MURDER.

On Sunday morning, as some boys were bathing in the Shannon, near the Gas-house fields, in this City, a dispute unhappily arose between two of them, which was followed by a trial of strength. A young man named Michael O'Neill, who was standing by, with a praiseworthy eagerness, rushed up to separate the combatants, in which he succeeded for the moment; they however came in contact again, and the said O'Neill having made another effort to prevent the fight, he was attacked by a man named Switzer, who drew out a case knife, deliberately opened it, and stabbed O'Neill in the abdomen, from the effects of which he died in a short time. Sir Richard Franklin M.D. was instantly on the spot, but all his efforts were unavailing. The brutal perpetrator of the act gazed with much apparent unconcern on the sufferings of his victim, and though the crowds who collected to the place expressed their strong disgust of the mis-creant's conduct, no violence was attempted, but with much good sense, they secured him, and handed him over to the Police authorities. What use such a weapon could be in the possession of any person, except for mischief, we know not, and the guilt of the fellow is much aggravated from the coolness of his feelings at the time, and the deliberation with which he committed the murder. We subjoin the evidence on the Inquest, from which it appears that no provocation whatever was given by O'Neill:—

THE INQUEST

Was held by James Bennett, Esq. Coroner, on the body of deceased, at his house, in Stokes' Lane, Boherbuoy, before the following jury:—Michael Creagh, Timothy M'Namara, John Meade, Thomas Wallace, Thomas Banks, John Brown, John Lane, John Dunn, James Lynch, James Creagh, John Barry, Thomas O'Keefe.

The first witness examined was John M'Namara, of Mallow-street, who stated, that on Sunday morning, the 18th June, about the hour of nine o'clock, he was in the Gas House fields, in this City, when he observed two boys fighting, whose names are unknown to him; when the said boys fought for some time, they were separated; after they were separated, they endeavoured to go to fight again, when examinant saw a boy named Henry Switzer, go up to one of the said boys, and lay hold of him; but whether it was to assist said boy, or take him away, informant does not know, when another lad named Michael O'Neill, (now deceased) went over to the said boy, who was held by Henry Switzer, and then the said Henry Switzer and the deceased began to pull one another about; Henry Switzer and Michael O'Neill were then parted by some boys, when immediately they both rescued themselves from the boys who were holding them, and rushed towards each other, whereupon Henry Switzer, on seeing Michael O'Neill coming close so him, pulled out a case knife, which examinant now identifies, having put his mark on it, and stabbed the said Michael O'Neill in the belly, when the said Michael O'Neill turned round to examinant, saying I am stuck, and on opening his trowsers, examinant saw his intestines.

John Long, of Edward-street, in the City of Limerick, being duly sworn on the Holy Evangelists, and examined, saith, that on Sunday morning, the 18th inst., examinant was in the gas-house fields; saw Henry Switzer strike Michael O'Neil with a knife in the belly; Michael O'Neil died shortly after.

Sir Richard Franklin, M.D., Member Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland, being duly sworn and examined, saith, that this morning about the hour of nine o'clock, examinant was called to visit Michael O'Neill, whom he found lying on the ground in the gas-house fields; he appeared extremely faint and weak; on examination he found that the said Michael O'Neill suffered from a very severe wound of the abdomen, and a great portion of his intestines protruded through the wound; examinant succeeded in returning into the abdomen the wounded and protruded intestines, and dressed the wound in the integuments; the said Michael O'Neill died from the effects of said wound in about an hour after he received it; the wound was inflicted with a sharp instrument.

The following verdict was returned:—We find that the said Michael O'Neil came by his death from a stab of a knife he received from Henry Switzer on the morning of the 18th June, in the gas-house fields in the City of Limerick.
