The Rev. Mr. Clark, of Perth, was awarded one shilling damages against Mr. Warben, for slander.
Mrs. Gilmore, the female who was brought from America for the murder of her husband, by poison, in Scotland, was tried at Edinburgh on Saturday. Verdict—"Not proven," which is tantamount to an acquittal; she was consequently discharged.
Mr. Bromley, the eminent solicitor and law pleader of Grays Inn, is a bankrupt. His liabilities exceed £150,000.
Mr. Stephenson, clerk of St. Margaret's vestry, Westminster, fell dead from his chair on Monday, when reading the parochial minutes.
Two Irishmen named Burke and Molloy, are committed for the murder of a man named Pople, at Jersey.

DUBLIN, JANUARY 19.
A most important meeting was held yesterday at the residence of the Earl of Charlemont, Rutland-square. The object was to consider the course most judicious to be adopted in the present state of Ireland. There were fifty liberal Noblemen and Gentlemen present, among whom the Duke of Leinster, Marquis Clanricarde, Marquis of Kildare, Earl of Charlemont, Earl of Leitrim, Earl of Meath, Earl of Miltown, Viscount Acheson, Lord Stuart de Decies, &c. It was resolved that a petition to Parliament should be prepared, setting forth the leading grievances of the country, among which the state of the representation, the "abuses of the Church establishment" the oppressive and unequal amount of taxation to which this country is subject. A petition embodying the above views was adopted and entrusted to the Marquis of Clanricarde for presentation in the Lords and to Mr. Wyllyer, M.P. for the House of Commons.
Mr. Holbrook, a quondam Orangeman, but recently a violent and enthusiastic admirer of Daniel O'Connell and, of course, a thorough Repealer, has deemed it due to his character to repudiate the impeachment of being a traitor. Still the question recurs, who is the traitor? for that there is treason in the Repeal camp there can be very little doubt.
It is generally said that a scampish, characterless fellow is now actually in the Castle, as evidence for the Crown, and that he is the son of an active repealer in Dublin. One of the Castle birds is an arrant rascal, who commenced by disgracing an honest father, and finished by selling a monstrous nothing to the Crown for a good round sum.—Cork Examiner.

Grand Fancy and Full Dress Ball.

A FANCY and FULL DRESS BALL is to take place on FRIDAY, the 16th of FEBRUARY next, under the patronage and on the responsibility of LODGE 13, the profits of which are to be appropriated to the support of BARRINGTONS' HOSPITAL. The same principles which governed former Balls, held under the auspices of Lodge 13, and which gave so much satisfaction to the Public, will regulate the forthcoming Assembly; and THE LODGE pledges itself for the respectability of all to whom Tickets may issue on this occasion.
Members of the Order are to appear in Masonic costume, and are to pay 12s. 6d. each, for their Tickets. Gentlemen who are not Masons, are to pay 7s. 6d. each, and are requested to wear fancy dresses.
Ladies' Tickets are to issue at 5s. each, and their holders are respectfully requested to appear in fancy dresses also.
Masks or objectionable characters not admitted.
THE LODGE confidently hopes that the interesting but languishing Charity to which the profits of the Ball are to be applied, will obtain for it the generous support of the public; and THE LODGE also trusts that no other Assembly or Party may be appointed for the night on which the Ball is to take place.
Tickets to be obtained from the Lodge Committee each day, at the MASONIC HALL, HENRY-STREET, between 12 and 2 o'clock, until WEDNESDAY, the 14th February, after which day no Ticket will issue.
GEORGE A. DARTNELL, Secretary, 13, Limerick, Jan. 20.

THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 20.
In the House of Commons, Viscount Clive, the member for North Shropshire, will move the address in answer to her Majesty's speech; and Mr. Cardwell, member for Clitheroe, will be the seconder.
Mr. Smith O'Brien, M.P., left this day for Dublin, to attend the next weekly meeting of the Repeal Association.
Major Macnamara, M.P. has left Doolen, county Clare, for London, to attend his Parliamentary duties.
With the majority of Upper Canada Sir Charles Metcalfe, the Governor, is certain to be supported; but with that of Lower Canada his success is very doubtful. The people there are obstinate and disaffected. Mr. Killaly, the celebrated engineer, retains his appointment as Chairman of the Board of Works, but without a seat in the Provincial Parliament or in the Council.
Captain Hastings, Collector of Customs, has received a communication from the Lords of the Treasury, requiring him to expedite the arrangements for transferring the Post-office business to that establishment. The Collector, we presume, as a matter of course, will be allowed for the rent of a private residence, away from the Custom-house.
The Lord Chief Baron will preside at the ensuing Munster Assizes. It will be his first appearance on the bench in this circuit, since his elevation to the ermine. Cheyne Brady, Esq. 19, Holles-street, Dublin, is Registrar to his lordship.
The Land Commissioners will not adjourn their inquiries for the whole Session of Parliament, but until March, and they will in that month or the next proceed on their circuit through Ireland.
There was a cargo of teas direct from Canton sold at Belfast this week at 1s 2d to 1s 5 1/2d per lb. according to quality. The trade purchased all.
Mr. Slade, of Sligo, the new police magistrate, is married to a niece of Lady De Grey.
A farmer named Guiry, who resides near Newcastle, shot an eagle in the wing, and had great trouble in capturing this royal bird, as it was only wounded.
Three large boxes of salmon were seized by the Water Bailiffs of the River Lee Fishery Association, when about to be shipped on board the steamer at Cork for London.
A school-master and school mistress are wanted for the Nenagh workhouse.

accusing, the alarming tendency and effect of which he said, he was prepared to establish in evidence by those who had been witnesses of the popular demonstrations. Unquestionably, nothing whatever can better illustrate the true meaning and temper of such vast living masses, repeatedly convoked in different parts of Ireland, under colour of a constitutional privilege, the assertion of the right to petition (but from whom, it is a singular fact, that petition to Queen or Parliament never emanated,) than the remarks and observations which fell from those present, immediately at, and after the harangues addressed to them.
The Attorney-General concluded his opening address at five o'clock on the second day, as the Court rose. On Thursday last, three Government reporters, from the other side of the water, were examined by the Crown to sustain the prosecution, by reading from their notes the speeches delivered, and describing the organised appearance and character of the meetings they had attended. Mr. Ross, one of the three, was again under examination yesterday, from the sitting to the rising of the Court.
We have given eleven columns of the proceedings, at bar, so far as they are gone. The speech of the Attorney-General is a fair summary of the whole case.

George Lloyd, Esq. Magistrate of the district, Mr. Duncan, Sub-inspector, and 28 of the Police proceeded on Wednesday with Michael Bentley, collector of poor-rates, and his drivers, for protection, to the electoral division of Kiltannonlea, and continued their route through the electoral divisions of Kiltannonlea, Kilkennedy, and Kilscealy, when the collector distrained several townlands, in many instances had to load corn on the car, and to remove moveable effects as the people had fled with their stock. Great opposition was given, doors being locked and fastened to prevent the collector distraining. Much credit is due to Mr. Lloyd, Mr. Duncan, Sub-Inspector, and the Police force, for their effective assistance on this and former occasions.
Ann Leslie, wife of the second lock-keeper at the canal, was found drowned this morning near the bridge, having fallen in yesterday, by a slip down the bank side, when carrying bread to her family.
The Limerick and Ennis Coach Company have got a very handsome coach built for the conveyance of passengers from Limerick to Ennis. The front part of this vehicle is a very comfortable coach body, to carry six passengers; the after part is omnibus like, to carry 14, all inside. This vehicle has been built expressly for the purpose by Messrs. Bourne and Hartley, at their factory, Black Pitts, Dublin. It is exceedingly neat, and lightly constructed—painted a bright olive, with the Limerick arms on the top quarter panels of the body, all the fittings being trimmed and finished in a superior manner. This vehicle will take the road on Monday next, leaving this every afternoon at half-past 3, and Ennis at 7, in the forenoon.

The inhabitants of Kilkee will experience a loss in the promotion of their esteemed pastor, Rev. J. H. Allen, to Doonass. The Lord Bishop of Killaloe, in the most handsome manner, and unsolicited, has presented the Rev. gentleman to that living, in testimony of his pious and exemplary bearing, as a minister of the diocese. The Rev. Mr. Martin comes back to Kilkee from Corofin. Mr. Allen is greatly regretted by all parties, Protestants as well as Roman Catholics, on his departure.
Ordinations to be holden—Sunday January 21, Bishop of Tuam; Sunday January 28, Bishop of Norwich; Sunday March 3, Bishop of London; Bishop of Lincoln; Bishop of Peterborough; Bishop of Ripon; and Bishop of Salisbury.
The Rev. Godfrey Massy acknowledges the receipt of Fifteen Pounds for Adelaide School, from the Board of Trinity College, by the Rev. Doctor Mac-Donnell, S.F.T.C.D. being £10 donation for the building and £5 annual subscription towards the maintenance of the school. This does this noble University fulfil the object of its institution, not only communicating the very best instruction to the higher orders of society throughout Ireland, but also availing herself of opportunity to expend, as far as practicable, the same blessed advantages to the humbler classes in every parish where the College has property. When contemplating such a noble, generous, and parental solicitude for the general welfare of society, what dutiful son of the University can forbear following so bright an example and fervently praying:—"Alma mater, esto perpetua."

The Rev. Godfrey Massy acknowledges the receipt of eight pounds from Mrs. Collis, for Listowel Branch of the Protestant Orphan Society.
The Cork Protestant Orphan Society elected ten, out of 56 candidates, on its foundation last year.—There are now 152 orphans in the establishment, and the income for 1843 was £938. Five orphans were elected this week out of 25.
The Most Rev. Dr. Crolly, R. C. Primate of Ireland, has arrived at the College of Maynooth.
The Rev. D. Lyddy, P.P. has opened a subscription for building a Chapel at Abbeyfeale, Richard Ellis, Esq. having given a site for the edifice.
The Rt. Rev. Dr. Brown presided at the Galway Roman Catholic aggregate meeting, on Sunday, to condemn the removal of Roman Catholics from the State jury panel in Dublin. The chairman denounced the Queen's law officers as "the bigoted and hireling instruments of a hostile government."
The Rev. Dr. Cahill is lecturing at the Waterford Mechanics Institute.

In Jessie J. D. Croker v. Orpen Townsend, the Queen's Bench has decided against the ejectment of the lands of Ardully, Kerry, in which a valuable mine was found, two verdicts being previously had at Tralee Assizes for the plaintiff as landlord, who is now upset by the superior Court.
Mr. J. Hanley, the contractor, has reported the new court-house at Nenagh to be finished, and ready for public use.
John Toole, servant of the Rev. Mr. Roche, P.P. of Rathfarham, is arrested on suspicion of the murder of the Priest's housekeeper, and the robbery (detailed in our last.) It appears after driving his master to Killikee, the seat of Col. White, he was absent for three hours, and could not account for himself.
James Johnston, Esq. of Ballywoollen, Killisheg, accompanied by Mr. Patterson, of Anahilt, was returning home from a ploughing-match at Florida, Antrim, when their gig capsized over a precipice, and they were hurled to the bottom. Mr. Johnston was killed instantaneously, and the gentleman who was along with him is not expected to survive.
Mr. Longfield, son of the Rev. M. Longfield, is appointed Curator of the Cork Agricultural Museum. Attention is particularly requested to the extract from the Report submitted at the late annual general meeting of "The Standard Life Assurance Company," held on the 13th Dec. 1843.—See Advertisement.

inspected at Cork, by Col. York. Major-General Carey is still suffering from severe illness.
The general dress worn at the grand ball for the Cork Lying-in Hospital, was of Limerick lace. The officers of the Artillery, Queen's Bays, 30th, 56th, and 74th Regiments were present, besides all the Naval officers at Cove.
Lieut. Col. H. D. Jones, R.E. has reported that there is no serious obstacle to the Blackwater river being made navigable from Lismore to Fermoy. He estimates the survey of the line at but £150.

A most elegant dejeune was given on Thursday last on board her Majesty's war steamer, Tartarus, stationed at the Pool, by the officers of that vessel, to upwards of one hundred of the gentry of this City. The gallant hosts of the Tartarus and Comet received their company with that cordial frankness and hilarity of manner so natural to the British tar; and the entertainment was furnished with a degree of taste and excellence, in every particular, for which the Royal Navy is so long celebrated. The fair guests had the additional gratification of music and dancing, and the festivities continued until evening. The vessel was arranged quite as a ball-room, with a roof composed of the flags of our Foreign allies. The excitement, from the dancing, conviviality, and sparkling champagne, made all on board forget their floating position on the vasty deep.
Admiral Sir J. H. Whithed, Bart. G. C. B. is appointed Admiral of the Fleet, vice Admiral Sir C. E. Nugent, deceased.
The daughter of Captain Nott, R.N., is elected on the foundation of the Royal Naval Benevolent Society. Admiral Lake is nominated Vice-President, in room of the late Admiral Sir Graham Moore.
One hundred and five men and four officers of the Royal Marines arrived at Wexford, on Friday, from Spike Island. The commanding officer is Capt. Logan.
Private Knowles, Woolwich division Royal Marines, is to be tried by Court Martial for striking a non-commissioned officer.

MASONIC BALL.—We have great pleasure in referring our fair readers to our columns of this day, as the Grand Masonic Ball, under the distinguished patronage of Lodge 13, appears amongst the advertisements. It is only necessary for us to make this announcement, to afford the admirers of everything recherche the purest satisfaction and delight, and as the Committee pledge themselves to devote their attention to the forthcoming Assembly, we feel confident that our most sanguine anticipations will be realised; and in addition the Committee have announced that the proceeds of the Ball will be devoted to the support of Barringtons' Hospital, an institution both in point of utility and importance which has the strongest claims on public sympathy.

The Tralee guardians have recommended seven landlords, seven middlemen, and seven tenants, for examination before the Landlord and Tenant commission.
John Kennedy was killed by falling down the stairs of a public-house on Monday in Toomavara.
The Repeal agitators of Tipperary are striving to get up a meeting at Cashel, for Monday next, to nominate a candidate in their interest for the county representation.

MR. SMITH O'BRIEN.—At the Repeal Association meeting, this week, a letter from Mr. W. Smith O'Brien, M.P. dated Cahernoyle, was read by Mr. Maurice O'Connell, M.P. who pronounced a liberal panegyric on the writer. Mr. O'Brien urges, that as the meeting of Parliament is near at hand, the Irish Repeal members ought to adopt a course of action to promote the national (quere Roman Catholic) cause, and select the advice of Mr. O'Connell, as to an early attendance in Parliament. The writer adds:—"For my own part I will not refuse.—If such be the desire of my constituents to proceed again to London, there to witness another gladiator combat between the two great English parties who will be brought into collision for the purpose of ascertaining whether the ministerial majority has been reduced by misgovernment in Ireland; but I think it due to candour to say that from such a conflict I expect little advantage. With reference to my own vote, and intervention in debate, I feel so convinced of my inability to serve Ireland in the British Parliament that I should at once abandon the representation of the county of Limerick if I did not believe, that the public station which I hold may possibly give greater weight to my exertions in support of our national rights than I should possess as a private individual. It is, however, my deliberate conviction that our constitutional battle can be more effectively fought in Ireland than in England. The course which I would suggest is as follows:—Summon to your assistance those amongst our ranks, whether members of Parliament, or others, who are most conspicuous for intelligence, experience, and legal knowledge. Let them be divided into committees, and to such committees let the consideration of the various subjects which can influence our national welfare be assigned. Let these committees report upon the several topics submitted to them. Let such reports be published, in order that they may be fully discussed in the national press. After the lapse of a certain interval let the substance of the recommendations contained in them be submitted by way of resolution, or as 'heads of a bill,' to the Repeal Association, in order that they may be finally adopted or rejected. Before the commencement of another session let these resolutions be embodied in a memorial to the Queen, and laid at the foot of the throne."
At the last examination in Trinity College our fellow-citizen, Mr. Charles R. Barry, (eldest son of James Barry, Esq.) has again distinguished himself, having obtained honors of the first order.
Mr. R. Keayes, Treasurer to Barringtons' Hospital, thankfully acknowledges the donation of £3 3s. from Reuben Harvey, Esq. for the use of that charity, and £1 1s. from Frederick Hobart, Esq.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE.
Permit me to contradict a paragraph which appeared in a Limerick paper of the 18th inst. stating in effect, that two members of the Society of Friends attended the meeting held in Michael's parish Chapel on the 15th inst. for the purpose of petitioning the Queen, &c. Such a statement is incorrect, and hereby receives an unqualified contradiction.
I remain, &c.
A MEMBER OF THE SOCIETY OF FRIENDS.

next lecture on Chemistry, at the Philosophical Society house.
O'Connor Don and More O'Ferrall have subscribed to the resolutions of the Roman Catholic aggregate meeting held in Dublin, upon the special jury panel. Mass was offered up on Sunday in most of the Chapels in Ireland, for the safety of Mr. O'Connell pending the state trials.

MR. HUGHES'S CIRCUS.—Language must fail to convey a true picture of the variety and character of the performances at this elegant scene of public amusement. Prose, however copious and expressive—poetry, though brilliant, charming, and fanciful—are equally deficient to represent the delightful emotions which beam in every countenance, and so often find relief, from pure intensity, in spontaneous bursts of admiration at the unparalleled feats of man and horse, under a series of the most attractive changes that nature is capable of, within that magic circus, upon which the eyes of all visitors are nightly rivetted with untrifling pleasure. The whole spectacle is one of dazzling interest to the beholder, and the house, in beautiful and tasteful decorations, is, of itself, an object of curiosity; but when the interior is illuminated with a flood of sparkling gas jets, which irradiate the entire circle, showing the vast gallery with its multitude of human heads, the handsome dress and side boxes, the pit and compartments enclosing the arena, or stage, and the aerial music gallery, which, Olympus-like, crowns the noble structure, breathing notes of delicious harmony, the tout ensemble, is beyond all description, superlatively grand.
The officers of the Tartarus steamer, favoured with their patronage the Circus on Tuesday night, and on Wednesday the company had two crowded performances at Croom. The officers of the 15th patronised on Thursday night, with equal success, and last night was a bumper too. This day Mr. Hughes gives two performances at Bruff, and next Monday comes out at the Circus with an entire change, introducing the splendid melodrama of Timour the Tartar, and other novelties, which the bills only can particularise.
