DEATHS:

Last Sunday, at O'Brien's Bridge, to the unfeigned grief of her family, and the sincere regret of her many highly respectable friends and connexions, Rebecca, relict of the late Robert Atkins Franks, Esq.—a lady who, during a long and useful life, evinced by her example a practical illustration of the moral and social virtues, edifying all within her influence, and harmonising with the letter and spirit of that blessed Gospel, which teaches the way to bliss everlasting.

At his lodgings, in Cork, Mr. Villars, upwards of twenty years a member of Mr. Seymour's dramatic establishment. As a man his conduct was marked by integrity; and he reared a talented family in respectability. As an actor, he was surpassed by few of his cotemporaries. As a painter he was equally celebrated. The Prompter (Death) has rung the bell—the curtain has fallen upon his performance, and the drama of life is ended.

At Clonfinen, Michael Prendergast, Esq.
At his house, Cullenswood Avenue, Ranelagh, Richard Cole, Esq. at the advanced age of 90 years.

Suddenly, at her aunt's, Rathmullan, Isabella, second daughter of James C. Ball, Esq. of Shannon.

He filled the office of High Sheriff for this County a few years since—the duties of which he discharged to the full satisfaction of the public. Under any circumstance the demise of this gentleman would have been a source of deep and lasting regret—how much more so when this bereavement to his family was sudden and unexpected. The domestic hearth acknowledged his kindness and affection. His friends have lost a true and sincere companion, and his tenantry, to whom he was endeared by his many estimable qualities of head and heart, deplore him as a kind indulgent landlord, and a strictly honorable man in every relation.
