THE Nobility, Gentry, and Landed Proprietors of Ireland, who may be interested in this matter, are respectfully informed, that
CLAUSSEN AND CO'S HAND-POWER
Will be exhibited at work, weaving Linnen in the Implement Show-yard of the Royal Agricultural Society, Limerick, on the 12th and 13th inst. with a view to demonstrate the facility with which the industry may be introduced among the peasantry of the South and West of Ireland. This extraordinary machine is, in the opinion of competent judges, calculated to create a new era in manufactures. It has been perfected by a Belgian manufacturer, and patented for the United Kingdom.

Further information, and descriptive prospectus may be had on application to RICHARD ROBINSON, Agent to the Patentees for Ireland.
