

THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE.

on fishery in the bay of Nigg, the property of Aberdeen, is let on a lease of seven years, at a rent of £744, while the same fishing thirty years ago only brought £10 per annum!

A well-dressed man, calling himself William O'Connell, Esq. of Dublin, was on Monday, committed to gaol for three months, on a charge of extorting money from young girls.

Members of Liverpool had a crowded meeting at the Rooms, on Sunday evening, at which resolutions of sympathy with O'Connell and his fellow-repealers were agreed to, after which £68 was subscribed for the promotion of the cause.

Mr. G. M. M. gave a concert at the Theatre on the evening of Eton Montem, and was successful in his carpet-bag, containing clothes, music, and property value £12.

A jury, at Surrey sessions, made a presentment on the present improved mode of administering public justice of the country, the institution of which is now not only unnecessary, but dangerous to the public interest.

DUBLIN, JUNE 11.

The Counsel for the Repeal traversers are to proceed to London, to co-operate with the English during the argument on the Writ of Error in the House of Lords.

A petition is in progress of signature to assemble at Meath, for the purpose of addressing the Government.

A Conservative house in Dawson-street, has been handed over to the Reform Club, on the condition that the finances of the Conservatives are fully to be the responsibility.

Edward Nangle preaches at St. George's Sunday, for the distressed Protestants.

Some of the 11th Hussars play twice a-week in the Green, opposite Earl Cardigan's mansion.

Mr. Robert Gray is not satisfied that Mr. Robert Gray relieve himself of the charges preferred by that Print, and that the rules of the Bench will not permit the World to give a verdict against Mr. Wilson, until November.

Mr. Maclean, of Westmorland, is in custody for embezzling £100 of his employer's money which he got to lodge in bank.

T OF QUEEN'S BENCH.—MONDAY.

Queen v. Daniel O'Connell and others.

Mr. Attorney-General, have you any objection to move?

Mr. Attorney-General—There is a motion, my lord, in the Queen v. O'Connell and others, but I do not know whether it is intended to move it or not; the gentlemen at the other side state their intention of doing so, my friend, the Solicitor-General, moves upon behalf of the crown.

Mr. O'Loughlen—I believe that Mr. White (with me) does not mean to argue the case, but to allow the demurrers to go by default, and an assignment has been, in fact, argued and allowed in the motion on the plea of abatement. Under the circumstances, we will not trespass upon the Court's time.

Mr. Attorney-General—In that case, then, there will be no objection for the crown, affirming the decision of the Court.

Mr. Justice—Precisely so.

The case was then allowed to drop, and almost all the cases in the case left court.

Mr. Justice (addressing the Solicitor-General) in the case of the Queen v. O'Connell and others, the case seems to have passed sub silentio here.

The Court then proceeded to hear new trial motions, and dismissed the case.

FUNERAL OF THE MAYOR.

As stated in our last, the funeral of the late Chief Magistrate, Pierce Shannon, Esq. was public. At five o'clock on Monday morning, the mortal remains of the Mayor were removed from his residence at Corbally, to the Parish Chapel of St. Patrick, which was hung in mourning drapery for the occasion, and the coffin was laid in the nave or centre aisle. At ten o'clock the Roman Catholic Clergy of the diocese assembled in the sacristy, where they robed, and proceeded to the body of the chapel, followed by the Right. Rev. Dr. Ryan, R.C.B. in pontifical attire. The chapel was crowded to excess, but decorum prevailed, and the ceremony of an office and high mass for the departed was performed. At 11 o'clock, the procession being formed, extending from Clare-street to the Turnpike, the coffin, covered with black velvet was conveyed to the hearse at the Chapel gate. At a quarter past eleven the cavalcade moved in the following order:—

St. Patrick's Temperance Society, with banners muffled in black crape; St. Mary's Temperance Society; St. Mary's Friendly co-operative Society; St. John's Society; the Victuallers Society; Mungret-street Society; St. Michael's Parochial Society; St. Munchins Society; St. Dominick's Society; St. John's Branch Society; St. Francis Society; the Bee Society; the girls of the Sisters of Mercy Schools, neatly attired; the boys of the Christian brothers school with black rosettes. The Roman Catholic clergy, two abreast, in their sacerdotal robes, and college caps, chanting the funeral service, which was read by their Bishop—this novel spectacle had an extraordinary effect on all eyes, but we shall say nothing more about it. The banner bearers of the congregated trades guarded the clergymen on both sides. The hearse bearing the coffin, drawn by six black horses. Chief Mourners—Mr. P. A. Shannon, (son of deceased), Mr. Russell, of Charleville, (son-in-law of deceased), and his nephew, Mr. Pierce Shannon, of Miltown; the relatives and friends of deceased; the medical attendants, Doctors W. Griffin, and Wm. Geary, with scarfs and hat bands; also Surgeon O'Shaughnessy; nine Protestant clergymen, three abreast, with scarfs and hat bands. The members of the Corporation, in scarlet robes, with black crape on the hat and arm, preceded by the Constables, Serjeants at Mace, Sword bearer, and High Constable. The silver maces were covered with crape. The citizens followed in similar order, and the Trades of the City, with crape scarfs and hat bands, displaying the Repeal button in the coat breast; a number of private equipages closed the procession. It was half-past two o'clock before the funeral arrived at St. Munchin's church. The procession was from St. Patrick's Chapel, Clare-street, Lock-quay, Broad-street, John's-square, Cornwallis-street, Boherbuoy, Colony-street, by the Military Walk, to the Crescent, George's-street, Patrick-street, Rutland-street, Bank-place, Charlotte's-quay, Mary-street, Nicholas-street, and thence to St. Munchin's church-yard.

The shops were closed in the streets through which it passed, and every demonstration of public regret was exhibited. The chapel bells continued tolling, with those of the Cathedral, until the remains of him who was through life admired for his private virtues, were deposited in the family vault, amidst the universal regret of all who knew him. The usual prayers, by the R. C. church, for the dead were offered by the clergymen in the church-yard, and notwithstanding the immense multitude assembled order and regularity prevailed, a strong police force having been stationed at the gate, and none but the relatives and friends of the deceased, the clergy and corporation, were permitted to enter.

Saturday night some persons effected an entrance by the stable lane at the rear into the shop of Mr. James Guerin, George's street, forced open a desk, and

Two companies, and head quarters, with the colours of the 61st, under Major M'Leary, arrived yesterday morning for Cork. They were accompanied by the band of the 15th Regt. and accompanied by a number of people, who cheered them at parting.

Capt. Barlow and Ward's companies of the 15th Regt. garrison arrived at Cork this day, and the Tipperary, under Capt. Jones, marched to Cork.

The first company of the 30th, under Brevet Major Geddes, with Lieut. O'Grady, arrived into the Castle barracks, yesterday, from the 15th Regt.

This morning the head-quarters of the 15th Regt. moved, under Lt. Col. Slade, with band and baggage, to left Cork for this garrison, and will arrive at the depot, Lt.-Col. Garrett, 46th, left Boyle street, London.

Ensign and Quarter-Master Cartmail, of the 83d, has exchanged with Quinlan, of the 83d.

Col. Cator, R.A. and family, have arrived in Cork.

A young subaltern of the 15th was fined for Police-office on Monday, for having assaulted a woman in the St. Michael's watch in the streets the day before.

Lieut.-Col. F. Maunsell, 85th, has extended his leave to November, when he will embark to join the 15th in the West Indies.

The first division of the 56th from Fermoy arrived in Kilkenny this day, to replace the 60th Rifles, who are to Cork to embark for India. The 56th consists of two companies, one at Carrick-on-Suir, and Castlecomer.

The first division of the 60th from Kilkenny, under Capt. Aldridge, arrived at Fermoy this day.

Major-General William Dickson, C. B. has arrived in Cheltenham, with his brother, Lieut.-Colonel Dickson.

The 11th Regt. at Athlone, is to furnish a detachment for Australia, in succession to the 58th, the 11th of which embarked for New South Wales.

The band of the 11th Regt. attended King's College, Athlone. The winning horses were—(Rifle Brigade) Tigress, beating Lt. Baillie's (Rifles) Robber; Lt. Brown's (Rifles) Archer, beating Capt. Reynard's (Rifles) Kate; and a private Knight won a flat race from several officers of the 11th Regt. and Rifle Brigade.

Recruiting for the Army is to be transferred to the hands of the Staff Captains and Pensioners, and this alteration restoring a number of effective men to the ranks of their Regiments. Mr. Tulloch will superintend the entire establishment.

If the appointment of Staff Officer of the 11th is held by a Major, his daily pay is 22s. including Half-pay, Lodging, and Command money. If a Captain, it is 19s. 6d. per diem, and Staff pay is paid from 12s. 6d. to 13s. 6d. a day. At all stations the rate of daily pay is increased.

A plan is in agitation for sending to the Colonies one entire regiment annually, to enable the Commander-in-Chief to relieve the garrisons per year in India.

Capt. Grady, son of Henry Deane Grady, is to be shortly lead to the hymeneal altar Miss Grady, a wealthy heiress.

Major Dillon, late of the 18th, or 19th, is amongst the arrivals at Kilkee, this season.

Colonel Valiant, 40th, Mrs. Valiant has arrived in London from India.

The Depots of the 2d, 3d, 13th, 40th, and 53d, are given 300 volunteers to the 53d, 60th, and 68th, to India.

The first division of the 5th Dragoon Regiment arrived at Manchester. The 5th are to be stationed in Manchester, and one at Burnley.

The 68th Depot arrived at Dover from India, musters 300 rank and file.