

QUARTER SESSIONS.

THIS DAY.—The civil business of the City being exceedingly heavy, the Assistant Barrister discharged the County Petty Jurors from attendance 'till to-morrow. The City Grand Jury will be sworn at nine o'clock same morning.

FISHERY APPEALS.—It will be in recollection that a few weeks since the Magistrates at County Petty Sessions, at the prosecution of the Conservators of the Shannon Fishery, convicted Stafford O'Brien, Esq., Patrick M'Namara, John Punch, Joseph Massy, Patt Dwyer, John Hayes, and Joseph Greene, in penalties of £2 each, under the 5th and 6th Vic., for having weirs erected in portions of the river not three quarters of a mile wide at low water of spring tides. Against these decisions appeals were lodged, the hearing of which came on this day before the Assistant Barrister. Counsellor Grayden appeared for the conservators, Messrs. Gleeson and Joynt for the appellants. After a full hearing of the case against Stafford O'Brien, Esq. the court affirmed the decision of the magistrates, with £5 costs; and against all the other parties, with £1 costs, his Worship intimating that the applicants could bring the cases before the Court of Queen's Bench, by writ of certiorari.

The Fishery conservators met to-day in the Grand Jury room of the County Court-house, Sir Richard de Burgho presiding. It was agreed to apply to the Lord Lieutenant for the liberation of John Mulqueen and Bryan M'Mahon, at present undergoing imprisonment in the county gaol, for breach of the fishery laws; also to complain against the Kilrush magistrates, for refusing to aid the bailiffs in executing their duty by declining to sign warrants for recovery of penalties. An application is to be made for opening of the fishing season in February instead of March. A reduction of water bailiffs was recommended.

THE QUEEN'S HOTEL, Late Gresham.

THE Public is respectfully informed that the above Hotel is now open for business, under new management.

The Establishment has undergone thorough and extensive repairs, and while it is hoped that its decorations will present the same elegance to the eye, the Hotel will be found equally well adapted to afford all the comfort for which it was formerly so long distinguished.

The late auspicious visit of Her Most Gracious Majesty to Ireland has suggested the above alteration in its name.

The Proprietor takes leave to assure the numerous patrons of the Establishment that nothing shall be omitted on his part to render it for the future fully deserving their favour and support, and that in entering upon this new undertaking he is not unconscious of its magnitude, and that it will be particularly incumbent upon him to revive the high character which the QUEEN'S (formerly Gresham's), held for so many years in public estimation.
