THE LATE VERY REV. T. COSTELLOE.—The high estimation in which the late worthy Parish Priest of Abington was held by all who knew his excellent qualities of head and heart, may be easily inferred from the farewell letter written him by the late Lord Bishop of Limerick, Dr. Jebb, in 1823, when promoted from the Rectory of Abington. We are requested to subjoin a copy of this testimonial, so honorable to the memory of both :—
Abington Glebe, February 20, 1823.

MY DEAR SIR—In taking leave of Abington, I cannot suppress the wish that some memorial of me may occasionally present itself before you when you are resting from the pastoral labours of the day, and request, therefore, that you will have the kindness to accept two articles of furniture for your new house, which I have had in daily use since the year 1810. It will pain me to think that our friendly communication were to close with the termination of my residence in this house, but we shall, I trust, have opportunities of meeting frequently; and I hope you will recollect that in the See House of Limerick you will have a friend, so long as it is occupied by, my dear Sir,
Your's, very faithfully,
JOHN LIMERICK.
