This was the second trial and conviction at Ennis.

Sir Mathew Barrington, borne down by the weight of his incessant important duties at Eimerick and Ennis, as Crown Solicitor for the Circuit, was obliged to leave the court on Thursday, after the examination of the first witness in the murder case of Mr. J. Watson.
He was immediately attended by Dr. Galston, of this City, and soon recovered his wonted energies, so as to be able, we announce with pleasure, to resume his duties at the Commission yesterday.

There have been bills of indictment prepared in six distinct cases of murder at the Special Commission, including those against Martin Scott, for the murder of T. M'Mahon ; S. Macnamara, and Terence Kennedy, for the murder of P. Frawly ; James Hayes and Pat Ryan, for the murder of James Watson, Esq. ; and Michael Butler and Mathew Hourigan, for the murder of Pat Cleary.

The late Daniel Gabbett, Esq., Strand House, whose obituary appears in our columns, was formerly the most eminent Solicitor in the South of Ireland, having stood in the highest rank as a man of honor, integrity, and general knowledge of business, and for some years before he retired into private life might be deemed the father of the profession in Limerick. Mr. Gabbett has left seven children and many grandchildren, all of whom are munificently provided for by his testamentary dispositions. His remains will be interred in the family vault at Caherconlish on Monday next. Mr. Gabbett has left upwards of £3,000 to local charities.
