DEATHS.

At the Custom House, on Thursday evening, after a short illness, produced by her taking small pox from a poor person, afflicted with that frightful disease, who importuned her for charity, Victoria, the beloved wife of Thomas Ayling, Esq, Surgeon, Royal Navy, and daughter of John W. Trousdell, Esq. It appears every thing that medical skill could devise to avert the fatal malady was done, aided by the most affectionate and incessant care of her family ; but the Lord had marked her as his own, and the gentle spirit, without a murmur, trusting in the righteousness purchased for her by the blood of the Lamb, resigned it back to the Lord that gave. Mrs. Ayling had cheerfully assisted in the " Psalmody " of her parish church (St. Michael's), where her memory will be long cherished ; and we truly sympathise with her sorrowing friends and family, and in the bereavement of her afflicted husband, who had only a few days previously returned from professional duty on the West India station.
