At an extraordinary presentment sessions for the barony of Clanwilliam held in the court house of Tipperary, Henry Massy, Esq., J.P., in the chair, Mr. Cooper, civil engineer, stated that the amount on hands was £3,180, and that £8,007 would be required to finish the works. The chairman said the people are starving, and if you will take a suggestion from me you will pass 3s. 4d. in the pound on the valuation of the barony. Joseph Cooke, Esq., proposed, and Stephen O'Meagher, Esq. seconded, the resolution, "that 3s. 4d. in the pound be now passed."

At the London Corn Exchange, on Monday last, there was an advance of 4s to 5s per quarter on wheat, caused, it is said, by the intrusion of Liverpool grain speculators, who bought up largely. Indian corn sold at 66s to 72s per quarter.

The quantity of seed required for green crops becomes now a most important question. Last year, not more than 60,000 or 70,000 acres of turnips were sown in Ireland; and this year, seven times that breadth of land should be sown with turnips and other green crops, otherwise no provision will be made for the cattle next winter; and consequently, the supply of manure in 1848 will be still more deficient.

One of the most atrocious murders that ever was committed took place on Thursday night, four miles to the west of Louisburgh, Mayo. It appears that two sisters, Mary and Honor Gibbons, lived near their brother, James Gibbons; Mary went on that day to Louisburgh to purchase provisions, but did not return, in her absence the house was burned, as well as her unfortunate sister. The coroner and police found hid in James Gibbons' house a quantity of the unfortunate woman's property; it was also discovered that he sold at day break the feather bed on which she lay the night she was murdered. Gibbons was somewhat burned, and there was evidence from two relatives against him. The jury unanimously returned a verdict of wilful murder against the unnatural monster, who has been fully committed. It was with difficulty the police saved him from the stones which the people flung.
