... amount of sixteen pounds, which had been
... removed from Myles's; he subsequently examined Mr.
... Quinlan's house to ascertain how the powder was ... conveyed into his cellar from Mr. Myles, Mr. Quinlan
... having told him it was done without his knowledge; he
... observed that a hole had been broken in a door which
... separated the yards, and thinks it was through
... it the powder was conveyed to Quinlan's cellar.
... Mr. Williams said, on a rough calculation, one hundred ... and twenty pounds weight of gunpowder was dis-
... covered, and observed that concealing the powder in Mr.
... Quinlan's cellar was the worst feature in the transaction,
... for it might have remained there, if the fire extended,
... until the house burnt down, and must thereby cause a ter-
... rible explosion. In order to prove the powder was the ... property of Mr. Myles, Mr. Williams produced an order
... from him, through Mr. William F. Byron, in four hours
... after the occurrence, to give him 4lbs. of blasting
... powder.

... Mr. Thomas Glover, who was one of the first at the ... scene of danger, proved that when he called upon Mr.
... Myles to give him up the powder in the house, he did
... so—there was some of it in the shop, more up stairs
... in a bed-room, and the rest in jars and canisters in the
... shop; the powder found by Mr. Williams in his posses-
... sion, belonged to Mr. Myles, and was after being re-
... moved from the concerns.

... Mr. James Morris affirmed, that shortly after four ... o'clock, on Thursday morning, he was called by his ... wife, who told him that she believed there was a fire in
... James Myles's house; he got up, and before he left his ... own house made arrangements for the supply of ... water; on going into the street, he saw young
... Glover coming out of Myles's with powder on his ... back, which induced him to go into the house, but
... could scarcely see anything with smoke; he returned
... to the street, to have the fire plug prepared for
... against the engine would arrive; on entering the house
... a second time, he saw a cupboard on fire in the par-
... lour, which was only partitioned off from the shop; the ... cupboard was about 20 feet from the safe, where a
... quantity of the powder was found; some hasty words
... passed between Mr. Williams and Mr. Glover, but he ... should say much credit was due to Mr. Glover, for he
... inspired every one with confidence when he brought
... out the powder; shortly after the fire Mr. Quinlan told
... him that some of the Myles' people had been in his
... house, and that a cask and 3 jars of powder had been ... found in the cellar; on inspecting the premises he (Mr.
... Morris) conceived that the communication between the ... yards, and the exigency of the crisis obliged Mr. Myles'
... friends to convey the powder through a hole in the
... panel of a door, from whence it was removed to the ... cellar underneath; he could scarcely stand in the room
... where the fire was, the apartment was so hot.

... Mr. James Cavanagh having been aroused by the ... watchmen, took the precaution in the first instance, to
... knock up the gunpowder venders in the vicinity, four
... of whom are quite contiguous; he saw the fire in Mr.
... Myles' back parlour, and subsequently the powder
... which Mr. Glover brought out; he also saw the powder
... found at Mr. Quinlan's.

... Mr. Vokes said he might here observe that, in ... consequence of the inconvenience complained of
... by the gunpowder venders of the City, for want of
... a depot, he had made every exertion to procure a safe
... and suitable place, but from the opposition of the people
... resident in every quarter he went to, he could not suc-
... ceed. In order to obviate all difficulties, he decided
... on allotting a slated house of his own at Rhabane, for
... that purpose, and sent to all the venders to acquaint
... them that they should have the use of it, with a very
... careful man, a pensioner at 1s. 8d. a-day, to take ... charge of it, the expense to each vender not to exceed
... £1 a-year. Since then he never heard from one of ... them, nor was a grain of powder lodged there.

... Mr. Strong—Yes, Mr. Vokes, I assented to it.
... Mr. Vokes—I forgot, it is due to your character to ... state that you did assent to it, and always complied with
... our directions. It is a slated house, within seven minutes
... walk of the town, and it was in order to protect and
... satisfy my fellow-citizens, I gave it.

... Mr. W. Roche said that notwithstanding all their ex-
... ertions, they had only "scotched the snake not killed it."
... As magistrates it was their duty to endeavour to ... keep the citizens from danger, the only remedy for
... which was to have the sale of this inflammable matter
... committed solely to some general depot or magazine,
... and place it under the controul of a responsible officer.
... (Hear.) Mr. Roche adverted to the awful consequences
... likely to have resulted to the public on this occasion,
... and suggested the propriety of memorializing the Lord
... Lieutenant on the subject.

... Every magistrate present concurred in the same
... views, and censured the gunpowder venders of the city
... for having in their concerns more than the quantity
... allowed by the Bench.

... Miss Catherine Fielding proved that Mr. Edw. Walsh
... desired her to show him the way to Mr. Quinlan's yard,
... which she did; heard him speak to some one in Myles's
... place, and ask how would he get in; the person he spoke
... to desired him break the door, which he did; saw him
... bring out three jars and a canvass bag, which he told
... her was powder, but that there was no danger; the
... powder was left on the stairs when she saw it; the fire
... was not then extinguished, nor was there ever a com... munication between the houses before.

... Thomas Ryan, Mr. Vokes' gate-keeper, proved that ... he noticed all the venders about the opening of the ... powder depot at Rhabane; Mr. Strong was the first he ... went to, who told him he was very glad of it, desiring
... him to communicate it to the others, which he did.

... Head Constable Daly stated, that he last made search
... at Mr. Myles's, about a fortnight ago, and examined
... every hole and corner, but did not find anything over
... the quantity allowed; he had to report Mr. Myles
... before, and was of opinion that the powder found on
... Thursday, was concealed when he last searched the ... premises. In answer to a question from the Bench,
... the Head Constable stated, that he did not search
... apartments occupied by lodgers, having received direc-
... tions to that effect from the Magistrates.

... Mr. James Myles was then called. He said, he should
... plead guilty to the charge of having the powder in his
... concern, not being aware of so much, adding that he
... had two orders in his possession to transmit 20lb. to
... Mr. O'Brien, of the slate quarry, Killaloe.

... Mr. Spaight proposed the withdrawal of writing to the ... license, and suggested the propriety of writing to the
... Lord Lieutenant to ascertain if any other punishment
... could be inflicted for infringing the law.

... Mr. Roche read the draft of a memorial to the Lord
... Lieutenant on the subject, the adoption of which was
... seconded by Mr. Spaight, and unanimously agreed to.

... The final order of the court was that the venders shall ... not be allowed to have on their premises more than 12
... lbs. of gunpowder; that the Head Constable shall search
... most rigidly every portion of their premises, pursuant to
... the Lord Lieutenant's warrant, without any exception;
... that the memorial of Mr. Wm. Roche be unanimously
... adopted and forwarded, and that Mr. Vokes' proposal to ... provide a temporary depot at Rhabane, for all the
... gunpowder venders, be approved of.

... against the former pro-
