

Patrick's Day. The Board of Directors directed that paupers of the Protestant communion are to be exempt from working on the days in question.

There are 13 workhouses in Ballinasloe union!

The Vice-guardians of Westport have excluded the Sisters of Mercy from the workhouse, after hearing evidence upon the charge of tampering with the religion of the Protestant paupers.

Lieut. Henry, R.A., emigration agent, has selected 25 girls from the Waterford workhouse, to embark for Australia.

Forty poor persons in receipt of out-door relief will be employed in sweeping the streets of Nenagh.

The following appeared in part of last impression:

Capt. Fordyce's company 74th proceeds hence by steam packet on Monday for Kilmrush, to relieve Capt. Villiers' company 47th, which moves on to Buttevant, head quarters.

An order was received this day from Dublin Castle to send 32 male convicts from the city gaol to the Richmond Penitentiary.

It cannot be too generally known amongst the poor that Eel Fry are very improper and dangerous food at present, as they are liable to produce the complaint which precedes cholera. On the contrary, Rice cannot be too highly recommended as being excellent food, and almost a cure for weak bowels, particularly when boiled in milk, or seasoned with a little butter and allspice. A pound of good rice can be had for two pence, which will produce 3lbs. for breakfast.

COUNTY RECORD COURT.

Margaret Finn, Administratrix of Daniel Magrath v. the Mariners' General Life Assurance Company.

Sir Coleman O'Loughlen opened the pleadings, and Mr. Sergeant O'Brien stated the case.

It was an action of debt, brought to recover a sum of £500, being the amount of a policy of insurance effected by deceased on his own life. The policy was subsequently assigned to Mr. Bryan Hanrahan, of this City, who was the responsible plaintiff.

Our readers are aware that at a former assizes a record, in which Mr. Hanrahan was plaintiff, and the same Company defendants, was tried by a city jury, who found a verdict of £300 for Mr. Hanrahan. The action then tried was exactly similar to the present, but on a distinct policy. At the desire of the company the venue was changed to the county.

The witnesses examined for plaintiff were Dr. Westropp, Dr. Elmes, Dr. Sayers, Rev. William Bourke, Daniel M'Keogh, Michael O'Neill, and Patk. Magrath.

For defendant—Dr. Parker, Mr. Ralph W. Brereton, Joseph Moore, Constable Thomas Hardy, Michl. Shiels, John Kirwan, and William H. White.

Counsellor O'Shaughnessy spoke to evidence, after which the Judge charged the Jury, who retired to their room, and having been locked in for three hours were discharged without a verdict.

Counsel for plaintiff—Mr. Sergeant O'Brien, Sir Coleman O'Loughlen, Michael O'Shaughnessy, Esq. Agent—Mr. John Gleeson.

Counsel for defendant—Mr. Jonathan Henn, Q.C., Mr. Wm. Brereton, Mr. J. D. Fitzgerald, Q.C., and Mr. Kelly. Agent—Mr. G. Hamilton.

COUNTY CRIMINAL COURT.
(Before Baron Richards)

His Lordship then proceeded to the County Court, to assist Judge Ball, and a Jury having been sworn the following convictions took place:—

Jeremiah Daly, violent assault on William Foley, at Mountpellier—To be transported for 7 years.

Thomas Connors and William Wallace, stealing a quantity of tobacco, at Kilfinan, the property of Bryan Riordan—To be imprisoned 18 months at hard labour.

Thomas Holland, formerly armourer Serjeant in the 67th, stealing money from the Castle office, Newcastle. To be transported for 7 years.

Jeremiah Collins, stealing £4 from Michael Murphy, of Ardpatrick—To be transported 7 years.

Mary Molony, larceny of wearing apparel—Ditto.

Denis Lawlor, cow-stealing—Ditto.

Thomas Flanagan, stealing geese, 18 months imprisonment at hard labour.

Wm. Collins, for firing at Wm. Sandes, Esq., J.P. when returning from a meeting of the Rathkeale board of Guardians, on the 12th of January.

Verdict of Guilty.—To be transported for life.

The Court rose at half-past six o'clock until Monday morning.

In the county court this day, (Saturday), Michael O'Neill was tried for the murder of Michael Donohue, a keeper placed upon the farm of Michael Flanagan, at Mangret, for non-payment of rent to George Gough, Esq. The case occupied the entire day.

The Jury at nine o'clock found a verdict of Guilty.

In Liverpool, Major Reed, of the 5th Regt. to duty, second daughter of Henry Denison, Esq.
