...Athlone, have taken the field with the Glyndon dog hounds in that neighbourhood. Capt. Briscoe was in at the death, after the first day's meet, and a run of eight miles in 40 minutes.
The senior Lieutenant of the 40th is promoted, without purchase, to a company in the 29th, vacant by Capt. Durbin's death.
Major Thompson, C.B., late of the Bengal Army, recently appointed Recruiting officer for the East India Company at Cork, is considered the writer of the article deprecating the re-introduction of flogging into the Indian Native Armies. The article is creditable to that officer's feelings and good sense.
Surgeon Nelson, R.A., has left Woolwich for Rathangan, on leave.
The sergeant-major of the Reserve 45th, is promoted to an Ensigny, without purchase.
Major-General Napier, Governor of Guernsey, is organising a cavalry corps, which will be composed of 50 or 60 men. Government will provide all that is necessary to equip the troopers, a la militaire.
The Adjutant of the 39th is promoted to a company in the 86th, vacant by Capt. Halliday's death.
Major Seymour, 23d, or Royal Welch Fusiliers, sold out of the Service on Tuesday.
Lieut. W. Purnell, 90th, has arrived in London, from the service companies at Ceylon, to join the Depot in Clonmel, and of which he is appointed Adjutant.
A Sergeant of the 40th is promoted to an Ensigny in that Regiment.
James Mason, a retired pensioner, who had been field bugler to the 79th at Waterloo, died at Edinburgh, and was buried on Thursday with military honors by the 87th, Major-General Sir Neil Douglas, late 79th, attending the cavalcade.
Lt. Tupper, 7th Fusiliers, has arrived from Gibraltar. The companies vacant by death in the 29th and 86th, have been given to old Subalterns of other corps.
The Hon. William Ross Touchet, brother of Lord Audley, and late an officer of the 90th, was tried on Wednesday in London for firing at and wounding, with intent to kill, Thomas Smith, proprietor of a shooting gallery, in High Holborn. The act of discharging a duelling pistol at deceased in the back, without any provocation, was clearly proved, but the prisoner's counsel entered a plea of insanity, which was supported by the evidence of Lord Audley, Dr. Munro, and others. The jury acquitted the prisoner on this ground, but the court ordered that he should remain in custody, until moved to an asylum.
The Cyclops, war steamer, Capt. Lapidge, R.N. will continue on the Tarbert station during the winter.
The Alban steamer, Lieut. Commander Lowe, has arrived at Tarbert, from Cork.
The Hecate, steam-ship, Commander Bower, has left Tarbert for Galway bay.
Extract of a letter from Devonport:—"The Flamer is refitting, a new lower deck and entire caulking. She looked well on coming into harbour, very clean; she is expected to return to Ireland. Eclair steam sloop, going to coast of Africa; Resistance troop ship, to Cork; no ships fitting out, but many preparing."
MR. STEELE—This gentleman has left town to inspect the works on the Lower Shannon, and to pay a visit at Birefield, to his friend Cornelius O'Brien, Esq. M.P. for Clare. Mr. Steele will return to Limerick on Tuesday.
Our anticipation of this day week is verified, and the O'Connell Tribute for 1844, is proclaimed for collection in all the parishes of Ireland, on Sunday, the 17th of November!
The Rev. Dr. Bell, of Ballybrood glebe, intends returning to Clonmel, the former seat of his ministerial labours, but the Rev. Mr. Leech will continue at Ballybrood as curate, and assistant to his aged and venerable Principal.
Upon the right of presentation to Kilrush Union, now at issue between Colonel G. Wyndham, and the Bishop of Killaloe, upwards of twenty others in the south of Ireland are depending.
The Rev. R. W. Gerrard, admitted to Deacons' Orders by the Bishop of Killaloe, is appointed curate to the Rev. Mr. Young, recently promoted from Clare to Kilrush.
On Friday the church of Ballysheehan was consecrated by the Lord Bishop of Cashel. The service for the day was read by the Rev. H. A. Sadler; the sermon by the incumbent, the Rev. Charles Archdall. This church is built on a new site granted by Mr. Pennefather, and will be a great comfort to the numerous Protestants of the parish.
The Rev. Mr. Hemery has been appointed Dean of Jersey, vice Rev. Dr. Jeune.
A stone altar and credence table are erected in St. Sepulchre's Church, Cambridge, by the Camden Society, against the express desire of the Incumbent, Rev. R. Faulkener, who continues vainly to remonstrate. The president of this society, who is an Archdeacon, ordered the wooden communion table to be broken up and destroyed! Rev. Mr. Faulkener has entered a protest against this strange and violent innovation. He declares he will appeal for redress from the district ecclesiastical court of Ely, to the Court of Arches, before the Archbishop Canterbury.
Rev. Mr. Ward, of Balliol College, Oxford, is a strong advocate for sacramental confession, spiritual retreats and the revival of monastic institutions; and he denounces the Lutheran doctrine of justification by faith alone, as a "soul-destroying heresy." He has been removed, as we stated, from his office of Chaplain, and is prohibited from officiating in the diocese of London.
Sunday, a new Wesleyan Methodist Chapel, erected on the Falls Road, two miles from Belfast, was opened by the Rev. W. P. Appleby, M.A. of Coleraine. The building which is capable of containing 200 persons, was crowded in every part.
The Right Rev. Dr. Blake has appointed the Rev. John Sharkey, first curate of Newry, to the charge of the parish of Dromore, vacant by the demise of the late Rev. Dr. M'Couville.
The Right Rev. Dr. Crotty has made the following changes and appointments in Cloyne:—The Rev. P. D. O'Regan from Aghada to be administrator of Cove, in room of the late Rev. Mr. O'Sullivan. Rev. Mr. Peyton from Macroom to Aghada. Rev. Mr. Foley to Macroom.
The Very Rev. Laurence O'Donnell, P.P., of Galway, and Bishop elect of that Diocese, having received a letter from Rome, intimating that the Pope approved of his nomination to fill the vacant See of Galway, posted at once to Tuam, in order to place in the hands of Archbishop Mac Hale, his resignation of the dignity. Dr. MacHale expressed his determination not to accept of it; but so anxious is the Rev. Gentleman to forego the Prelacy, that he means at the assemblage of the R. C. Bishops on the 12th of November at Dublin, to again tender his resignation.
A letter is announced from the Rev. Gregory Lynch, of Westland-row Chapel, Dublin, "exposing the irregularities, the uncanonical proceedings, the forgeries of the Protest" by Dr. MacHale's party against the Charitable Bequests Act.
A meeting of the citizens of Waterford was held on Thursday, when resolutions were adopted to erect a testimonial of gratitude to the late Mr. Rice, founder of the Christian Brothers' Schools in Ireland.

...the Rev. Theobald Mathew arrived from Cork this afternoon, and left by the Dublin mail-coach, for Roscrea.
PETTY SESSIONS—YESTERDAY.
Sergeant Gibbs, and Corporal Burney, 21st Fusiliers, recruiting in this city, preferred a charge against a noted scamp of the name of Wilson, alias M'Genis, for obtaining money under false pretences. In June last, he was sentenced to imprisonment by the Magistrates, for falsely representing himself a deserter from the 74th Regt. on which occasion it was shown that he had been discharged from the corps in consequence of bad sight. Subsequently he enlisted with Sergeant Gibbs, from whom he deserted soon after he got the shilling, but was apprehended in Clare a few days since. The Sergeant having proved the case, the Magistrates at once ordered informations, whereupon the ruffian turned round, and deliberately struck the Corporal a severe blow over the left eye, and cut him severely—indeed were it not that the witness, box prevented his falling off the table, the consequences may have been serious. The Bench, indignant at such conduct, ordered him to be hand-cuffed and removed to prison, but this duty required the aid of half-a-dozen policeman, such was the violent resistance of the prisoner, who repeatedly assaulted the officers, and inflicted a severe blow on the head of Constable Hardy. The Bench directed Corporal Burney to lodge additional informations against the offender for the outrageous assault committed in their presence.
Michael Meade was charged by Constable Hardy with obtaining goods from Messrs. Unthank and Hallowell, under false pretences. The prisoner produced orders in the name of Mrs. Hogan, Broad-street, and thus obtained several articles from the gentlemen named, who were ignorant of the fraud, until it was discovered by Hardy. Mrs. Hogan not being able to attend, the case was adjourned.
BORING THE SHIPS.
Mr. John Tamssett, sail-maker, was summoned to give an explanation of certain language used by him in a conversation with Mr. Steele, relative to Liddane, which led Mr. Steele to suppose that Mr. Tamssett, subsequent to the vessels being injured, received some information as to who the guilty parties were.
Mr. Steele, having in the most distinct and solemn manner, totally acquitted Mr. Tamssett of any participation in, or knowledge, beforehand, of the frightful crime that had been committed, paid a just compliment to that gentleman's private character; but feeling that he had a solemn duty to perform—to prevent crime in Ireland, and by all human efforts to ascertain who the persons were that committed so atrocious a deed in the port of Limerick—he should declare that he now conceived Mr. Tamssett was not unacquainted with the names of persons concerned. The only charge he had to make against him was in reference to an observation he used in the streets, when four men were in custody. Liddane was one of them, and the three others had threatened a Captain in port with "bloodshed," "murder," and "sinking" of the vessel, if he did not discharge certain persons then at work.—Had there been but one man in custody, he would not have taken notice of Mr. Tamssett's observations, which were, "you may depend upon it ye have not got hold of the right boy yet." Mr. Steele answered, "By Heavens, you seem to know so well who the right boy is, I think you may as well tell us." In concluding an elaborate statement, Mr. Steele again exonerated Mr. Tamssett from any previous knowledge of the transaction, but he had been under an impression that either through personal fear, or a mistaken principle with respect to giving information, that he had after obtaining knowledge, subsequently, concealed it.
Mr. Tamssett declared that at the time he made use of the expressions, he was not aware that any one but Liddane was in custody, for whom he felt interested, being quite conscious of his innocence. He declared that it was to stimulate Mr. Steele to further exertion he spoke as he did, hoping that the guilty parties would be discovered, feeling, as he did, most interested in Liddane's case.
This explanation was received with satisfaction, and Mr. Steele having expressed himself pleased with it, the matter ended.
Mary Purcell, a crown witness in the case of the murder of the Rev. Charles Dawson, was fined 5s. or a week's imprisonment, for wounding Mary Garvey, an apple-woman, with a cane sword, in George-street.
