

candidate for the office want £6,000 on loan has allowed the Irish drop in the House of
 in its usual order on consideration, and com-sent to sustain it, and it Commissioners at West-s to render the river at hereby affording employing classes.
 Connell, M.P., has got a ank of Ireland.

letter of Mr. Moore in ocks, shall appear in our

CHRONICLE.

NG, JULY 26.

AS CORPUS ACT.
 the suspension of the
 was introduced, read mmons on Saturday.
 Monday, the bill was read now the law of the land.
 e of the Act empowering persons in custody until spiring against her Mah treason, &c. may be led or tried without an ts of commitments are s so committed in safe transmitted to the clerk blin.

ainst the Habeas Corpus Devereux, R. M. Fox, John Reynolds, Francis
 agan, W. S. Crawford.

ord Glengall expressed would direct the several ties to repair to their in there, they being the proper persons to assist

Lord Lansdowne exo that our Irish nobility to take up their resis.

Monday, Mr. Cardwell rpool, praying that as the provisions of the rpool.

tenantry, the excellent sident landlords in Ire-nding his Parliamentary , Mountshannon, near that the eldest son of ng from a dangerous arty have arrived at gher, and Mr. Dillon ve received intelligence

 . It is very favourable.
 ogs or other atmosphe-
 stalks of the potato, e tuber is untouched,
 d the general healthy good assurance of a

appeared at our market.
 7d per stone.

ce this day and reports crops in the following Loophead, the Mo-
 anagolden, Rathkeale,

mercantile concerns e potato crops. The since last publication n the potato being very d most abundant.

tle from the counties his City for the Kilch commences on tonight amused them-off hall doors in the

 —for this Chesterfield rtation for 7 years.

ION.
 accompanied by Messrs.
 , Mr. Charles M'Carleft this on Sunday rpose of establishing a anising the peasantry.

Vaughan, P.P., and of their mission, the
 ld not give his sanc-e he was anxious and from its impoverished Priest, he was a man rse to the doctrines h they were attached.

town also refused to ed about for some

DEATH OF LORD VISCOUNT GUILLAMORE, VICE-LIEUTENANT COUNTY LIMERICK, AID-DE-CAMP TO THE QUEEN.

With the most profound regret we announce the death of this inestimable nobleman, which melancholy event occurred on Saturday, after a few hours illness of apoplexy, at his apartments in Leeson-street, Dublin, from whence he intended to have returned that morning to his seat, Cahir Guillamore, in this county. Few, very few, ever descended the tomb more regretted, whether as a gallant officer, an amiable resident landlord, a frank, benevolent, and considerate friend of the poor, an indulgent husband, a kind parent, or one who discharged the relative duties of life with more truly Christian devotion. In the discharge of his important office as Vice Lieutenant of this county he performed its duties with honor and effect; as representative of this county he was an efficient senator; as an officer he was the bravest of the brave, and during the Peninsular and Waterloo campaigns he repeatedly drew forth the praise of his commanding officers. His Lordship's army appointments, were Cornet 7th Hussars 1811; Lieutenant 1812; Captain 1815; Major '25; Lieut.-Col. '29; Colonel 1842; on half pay 14th April, 1820. In 1828 he was married to Gertrude, daughter of the Hon. Berkley Paget, niece of the Marquis of Anglesea, with whom he lived in uninterrupted felicity, and whose amiability produce respect by all who have the honour of her acquaintance. He has left nine children, five sons and four daughters, viz.— heir, Standish O'Grady, born 8th July, 1832;— Sophia 1830; Gertrude 1831; Cathleen 1834; Paget 1835; Reginald 1839; Hardress 1841; Amabel 1843; Frederick 1847. His eldest son, who succeeds to the title, is serving on board her H.M. steamer Vesuvius, at Barbadoes, and as recently recorded in our columns, displayed much courage and bravery in rescuing one of a boat's crew from a watery grave, thus evidencing the chivalry and humanity of his lamented parent, whose heroism knew no limit. Yesterday his valued remains were conveyed, via railway to Pallasgreen, and at one o'clock were removed to the family vault at Knockany, and thence consigned to the tomb of his ancestors amid the deep lamentations of his attached family and tenantry.

When the sad intelligence reached Bruff on Sunday morning, the most poignant sorrow was visible in every countenance. The Rev. Godfrey Massy, Vicar of the parish, in addressing the congregation which assembled in Adelaide school, the church being closed for repairs, thus alluded to this public calamity.—The subject of this day's discourse—the uncertainty of life—derives the strongest confirmation from the book of Providence in the events of daily occurrence, and the book of Revelation whose prophetic announcements warn us, especially in these times, to be always ready trusting in our Saviour, and living to His glory. Our lot has fallen in evil times. The most extraordinary changes are continually taking place throughout Europe with panoramic vividness and scenic rapidity. Our own afflicted country is suffering to an extent, I apprehend, not adequately known in the Sister Island. So intense is the mental suffering caused by the unprecedented alteration of circumstances even of persons lately affluent, that I believe many of the sudden deaths continually taking place are to be traced to a cause so distressing to honourable minds. But in this, as in other remarkable instances of early removal, I feel assured another reason is to be assigned, and that Divine Providence chasens us for our profit, by withdrawing a support upon which we all too fondly leant. The death of Lord Guillamore must be thus sorely felt by us all. That excellent man belonged to the order of society which, by forming a bulwark against despotism on the one hand, and anarchy on the other, is an essential element of our unrivalled constitution. As he lived amongst us we knew and felt the benefit of having always at hand a nobleman ever accessible to the humblest of his neighbours, deeply sympathising in their wants, and lending all the weight of his rank, influence, character and purse to the vindication of the oppressed, and the relief of the afflicted. You know how unweariedly he presided at our Relief Committee meetings last year, in another part of this building; and how often he advocated the cause of charity from this platform. A number of afflicting cases of individual distress and perplexity awaited his arrival, and we were just preparing to hold our annual public meeting under his presidency. But, alas! while we have all lost a friend whose heart ever throbbled with kindness, and countenance cheered every one who waited on him, the orphan society has sustained an apparently irreparable loss, in the removal of one of its strongest and best pillars. May the Father of the fatherless now comfort and bless the afflicted widow and bereaved orphans of him who was, indeed, with all the gallantry and tenderness of the christian soldier, the Orphan's Friend!

The whole congregation were deeply affected, and many of them in tears during the delivery of the address, of which the foregoing is an outline. So greatly beloved and deeply lamented was Lord Guillamore in a parish which formed no part of his Lordship's property.

By the deeply regretted demise of Colonel Lord Guillamore, the Vice Lieutenancy of this county is vacant, as also the Deputy Lieutenancy, each in the gift of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and the Lieutenant of the county, the Hon. Colonel FitzGibbon, only brother of the Earl of Clare. The Queen has also to regret an attached aid-de-camp, to be conferred on a Lieutenant Colonel of some distinction, one we trust as worthy as his ever to be deplored predecessor.

Cork Assizes commenced on Monday—Judge Ball

DRAINAGE OF THE FERGUS.—John O'Brien, Esq. M.P., has addressed the following letter to the Commissioners of Drainage, in consequence of the considerable apprehension entertained in the district of Corofin that the low lands in that neighbourhood will be inundated unless an outlet be immediately opened for the waters of the upper country:—

"Carnelly, 22d July, 1848.
 "GENTLEMEN—On part of the occupiers and proprietors of land in the neighbourhood of Corofin, in this county, permit me to call your attention to the very injurious position in which we are now placed, by the opening of a free ingress of the waters from the upper country (Kilfenora, &c.) without any egress as yet made below Corofin. As I am instructed, the rebuilding and enlarging an inconsiderable bridge at Beallykane, near Kells, on the property of Mr. Hugh O'Loughlen, would carry off the waters, and afford us full protection.

"Permit me to say that, if after this notice the necessary directions be not given by the board, and if our harvest be damaged by the rising of the floods, which is now threatened, I hold that we shall have very strong cause of complaint: I beg to add that I have communicated with your engineer, Mr. Kelly, and have sent him a copy of this letter.—Waiting your reply, I have the honor to be, gentlemen, your very obedient servant,
 "JOHN O'BRIEN, M.P."

At a district meeting of Masters of Orange Lodges, held in Portadown, on Friday, 21st July, 1848, the following resolution was proposed and passed unanimously:—"Having seen certain statements in the public papers, and which have also been industriously circulated in this neighbourhood, stigmatising the principles of the Rev. Henry de L. Willis, our respected friend and minister, as, though he were favourable to the designs of the "Repeal" party in this country, we have not hitherto thought it necessary to interfere in the matter, the Rev. Gentleman's character being so well known here; but as such charges continue to be repeated, and as our body has been alluded to in connection with Mr. Willis. We feel it but right to state that the Rev. Mr. Willis never has in any way favored the Repeal of the Union, and that all such assertions are unfounded. Mr. Willis's avowed principle, in which we all heartily concur, is this—that the Protestantism of this country is to be preferred before every other consideration.

Signed, "DANIEL BULLA, District Master.
 "WILSON FLAVELL, Secretary."

A letter from Portadown, of July 22d, says:—"We are all quiet here, but growing more anxious every hour to hear tidings from the south; to learn that a rebellion had broken out in that part would not surprise us. I am far below the mark when I say that there are 100,000 anti-repealers ready to march to the south, at a few hours notice. In my own district here, and this is but one of seventeen in the county Armagh, there are upwards of 600 as brave and as loyal hearted men as ever shouldered musket."

Upwards of six thousand club men, of course armed, are to march into Nenagh on the 2d of August, to watch the trial of Mr. Doherty, for the purpose; we presume of intimidating the jurors, or if not successful in so doing, to break open the county gaol if he be found guilty. This would be sheer madness, inasmuch as the military force in our town, although small in comparison with such numbers, would be sufficient (although not exceeding 400 men) to drive them into the Shannon—Nenagh Guardian.

A discussion arose before the Kerry Grand Jury, on Thursday, as to the cause of the embarrassed state of the finances of the County, which every person seemed to admit arose from the plan, adopted at the suggestion of Mr. Pierce Mahony, that the balances in the Treasurer's hands should be drawn for the current expenses of the County. Thus for a temporary relief of little value to the ratepayers, has the county finances been thrown into the most mischievous embarrassment and intricate confusion. Heretofore if a barony constable was unable to get in his levy, the County suffered no inconvenience, because the Treasurer had the balances in hands to fall back upon pending the collection, or representation of those arrears. Now, the case is different, for the Treasurer's balances have been expended, and having no moneys but the current levies in his hands, any deficiency in the collection must pro tanto cause some creditors of the County to remain unpaid. The Government has been hitherto the party so favoured, but from the low state of the Exchequer, they insist on being paid; so that we fear some of our local contractors will this time have to suffer for the misled economy of Mr. Mahony.—Kerry Post.

At Tralee Assizes, an application was made to the Judges by some of the Collectors, who had not paid up in full, to get poundage on the monies actually received and paid in, but his Lordship, on looking over the recent Act of Parliament, informed the Grand Jury who had been summoned to their box, to hear the case argued on behalf the collectors, that there was no law for it.

Forty prisoners were brought before the magistrates at the Town Hall office on Monday, charged with drunkenness and rioting. The majority of the offenders were discharged having been 48 hours in custody, and the following prisoners were remanded—John Callaghan smuggling tobacco on board the Maria; Honora Ahern, vagrancy, and robbing a fellow prisoner in gaol; Patrick Curtin, assault on John Hickey, old town night watch, fined £1 or a month in gaol; informa-

All officers on leave have received the fol

SIR—I have it in mander-in-Chief's de forthwith, acknowl
 without a moments
 I am, Sir,
 Your

To _____,

This afternoon M
 Doyle left for Temp
 Major-General Na
 stations at Nenagh
 Lt.-Col. Shewell
 Killarney, en-route Newbridge.

Captain Levinge h
 leave.
 Major Doherty, 13
 join his Regiment at The leave granted in this garrison, is general orders from Several officers wh
 on two months leave here.

At no period was garrison than at the brigade of Royal Art nearly 2 000 rank an which are the local

A troop of the 12
 late on Saturday eve cular service." Atta for night service.

The 85th Light In
 from Dublin.

The garrison of Ne
 brigade of Artillery, companies of the 59
 which commence on

Mr. Burt's brewer
 where an encampment 150 additional police Lieut.-General Sir

boro' for Thornfield, Ensign Pedder, 59
 O'Brien's-bridge.

The 13th Light In Belfast.

The 77th move from John M'Donnell, a suspicion of being a morning, of disease

A return is required the army who are at augment the local cor

Major-General Prin
 at his quarters, Roy ten days previous to

Two Regiments a hanging over Water 400 Royal Marines, a Waterford.

A squadron 4th Lig
 terford.

A flying encampment
 between Waterford ar
 An additional mili
 formed in Ireland—s

Major-General Macd
 officer in Dublin, is General and Quarterm to the new district.

Lieut. Greatheed, Mallow.

Lieut. Warburton, join his Regiment in

Captain Macgregor Paymastership of the

Yesterday, Capt. G
 arrived in Dublin from A demi battery of a has arrived in Dublin

A stringent order h leave Dublin barracks

It is the 2nd battali not-the Rifle Brigade, camped with the 75th

The 4th Royal Irish
 chester, are under ord

Ensign Godfrey Ma
 from Cove on Monday

Major-General W. I
 to the staff of the Arr Major-General Sir R.
 Major-General Rowan
 in Sicily, in the years

Major-General P. Ba District, has succeeded five shillings per diem.
 Major General M'D
 Jamaica in command
 appointment of Lieut vacant.
 The 39th replace the Colonel M'Dougal,
 Bermuda.
 Assistant Surgeon B Grenadier Guards, is medical charge of the