

Relief Committee Rooms.

Limerick, 20th April, 1846.

Proposed by the Very Rev. Dean Higgin; seconded by Thomas Wallcutt, Esq.:

RESOLVED—That the unanimous vote of thanks of the Relief Committee of Limerick be warmly tendered to our gallant countryman, General Lord Gough, for the kind recollection and generous sympathy his Lordship evinced in the midst of his glorious triumphs, for the suffering poor of his native country, with a respectful suggestion to the trustees of this fund that his Lordship's feelings would be best consulted if a portion of this liberal subscription, raised by his Lordship and his companions in arms, were appropriated to the relief of the poor of his native city, Limerick.

Passed unanimously.

E. F. RYAN, Mayor, Chairman.

THOMAS GOOLD.
WILLIAM M. KEOGH, Plaintiff's Solicitor.

This is one of the most beautifully situated residences in the South of Ireland. The Demesne is laid out to advantage—the Woods and Plantations of the finest description, and the Pleasure grounds are extensive. The Castle contains large reception rooms, a particularly handsome dining room, fitted in mahogany oak, and numerous bed-chambers and dressing-rooms. The Culinary and Servants' departments are extensive.
The Flour and Oatmeal Mills are the largest and best circumstanced Concerns in the County of Cork, situate in the Town of Buttevant, (where there will be a station of the Great Southern and Western Extension Railway,) and commanding a never-ceasing supply of water from two very large water sheets. They contain Machinery of the very best description, comprising Five Pair of best French Burr Stones, Cleaning Apparatus, of the newest construction, Dressing Machines for all kinds of Flour, &c. and a Kiln, capable of dressing 40 to 50 barrels per cast, and having storage for from 10 to 12,000 barrels—the Buildings of the most permanent and costly description, principally of hammered stone, and the Wook-work best Memel. As a site for building and general trade, it cannot be equalled.

For further particulars, Rentals and Conditions of Sale, apply to FINLAY WILLIAM CUSACK, Esq. the Receiver, 56, Lower Camden-street; or to WILLIAM M. KEOGH, Plaintiff's Solicitor, 79, Lower Gardiner street, Dublin.
Mr. ALEXANDER ANDERSON, Cartaker, will show the Lands. 4. 10. 0 April 22.
