busy with the work of plunder, which, we trust, will be arrested by the police authority.

Since the above we have been furnished by the owners of the unfortunate steamer with a list of the number of passengers on board at the time of the accident, as well as with the names of those missing. Coverdale lost 6, Thackerry 2, Conner 2, Watson 2, Brickon 2, Huzill 1, Cousins 8, Johnson 2, M'Carthy 1, M'Williams 1, York 3, Pearson 9, Hanley 1, Richards 1, Wall 1, Ross 1, Rooney 1, Lark Peirson 1, James Ferguson 2, Bailey 3, All Joseph Ferguson 2, Smart 1. Total, 58 lost.

MEETING OF THE TOWN COUNCIL.

On Monday the quarterly meeting of this body, were all decked in the insignia of office, was held in the Council Chamber of the Exchange, the Mayor presiding in the chair.

The Clerk having read the minutes of the meeting,

Mr. Browne asked if the gold chain was yet given up, or if the books of the Corporation were given up.
