

DEATHS.

In Mallow, on the 11th inst. Emily, wife of John Tuthill, Esq. of Kilmore, county Limerick, and daughter of the late Robert Rodger, Esq. of this City.

Yesterday morning, at Castletown Conyers, the residence of his aunt, Jonathan Bruce, Esq.—a young gentleman much regretted by his family and friends.

On Sunday last, at his seat, Newboro', in this County, Charles Wilson, Esq.—a gentleman most deservedly regretted by all classes of the community. His death will be seriously felt by the numerous laborers employed in his extensive farming operations, and by all the poor in his neighbourhood, to whom he was a most generous and bountiful friend. Retired and unobtrusive in his habits, he lived a pious and devout life—happy and cheerful, even during a severe and lingering illness, he at last yielded up his spirit to God, who gave it, and expired in the arms of his devoted, exemplary, and truly Christian partner. The Limerick Protestant Orphan Society—of which, from its commencement, he was an active and steady supporter—has especial reason to mourn his loss; for not only did he contribute liberally to its funds from his own resources, but by his unwearied exertions amongst all ranks of society, sent annually to the Treasurer the largest sum collected by any individual for that interesting charity. The orphans have lost one of their best friends, but the Father of the Fatherless is able to raise up others; and to all who knew the zeal and charity of the deceased, and his indefatigable labors on behalf of the Society, we would say—"Imitate his example"—"Go and do likewise."
