

The Bank of Ireland holds more gold, by the last monthly return, than all the other banks in this country.

Every day shows more strongly how much ministers of religion ought to be on their guard against the infidel tendencies and infidel agencies of clubs and clubbists. The examples of the old Jacobins and Cordeliers are a memorable warning. Look at the more recent instances of the debates in the Prussian chamber. Most of the Deputies returned to that chamber are mere delegates of clubs, and the clubbists of Berlin dictate their votes. In the late discussion on the Constitution the clubbists proposed that the phrase "the Grace of God" should be excluded from the programme; a debate followed, consisting chiefly of blasphemies too horrible to be repeated, and the exclusion of any recognition of Divine Providence, on the motion of one Heile, a notorious and avowed Atheist, the most popular man in Berlin, and chiefly because of the rank Atheism which he preaches, was carried by an immense majority — Post,

If the Court of Rome denounces the Irish Colleges now erecting at Cork, Galway, and Belfast, they must be converted into union workhouses. The Presidents of the Colleges, yet in embryo, are receiving £800 a year each salary.

Mr. Thomas Nolan, formerly of Bagnalstown, Carlow, who died suddenly in a lodging-house at Thomas-street, left a considerable sum of money and other property, which the Coroner has taken charge of for next of kin.

Jenny Lind appears again this evening, at Hawkin's-street, in the opera of La Figlia del Reggimento.

An Attorney, a few months ago, furnished his client with costs amounting to £830 10s. 6d. On taxation, the bill was reduced to £108 14s. 5d.

The supposed nurse of Mr. Meagher, who was to identify him in his treason, refused to look at him in the dock, and poor simple woman she even forgot his name!!!

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DUBLIN EVENING MAIL.

Adare Manor, October 21, 1848.

SIR—Will you kindly take the trouble to affix my name to the memorial to the Lord Lieutenant, praying that the life of Mr. Smith O'Brien may be spared.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant, DUNKAVEN.

THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 25.

The Treasur
hours d
be favor
There
Savings
Henry
dent, i
for the conduc
explain
amendi
better s
and sat
undert
of this nity.

vouche
savings that an curity
possibl withou
under check.

BAN
ment, i
the har
£365
sitors,
and ab
Mr. gate a

On
in fron
lished indulg
which

The O'Don
Clerih
Cat
of the Buildi
a blow
assail
Quay.